100 DEGREE HEAT GRIPS CITY

ITS FOES FIGHT ON, BUT TREATY WILL PASS SOON

Johnson and Moses Keep Up Battle.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—After a twelve hour continuous session of the senate ending at 11 o'clock tonight administration leaders failed to force the navy limitation treaty to a vote.

With a bare quorum present, with senators sleeping in their chairs and in the cloakrooms, and with the treaty opponents still going strong in their oratorical assaults on the London pact, the pro-treaty forces called a halt until tomorrow.

Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.] obtained recognition, announced the death of Representative Florian Lampert [Rep., Wis.], and moved that the senate adjourn as a mark of respect.

Mr. La Follette had withheld the announcement since the receipt of the news six hours before because an adjournment would have interfered with the program of the pro-treaty leaders to wear down the opposition in a continuous session.

Fear Effect of Cloture.

While some administration leaders are predicting ratification of the treaty before the close of the session tomorrow others think the final vote will not be reached until next week. Some of the protreaty senators having heard from home are asserting that their cause is being injured by the threat to jam the treaty through under the cloture rule. They are trying to patch up a peace whereby the cloture petition will be thrown into the discard by the protreaty men and the opposition will consent to proceed without further delay to dispose of the reservations offered and vote on the treaty.

If this plan goes through there will be only a comparatively short session tomorrow.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson [Rep., Cal.], leader of the opposition, continued to assail the London agreement as inimical to the best interest of the United States and to offer reservations for its ratification. One of these reservations declares that notwithstanding article 15 of the treaty the United States may build as many eight inch gun cruisers as it pleases within the tonnage limit fixed for the cruiser category.

Rider Against Entanglements.

Another Johnson reservation provides:

"Nothing contained in this treaty shall be construed as to require the United States of America to depart from its traditional policy of not intruding upon, interfering with, or entangling itself in the political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state; nor shall anything contained in the said treaty be construed to imply the relinquishment by the United States of America of its traditional attitude toward purely American questions."

Senators Johnson, George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.], Tasker L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.], and Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] have held the floor the greater part of the day and night with speeches against the treaty. The administration leaders repeatedly asked Senator Johnson to agree to a date for a vote, but he steadfastly refused. Senator James E. Watson [Rep. Ind.], the majority leader, continued to threaten to invoke cloture but has so far failed to present the cloture petition. The reason is said to be that the two-thirds majority for the adoption of cloture is not in sight.

Johnson and Smoot Clash.

Early in the day there was a heated exchange between Senator Johnson and Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] over the charge that the treaty opposition was filibustering. Smoot had been challenged to get into the debate.

"I have no desire to enter this filibuster," said Senator Smoot.

"I do," answered Smoot.

"Any one who says this fight for the national security is a filibuster states it without a scintilla of truth as its foundation," Johnston angrily retorted. "Because certain men have been gagged, lashed and bound, they sit here without the nerve or intelligence to discuss this treaty. And any one who dares discuss it is charged with wasting time. I say this is the most important matter to come before the senate in years. It transcends all other matters in its potentialities. And I say the men who sit here gagged

GERMANY IS PUT UNDER RULE OF DICTATORSHIP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 18.—The German cabinet is deeply worried because President von Hindenburg threatens to resign. He warned the Nationalists yesterday that he would quit if they voted against Chancellor Bruening today. The cabinet tried to dissuade him and he said he would wait to see how the Rhineland and Palatinate receive him during his tour of the liberated regions before he makes up his mind whether the masses are still behind him or not. He is said to have told his friends that if the Rhineland lacks enthusiasm at the sight of himself and members of the cabinet he will make way for a younger man.

BERLIN, July 18.—(AP)—Political Germany was rolling up its sleeves tonight in preparation for another national election campaign, after the reichstag had been dissolved this morning when it attempted to thwart the program of financial reform submitted by the Bruening cabinet.

Until the new elections, which will be held not later than Sept. 14 next, Chancellor Bruening and his colleagues will govern the country under the emergency dictatorial powers conferred by article 48 of the German constitution.

HEINRICH BRUENING.

Bruening and his finance minister, Dr. Dietrich, will be free, meanwhile, to push through the measures they consider necessary for putting Germany's finances in order.

Freedom Is Limited.

Their freedom of action will be limited, however, by the knowledge that the new reichstag will be able to revoke any interim decree it deems contrary to public interest.

The reichstag, which was sent home this morning because it attempted to revoke the tax decrees promulgated the night before, comprised 13 political parties.

Just how many parties will make up the new parliament is anybody's guess. The birth of one new one, the German Conservative party, already has been announced. It will be formed under the leadership of Count Kuno von Westarp, for many years German national floor leader, who bolted with his followers from Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, the intransigeant Nationalist leader, today.

Reichstag Ended Prematurely.

The reichstag which has just been forcibly adjourned was elected in May, 1928. Its dissolution adds one more to the unbroken line of postwar German parliaments which came to a premature end in a similar manner.

The constitution calls for new elections only once in four years. No reichstag, however, since the founding of the republic, has been able to avoid dissolution before its normal termination.

Government by decree in times of peace is a new thing for republican Germany. While President von Hindenburg has in a number of cases invoked the extraordinary powers of article 48, his actions were limited to the revocation of emergency measures from an earlier administration whose obsoleteness was obvious.

Dictatorship Once Before.

The only time when the German republic was governed by a system akin to a dictatorship was during the administration of the first president of the republic, the late Friedrich Ebert, in 1923.

At that time the president invested the chief of the army, Gen. Hans von Seeckt, with extraordinary powers to quell incipient bolshevism. At the same time he authorized the cabinet to issue decrees of an administrative and financial nature which were intended to back up the work of Gen. von Seeckt.

Once the communist crisis had passed, President Ebert was quick to reëstablish normal conditions.

Zuta Assassin Suspect Seized in Gun Pursuit

Fleeing in a hail of police bullets, Tommy Abbott, opium addict, leader of a band of north side thieves, and suspected of affiliation with the Moran-Aiello gang, was captured by a flivver crew on his own doorstep last night after almost escaping his pursuers. His wife, Irene, was also arrested.

Abbott, who has been wanted for an explanation of reports that his car was used by the assassins who killed a street car motorman in a gun attack on Jack Zuta at State and Quincy streets on July 1, was sighted driving south in Racine avenue at Diversey parkway about 8 p. m. His wife was beside him.

A Thrilling Pursuit.

As Policeman August Petak and Stanley Kula clanged the gong of their flivver for him to halt, Abbott stepped on the accelerator of his eight cylinder sedan and the chase was on. At intervals it appeared certain that the speedier fugitive machine would get away, but traffic snarls kept the flivver in the race.

Attracted by the spectacle of the police car weaving through traffic as one of the policemen fired from the running board, six or seven motorists joined the chase. As Abbott swerved into Wrightwood avenue the trail was momentarily lost, but the flivver men sighted Abbott when he jumped from his car and dashed to the vestibule of his apartment at 1130 Wrightwood avenue.

A curious crowd swarmed about as Petak and Kula with drawn pistols marched up to the vestibule. Abbott, who was fumbling desperately with his house keys, dropped them and threw up his hands. "Don't shoot, fellows," he begged.

Crowd Shouts Warning.

Taking no chances that the prisoner might be hiding a gun, the policemen stripped off his coat and searched him. They escorted him and his wife to the flivver and were about to drive them to Sheffield station when shouts from the crowd warned them of something amiss.

Petak leaped out to discover one Sam Scarfidi, 1128 Wrightwood avenue, attempting to force a way through the crowd in Abbott's car. Petak demanded an explanation: "He's my brother-in-law," yelled Scarfidi. He was placed under arrest.

With the Abbotts and Scarfidi behind bars, a squad brought the Abbott car to the station, where an examination was made, disclosing the reason for Scarfidi's anxiety to remove the car. In a pocket in the left door, held shut by a patent zipper, was found a fully loaded .38 caliber pistol. In the rear of the body there was a bullet hole.

While the hole was recent, it was not made during the flivver chase, according to Lieut. Axel Jensen of Sheffield district, who took charge of Abbott. Lieut. Jensen thinks it might have been bored by one of the bullets fired by Lieut. George W. Barker, who gave Zuta's enemies battle in State street when the motorman was killed.

Barker Cited for Trial.

Lieut. Barker was cited for neglect of duty, incapacity and inefficiency yesterday and told to answer before the civil service commission on July 23. The charges, as drawn up and signed by Acting Commissioner Alcock and Chief of Detectives Norton, accuse Lieut. Barker of failing to provide Zuta with adequate protection in agreeing to give him safe conduct across the loop upon his release from the detective bureau under bond.

Seize 60 in Gaming Raid After Reported Robbery

Raiding an alleged gambling resort in a cigar store at 2249 South 52d avenue, Cicero, a police squad from the state's attorney's office late yesterday arrested sixty men, of whom 35 were held to be sent through the bureau of identification. The raiders said they had information that eight shotgun bandits invaded the place last Saturday and fled with $5,000.

Rich Lawyer Runs Amuck; Shot by Police

John H. Roemer, distinguished corporation lawyer, former lecturer at the University of Wisconsin and member of several exclusive clubs, was in the American hospital early this morning, twice wounded in the head and vowing he would never drink again. Mr. Roemer is 60 years old.

Patrolmen Edward Strandberg and Michael Hoban of the Town Hall police district were telephoning headquarters from a police box at Broadway and Montrose avenue at 12:15 a. m. when a young couple stopped in their car. "There's a maniac around the corner and he's got a gun," shouted the driver, Oliver Lee, 1772 Wilson avenue.

Policemen Go on Hunt.

The policemen jumped into the car, in which Miss Geraldine Dorion, 22 years old, 4241 Kenmore avenue, was riding with Lee. A moment later they drew up before the Hotel Beverly, 4306 Sheridan road.

A portly man, gray haired and quietly dressed, was at the entrance, brandishing a pistol and muttering unintelligible words. As the policemen alighted he made a lunge in the direction of a couple just entering the hotel.

Shoots Off Policeman's Finger.

Strandberg closed in, while his partner, maneuvering to the armed man's rear, gripped him with his left arm and with the other hand fired two bullets into the base of his skull.

Strandberg went to the Lake View hospital while other officers, at the American hospital, went through the wounded man's clothing in search of identification papers. Miss Kein and Miss Dorion had viewed him and declared him a stranger to them.

Papers Reveal Identity.

The papers in his pockets revealed Mr. Roemer's identity. Regaining consciousness, he explained he was indeed Mr. Roemer, senior partner in the law firm of Cummins, Roemer & Flynn, counsel for H. M. Byllesby & Co., the utility managers, and a classmate of Rufus C. Dawes at Yale.

"I was starting on a vacation to a camp near Fond du Lac, Wis.," he explained, "and I must have had something to drink. I had the pistol along for protection at the camp. I'll never take another drink as long as I live.

Mr. Roemer lives at the Hotel La Salle. His wife is reported to be in New York. They have two sons, John Pier Roemer and Edward Pier Roemer, and a daughter, Mrs. Earl R. French.

B. H. Marshall Racer, Yawl Collide in Lake

Miss Elizabeth Ayres, 18 years old, 5200 Sheridan road, was drowned and fifteen persons were rescued when the cabin speedboat Whoopee, owned by Benjamin H. Marshall, wealthy Chicago architect, crashed into the racing yawl Scarab in Lake Michigan a mile off the Morse avenue beach in Rogers Park late last night. Both boats were sunk.

Among the rescued was Benjamin H. Marshall Jr., son of the architect, who had taken Miss Ayres and another young couple on a cruise to escape the heat of the city early in the evening. Young Marshall suffered cuts and bruises and was taken to the Evanston hospital. The identity of the other couple and of the dozen persons aboard the Scarab was not learned.

Bathers Tell of Collision.

Bathers who thronged the Rogers Park beach for relief from the heat told a dramatic story of the collision. The Marshall boat, apparently returning from a visit to the elder Marshall's studio residence at Sheridan road and the Wilmette yacht harbor, was speeding south.

Spectators on shore said they heard laughter and the music of a radio or phonograph come over the water as the craft sped along. Suddenly there was a crash. The Whoopee had plowed full tilt into the side of the Scarab, a forty foot sailing vessel with auxiliary motors.

The Scarab, a yawl, owned by G. Pulver of Washington, D. C., was in Chicago on its way to the yacht races at Mackinac island, in which it was entered in the cruising division. It was to have left Chicago at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Merrymaking Becomes Tragedy.

Screams took the place of laughter and music as the two boats, interlocked, slowly began to settle in the water amid a mass of debris jarred overboard by the crash.

Miss Ayres, survivors said, was seated in the bow of the Whoopee when the collision came. She was pitched headfirst against the prow of the Scarab. She cried out once as she fell to the water and then before any of the dazed survivors could leap to aid her she disappeared beneath the surface.

On shore excitement reigned as life guard boats put out to the scene of the wreck. The life guards were quickly joined by speedboats from Edgewater beach and other points up and down the shore and by a coast guard cutter from the Evanston station.

Both Boats Go to Bottom.

The rescue boats ringed the sinking vessels as Life Guards Fred Wildenhusen, Thomas Farrell, and John Dooley of the Morse avenue beach went aboard and helped the survivors over the side to other craft.

Young Marshall was carried to the Evanston hospital. The couple that had been with Marshall and Miss Ayres disappeared when they arrived ashore. Early this morning coast guardsmen were dragging the lake in an effort to recover the body of the Ayres girl.

A few minutes after the last of the survivors were taken off the Scarab and the Whoopee settled to the bottom of the lake together, only the tip of the yawl's mainmast remaining above water to mark the scene of the tragedy.

Girl Goes to Escape Heat.

Miss Ayres was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Ayres. She was a graduate of the Marywood School for Girls in Evanston. She is survived by her mother and a sister, Helen.

Mrs. Ayres said her daughter had left home early in the evening with Marshall, who had promised her a cruise on the lake to escape the heat.

The Scarab arrived recently from Chesapeake bay, having sailed up the St. Lawrence river, through the Soo canal and into Lake Michigan. The vessel was idling off shore when the collision occurred.

Burning Ties on L Hold Up Trains Over an Hour

Burning wooden ties on the elevated road at 8th street and Wabash avenue held up several "L" trains for about an hour late last night. The fire, said to be caused by a short circuit on the third rail was extinguished by engine company No. 16 headed by Capt. James Collins.

FIREMAN DIES AS MARK NEARS ALL-TIME HIGH

Weather Man Hopes for Rain Today.

Midwest Bakes

Chicago	100	Kansas City, Mo.	102
Peoria	102	Concordia, Kas.	106
Des Moines, Ia.	104	Wichita, Kas.	103
Keokuk, Ia.	102	Omaha, Neb.	107
St. Louis, Mo.	100	Huron, S. D.	100

The temperature soared to 100 degrees in Chicago yesterday and attained even higher marks elsewhere in the central states as the second intense heat wave of the summer rolled up from the southwest, parching the corn and wheat belts.

The lack of a lake breeze, which several times this summer has kept Chicago comfortable when other cities sweltered, accounted for yesterday's stifling temperatures according to the weather bureau. A southwest wind prevailed throughout the day.

Mercury Reaches 100 Degrees.

Computing an average temperature for the whole city on the basis of readings from three official thermometers, the forecaster, C. A. Donnel, agreed on 100 degrees as conservative. Between 4 and 5 p. m. official readings were as follows: University of Chicago observatory, 98.8 degrees; federal building, 99.1, and municipal airport, 100.4.

In the 62 years the weather bureau has kept records the 100 degree mark has been exceeded only six times. The highest temperature every recorded here was 103 degrees on July 21, 1901.

From a maximum of 98 degrees on Wednesday evening the mercury slid during the night to the middle 70's, to rise again with the sun. Maximums were registered at 4:30 p. m., but the airport thermometer stood at or above 100 from 3:30 to 5 o'clock.

The weather man saw a possibility of showers today, with the weather not quite so warm.

Fireman Dies of Heat.

The one heat fatality of the day occurred when Fireman Victor Johnson, 39 years old, drilling with Engine Company 42 at the department's drill grounds at 726 Sebor street, collapsed after dragging a hose line to the roof of the drill house. An inhalator squad worked over him for an hour without result. He is survived by his widow and six small children, living at 2124 North Albany avenue.

Low humidity lessened the discomfort and reduced the peril of this summer's hottest day, in the opinion of county hospital attendants. Three cases of heat prostration were treated there.

An unidentified man about 45 years old, who collapsed at State street and Chicago avenue, was still being treated at the county hospital last night. His condition was believed to be serious. Less severely stricken were Ben Yutus, 50 years old, overcome at his home, 815 West 34th street, and James Nuce, 30 years old, who fell over the threshold at his home, 557 West Madison street.

Two Suffer Sunstroke.

Among the estimated 250,000 persons at the lake beaches, two suffered sunstroke and two were injured in diving. Grace Pease, 14 years old, 1037 Blue Island avenue, and Miss Annette Cowley, 1648 North Whipple street, both were overcome by the heat at Jackson park beach.

Striking a submerged rock when she dived from a rowboat at the same beach, Miss Dagmar Angberg, 28 years old, 7904 Ellis avenue, was made unconscious. A life guard brought her to the surface and surgeons at the Jackson Park hospital sewed the wound in her scalp. Fifteen year old John Gaspark, 3228 Lyons street, whose head was cut on a sharp stone at Jackson park beach, also was treated at the Jackson Park hospital.

See Big Loss to Farms.

Temperatures downstate and in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri exceeded Chicago's. That the farmers stand to sustain enormous crop losses through drought was indicated in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, D. C., which indicated the worst dry spell on record in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, and Virginia.

J. B. Kincer, chief of the division of agricultural meteorology of the weather bureau at Washington, estimated that in Ohio alone the rainfall shortage on the basis of normal precipitation amounts to 140,000,000 tons of water daily for 37 days. In parts of Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and South Dakota conditions are nearly as bad, Dr. Kincer said.

Mercury 107 in Omaha.

In Omaha yesterday another heat record went into discard as the mercury soared to 107 degrees at 5 p. m. Even the bathing beaches were uncomfortable as a blistering wind scorched the city. At Lincoln, the Nebraska state capital, the reading equaled that at Omaha.

Temperatures close to or exceeding 100 degrees were common in lower Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas, the Associated Press reported. Pastures in Missouri and Kansas were turning brown and field crops were much in need of rain.

Iowa's corn crop seemed likely to suffer severe damage, as did that in central Illinois. At the Iowa capital, Des Moines, the maximum for the day was 104. At Canton, Ill., the mercury hit 102 and no relief from the longest drought in 25 years was in sight.

Only the Atlantic seaboard and northwestern areas escaped the severity of the heat wave. The temperature was 85 in New York, but a high degree of humidity made the city sultry and five prostrations occurred. Duluth and St. Paul, Minn., were comparatively comfortable, the former with a maximum of 74 degrees and the latter with 82.

2 FAMILIES FEAR MIXUP OF BABIES BORN IN HOSPITAL

A baby mixup which has thrown two south side families into turmoil was revealed last night. The families are those of William Watkins, 1619 West 82d street, and Charles Bamberger, 5523 South Paulina street.

While physicians were planning blood tests in an effort to reveal which baby boy belongs to which family, the details of the case were revealed. Both babies were born at the Englewood hospital a few hours apart on June 30. Dr. Fred F. Fair, 5423 South Halsted street, attended Mrs. Watkins and Dr. P. A. Murphy, 7952 Champlain avenue, was the Bamberger physician.

All went well at the hospital and both mothers were discharged on July 9. But after the Watkins baby had been taken home the father discovered a piece of adhesive tape on the infant's back baring the name "Bamberger." Mr. Watkins rushed to the Bamberger home and learned that a piece of adhesive had been removed from the new infant there. It was found in a waste basket and bears the name "Watkins."

Facing this evidence of a mistake, both fathers still maintain they have their own sons. The doctors in the cases were unable to give any help.

TAX PAPER SOLD; TEACHERS TO BE PAID ON TUESDAY

Chicago's 13,000 school teachers and the civil service employés of the board of education will receive their overdue salary checks Tuesday. Lewis E. Meyers, chairman of the special committee of the board of education handling the pay roll situation, announced last night the sale of $3,000,000 in 1930 tax anticipation warrants to a syndicate of Chicago bankers.

Money from this sale, in addition to sums now in the hands of the board, will provide for all salaries to Sept. 1. The sale of the warrants was completed last night after two weeks of negotiation, and will be approved by the board at a special meeting on Monday. Checks will be mailed on Monday afternoon and will be in the hands of employés on Tuesday.

DOCTORS ORDER BORAH TO TAKE LONG VACATION

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Worn considerably by the extended session of congress, Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, has been advised by his physician to take a long rest.

The senator returned here today after a physical examination at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, where he will return tomorrow to complete the examination.

It was said at his home tonight that the physicians think he can retrieve his strength without remaining under a doctor's care for some time, although he has attended the senate sessions regularly.

REFRIGERANT GAS ROUTS 100 DINERS ON MICHIGAN AV.

Gas, escaping from loose connections on a mechanical refrigerator in a courtyard apartment at 615 North Michigan avenue, drove 100 diners out of the Le Petit Gourmet restaurant last evening.

Mrs. Theodosia Willman and Mrs. Mildred Barton, artists, tenants of the second floor apartment where the leak occurred, were not home at the time. Tenants of the other fourteen studio apartments were forced out of doors by the gas, which pervaded the entire building.

Capt. John Garrity and a squad of firemen entered the place with gas masks and stopped the flow.

Policeman Drowned When He Suffers Heart Attack

Policeman Elton R. Perfect, 37 years old, 5432 Lynch avenue, was drowned yesterday as a result of a heart attack while he was swimming in Fourth lake, in Lake county. Policeman Perfect, who was assigned to the Cragin station, was spending his vacation at the lake with a brother-in-law. Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner of Lake county, and a pulmotor squad tried unsuccessfully to resuscitate Perfect. The policeman is survived by his widow and two children.

CHILD; MATCHES; DEATH.

Burns suffered while playing with matches caused the death yesterday of Marilyn Arndst, 4 years old, 6272 Archer avenue. The child was burned on Thursday at her home.

MARATHON TREE SITTERS FALL; OTHERS SIT ON

Chicago Boy Tumbles in Douglas Park.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The unceremonious descent of Joe Poproki, 14 years old, of 722 West 21st place, from his perch in a tree in Douglas park marked the first Chicago casualty yesterday in the tree-sitting marathon which has taken the country's boyhood by storm.

Joe had read about the tree sitting contests and decided to establish himself in Douglas park. As he straddled a limb he lost his balance and fell. Physicians at St. Anthony's hospital said the boy's condition may be serious.

While sitting records were mounting yesterday to dizzy heights, reports of casualties were being received from other parts of the country. Donald Faber, a tree sitter since Thursday at Dubuque, Ia., fell off a limb yesterday. He got up with a fractured skull and a broken arm. Donald reached out to break off a dead branch, became unbalanced, and hit the curbstone.

Companion Quits, Too.

His companion, Richard Broughton, 11, quit the contest immediately, but 25 other tree sitters sat on. Some had been up more than 110 hours last night. At Detroit it was reported that two tree sitters fell, suffering broken arms, and were taken to the hospital.

Employés of the city electrical department and mothers of the boys joined forces at Aurora yesterday and chased the youthful endurance record aspirants from their tree top nests. The city employés found boys in many instances were in trees at the sidewalk edge, where electric power wires pass. The mothers, spurred by daughters who were certain their brothers were dodging work around the house, decided their sons should receive no more food in tree houses. Only three veterans from the 22 beginning sitters were sticking to their perches last night.

Debate South Bend Sitters.

Down South Bend way the tree-sitting epidemic brought forth a special call, instigated by Commissioner C. Oell Hildebrand, for a session of the board of county commissioners for today. They hope to dislodge, according to a dispatch, Jimmy Sugonits, 13 years old, who has made camp in a large maple tree on the courthouse lawn.

Jimmy went aloft Tuesday noon and announced he wouldn't come down until the truant officer attempted to take him to school in September. Up till 8 o'clock last night he was 78 hours toward his goal. Not even the fact that John Hauser, another county commissioner, ripped off a hot dog vender's sign from the tree trunk after Antol Lechinski, 16, manager of Jimmy refueling team, had struck up a deal with a nearby stand, hindered the enthusiasm of the tree-sitter. The final step to call the commissioners' meeting followed the erection of a canvas sign, given by a tent and awning company, bearing a large advertisement.

Chicago sitters, with the exception of Joe Poproki, were doggedly holding their own among the bowers, in spite of a soaring 98 degree temperature. Red faced lads peeked out of tree hammocks, tree houses, or even the edges of a four by six platform. But they weren't ready to come down.

In a Sour Apple Tree.

Up in a sour apple tree lay Curtis Freeland, at 820 South Maple street, Oak Park, in a canvas hammock. The apples didn't tempt him, though they were in reach. All he saw ahead was beating somebody's 135 hour goal. He was feasting on ice cream and pop supplied by a neighborhood drug store.

"Are you hot up there?" Curtis was asked.

"Hot? Well, it's warm, but not so bad."

"Do you know it's 98 degrees?"

The boy whistled unbelievingly. "Why, it doesn't seem that hot," he said. "But I guess it's cooler up here than down there."

At 86th street and Vincennes avenue, Bud Morris, 8330 Kerfoot avenue, and Harry Hostrup, 8228 Emerald avenue, both 13 years old, have started out to beat the Hunter brothers' 553 hour record. At 8 o'clock last night they had lasted 75 hours.

A Harmless Occupation.

E. Urner Goodman, executive secretary of the Chicago Boy Scouts, yesterday called the tree sitting fad "harmless enough." "Sleeping in trees is not a new thing with the Scouts," said Mr. Goodman. "Out at Camp Owasippi, near Muskegon, Chicago Boy Scouts have been sleeping in trees for the last two years."

William Cottington of Gary said he came upon a boy chopping down trees in the steel town. "I'm going to chop down all the trees in town," announced the boy. "My brother fell out of one and broke his arm."

IN PATH OF TYPHOON

The Loo-choo and Kiushiu islands in southern Japan and Corea were swept by a death dealing typhoon yesterday. A village on Kiushiu island was reported buried under a landslide. Many small ships were sunk in the harbor of Nagasaki and other ports and the loss of life among sailors and fishermen will be heavy, it is feared.

ENGLAND IS REPORTED TO BE NEGOTIATING TO BUY GREENLAND

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Rumors to the effect that Great Britain is seeking to purchase Greenland in whole or in part, or else to extend its treaty rights there, are attracting interest in official and diplomatic circles.

While official confirmation of any actual negotiations is lacking, it is recognized that Greenland has an important bearing on the proposed British arctic air route, explorations for which are now being considered by the British arctic air route expedition.

This expedition, headed by H. G. Watkins, expects to spend fourteen months in surveying and mapping out an airplane route from England to Canada by way of Iceland, the Faroe islands, and Greenland.

The Danish prime minister, according to the Danish legation here, recently denied reports that Denmark was considering the sale of Greenland to Great Britain.

SEES TRADE WITH NATION AT WAR AS ALSO ACT OF WAR

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 18.—The lawmakers of 32 countries listened today to a memorandum prepared by Representative Morton D. Hull of Chicago, which declares that trade with a violator of the Kellogg pact is "participation in the wrongful acts of an outlaw state."

Mr. Hull read his memorandum at the conference of the Interparliamentary union. He explained that it was approved by a joint congressional committee consisting of Senators Capper and Connally and Representatives Korell and Bloom, with himself as chairman, but was submitted merely as a conclusion of the committee alone and was not in any way official.

"Nearly all nations have renounced war and pledged themselves to seek pacific settlement of their differences," says the report. "Under these circumstances, can a country not directly a party to a war permit its nationals to trade with a covenant breaking state? My belief is that, in the present state of world opinion, it might be concluded that a covenant breaking state is an international outlaw, its aggression an international crime, and the action of any state permitting its nationals to trade with such an aggressor state, particularly in the arms and munitions of war, is participating in the wrongful acts of an aggressor state."

Says Advertising Elects Judges; Wins Citizenship

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 18.—(AP)—Adolph Foral, a native of Czecho-Slovakia, has his own ideas as to the value of the printed word.

"How are District court judges elected?" asked Michael McCaul, deputy naturalization officer, examining Foral for citizenship. "By advertising," was the prompt reply. He added Presidents and Supreme court justices obtain their jobs the same way. Foral was admitted as a citizen.

Chicago Straw Hat Near Man Shot Dead in Field

Clinton, Ind., July 18.—(AP)—A trade marked straw hat, purchased in Chicago, was the sole clew to the background of an unidentified man found lying in a wheat field near here tonight with a bullet wound in his head. Some officers advanced a suicide theory, but the sheriff said he would investigate.

night for the Rhineland and the Palatinate to lend luster by his presence to the liberation festivities awaiting his arrival in various historic cities.

The aged soldier-statesman's trip is not devoid of a certain piquancy, for the party had been canceled only a few days ago because of the differences that had arisen between the president and the Socialist premier of Prussia, Dr. Otto Braun, over the exclusion of the steel helmet men from the list of delegations wishing to greet the chief of the state.

Promise to "Behave."

The militant front line veterans satisfied the Prussian government, however, they would in the future be on their best behavior, and there seems to be no cause for apprehension lest anything untoward mar the president's triumphal progress through the liberated regions.

The president is accompanied by his son, Col. Oscar von Hindenburg; his political secretary, Dr. Otto Meissner, and the minister of foreign affairs, Dr. Julius Curtius.

The venerable chief of state has not been in the Rhineland since 1925, when he visited the liberated first zone. On that occasion he apostrophized the Rhine in the following words:

"The Rhine is our river of fate. It was ours when we were united. We lost it when we disunited. May the Rhine forever be a warning to us against disunion."

Will Recho Sentiment.

There is little doubt that he will recho this same sentiment when he addresses his fellow countrymen first at Speyer tomorrow, then at Ludwigshafen, Mainz, Wiesbaden, Coblenz, Treves, and finally at Aix-le-Chapelle, where the tour is to end on Wednesday.

The president traveled toward Speyer in a salon car attached to the ordinary night express. The whole trip will be by railway except for a boat ride on the Rhine between Eltville, the center of the German Champagne district, and Coblenz, until recently the headquarters of the inter-allied military commission.

The crowded program of five days' receptions and speeches is one that might try the physical strength of a man far younger than Hindenburg, who will be 83 on Oct. 2. The octogenarian president's health, however, after his recent vacation at his estate in Neudeck, in eastern Prussia, is excellent. Not even the precaution of having a physician travel with him was taken.

FEAR HUNDREDS DEAD; TYPHOON SWEEPS JAPAN

Village of 300 Buried by Landslide.

TOKIO, July 18.—(AP)—Swirling out of the western Pacific, a wind and rain storm of cyclonic proportions slashed its way today across the Loo-choo and Kiushiu islands in southern Japan and swept northwestward across Corea, leaving widespread death and damage in its wake.

Ships were smashed and sunk, houses collapsed, and landslides were caused by the gale and downpour that ripped across the Corea strait at 100 miles an hour.

Hear Landslide Buries Town.

One report said a village of 300 on Kiushiu island was buried in a landslide loosened by rain. The governor of Nagasaki prefecture said many ships in Nagasaki harbor capsized, with an undetermined number of casualties. Several bodies were recovered.

A Rengo dispatch from Fusan, important Corean seaport, said the storm struck at noon, crushing buildings and causing a panic. It continued inland.

Many Ships Sunk.

As communications were partly restored, reports came in which somewhat relieved earlier fears of a large death list. Kagoshima reported three dead, Kumamoto two, and Okinawa one. A more tragic story was expected when reports were received of sea mishaps.

At Wakamatsu twelve sailing ships and thirty sampans capsized. Off Moji twenty-four small craft sank; off Myike, five; off Oumta, seven; off Yamaguchi prefecture, twelve. In many cases the boats sank in sight of shore with watchers powerless to aid. Even Nagasaki's famous and beautiful hill locked harbor was unable to protect smaller vessels. Three small steamers and fifty smaller craft, including motorboats and sampans, sank inside the harbor.

56 Fishermen Missing.

Fifty-six fishermen today were reported missing in two accidents not connected with the typhoon casualties. The Eijimaru, small motorboat, went on rocks in the fog off Katsuura, Chiba prefecture, and sank with 39 aboard. The Kotchiramaru, another motorboat, sank off Shimoda with 17 men.

Autoist Drives His Car Into Policeman; Jailed

Peter Dinford, 21 years old, a laborer, 1948 Washington boulevard, was arrested last night on charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving after his car had struck a policeman. Policemen Jeremiah Sullivan and Matthew Hayes, who were off duty, drove after Dinford's car which was speeding west in Grand avenue. Overtaking the speeder at Grand avenue and Peoria street, Sullivan stepped in front of Dinford's machine when the latter stopped. Then Dinford started his car suddenly, knocking Sullivan down. The motorist sped away but his car collided with an elevated structure support and he was captured after the policemen had fired several shots at him.

Britain Offers to Free Gandhi; Egyptian Premier Issues Defi

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—Lord Irwin, viceroy of India, has been authorized to notify Mahatma Gandhi, imprisoned leader of the civil disobedience movement in India, that if he agrees to call off the movement the government will grant amnesty to all political offenders in India and invite Gandhi and his party to the round table conference on India in October.

It is understood that the government already has received assurances from Gandhi ,through his intermediaries, that he is willing to take this course, and that recent utterances of the viceroy, reiterating the determination of Great Britain to grant India dominion status, subject to temporary safeguards in the fields in which India is not yet capable of taking control, will satisfy the mahatma and his party.

Government Yields to Opposition.

It was learned today that the British government has decided to yield to the demand of the Conservative and Liberal parties for representation on the British delegation to the round table conference, but will insist that a majority of the delegation be Laborites.

Concerning the matter of Egypt the British government is also taking the popular side. It is understood that Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, has assured former Premier Nahas Pasha, leader of the Nationalist party, that steps by the dissolved parliament to depose or to restrict the power of King Fuad would not be regarded as unconstitutional, and so long as the party acts constitutionally and avoids violence, endangering foreign life and property, there will be no intervention by Great Britain.

Egyptian Premier Accuses Britain.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 18.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ismail Sidky Pasha of Egypt, in an official note, tonight accused the British government of having intervened in Egypt's sovereign affairs in connection with Tuesday's rioting here.

He objected to the tenor of a communication, announced in the house of commons on Wednesday by Prime Minister MacDonald, from Sir Percy Loraine, British high commissioner in Egypt, in which Sidky Pasha was informed that Great Britain "must hold him responsible for the protection of foreign lives and property in Egypt."

Commenting on the arrival today of two British warships, Sidky Pasha said the reëstablishment of order and tranquility made their presence unnecessary.

Sidky Pasha's Position.

Sidky Pasha responded to the assertion by Mr. MacDonald that "his majesty's government did not intend to be used as an instrument for an attack on the Egyptian constitution" by declaring:

"This declaration would have been justified had the Egyptian government solicited the aid of the British government in that direction. But in the absence of such a request, which, moreover, will not be made because of Egypt's position as an independent state—the declaration cannot be interpreted as other than intervention, in a determined way, in the affairs of an internal character which Great Britain in previous declarations has recognized as Egypt's sovereign prerogative.

Says Foreigners Are Protected.

"The safety of lives and the security of the interests of foreigners in Egypt received the attention of the ministry at the outset. Foreigners living in Egypt are aware of this, and evidence of their confidence is not lacking.

"Knowing my duty to protect them, and persuaded that the means at my disposal permit me amply to fulfill the obligations of my ministry, I do not evade for an instant the responsibilities alluded to in the British government's communication, though the communication is not of a nature to facilitate the task which I am resolved to accomplish.

"Order and tranquility having been restored, the presence of the British warships in Egyptian waters is no longer required for the proposed object of safeguard."

Habeas Corpus for Gandhi.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, July 18.—A habeas corpus application was filed in the Bombay high court against the superintendent of the Yeravda prison for the production of Mahatma Gandhi before the judicature of the high court on grounds that his arrest and detention were illegal since the Bombay regulation of 1929, under which he was sentenced, was nullified by the proclamation of Queen Victoria in 1858. This proclamation was the sovereign charter for the people of India. The petition may be a means to obtain Gandhi's freedom.

SCANLAN IS MADE SUPERVISOR FOR POLICE DIVISIONS

An order was issued yesterday by Acting Police Commissioner John H. Alcock making Acting Deputy Commissioner James B. Scanlan general supervisor of the following divisions of the police department:

COUNTY HIGHWAY WASTE STOPPED, CERMAK ASSERTS

Board to Follow A. of C. Report, He Says.

BY HAL FOUST.

President Cermak of the county board declared yesterday that his highway department has already corrected the undesirable conditions reported on Thursday, after a year's survey by a committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce headed by William R. Dawes. The committee reported a waste of $1,677,000 in road money between Jan. 18, 1927, to June 30, 1929, as a result of the county's payment of excessive prices for contracts and for material.

"I suspected there was a paving ring bidding for county work," said Mr. Cermak. "That's why I requested the Association of Commerce to make this investigation. But the ring has been broken, and we expect to get real competition in the bidding for $2,000,000 worth of county road work this month and next. We expect a substantial reduction in the cost of pavements this year as compared with those during the period investigated by the committee."

Inquiry Depends on Board.

"Are you going to request a grand jury investigation?" Mr. Cermak was asked.

"That will be up to the board, which meets next Tuesday," he replied. "I tried to reach some of the commissioners today for a conference, but wasn't table to do so."

"Are you going to sue to recover some of this $1,677,000 from contractors and material men?" was another question.

"That will be up to our attorneys," said Mr. Cermak. "I don't like to make any statement at this time before the Association of Commerce report is discussed by the board. This highway work is the business of the entire board and not just myself.

"I can give you assurance on one point, however, and that is that after paying $75,000 for this investigation we are not going to throw the association's report in the waste paper basket. We're going to follow the recommendations of the committee further to improve the highway department."

Promise to Explain.

Mr. Cermak and County Highway Superintendent Quinlan said they would explain to the Association of Commerce the county's payment of $285,486 to the Material Service corporation for stone and gravel, purchases apparently in violation of the statute that requires bids for materials when the amount is more than $500. According to the committee's report, the county's expense in this connection was $100,000 in excess of a reasonable cost.

Widening of the Ogden avenue road from 18 to 40 feet between Aurora and Chicago was started at the Aurora end of the paved highway yesterday. The first link to be widened is between Aurora and Naperville, and this stretch has been closed to traffic.

BRUNDIDGE SEES CAPONE ABOUT LINGLE KILLING

BY HARRY T. BRUNDIDGE.

[Copyright: 1930: By St. Louis Star.]

Miami Beach, Fla., July 18.—[Special.]—It was 1 o'clock in the morning and the beams of a tropical moon danced on the waters of Biscayne bay. For more than three hours this writer had communed with Alphonse Capone on a divan on the sun porch of his beautiful Palm island home, chatting about Chicago, its underworld, the assassination of "Jake" Lingle, and the activities of some other Chicago newspaper men.

Suddenly the big beer and bullet baron leaned over, put his left arm around m yshoulders, and with typical Latin effusiveness squeezed me and said: "Listen, Harry: I like your face. Let me give you a hot tip. Lay off Chicago and the money hungry reporters. 'You're right; because you're right you're wrong.' You can't buck it, not even with the backing of your newspaper, because it is too big a proposition. No one man will ever realize just how big it is, so lay off."

"You mean?"

Capone's Warning.

"I mean they'll make a monkey out of you before you get through. No matter what dope you have to give that grand jury, the boys will prove you're a liar and a faker. You'll get a trimming."

"I'm going to quote you as saying that."

"If you do I'll deny it."

Big, powerful, square shouldered, intelligent, happy go lucky, and affable, Capone is surprisingly talkative. He has a dark, kindly face, big sparkling eyes, and dark curly hair that is thinning from the brows. His whole demeanor is that of an overgrown boy.

The long scar on his left cheek adds to his appearance; his personality is exceptionally pleasing, and it requires no vivid imagination to understand the reasons for his huge success in his chosen field. A stranger, knowing nothing in his past, might characterize him as "a playful, lovable chap, as harmless as a big St. Bernard dog."

How He Saw Capone.

This reporter got off the train in Miami at 8:15 p. m., after a hot 48 hour trip from St. Louis, with no letters of introduction and no assurance that he could talk with Capone.

Going directly to the Pancoast hotel on the beach, the writer wasted an hour trying to obtain the secret, unlisted telephone number of the Capone estate, and then hired an automobile and drove to the Palm island residence.

A friendly, though hard boiled, guard was at the big iron gates and said that Capone was out with his attorneys.

"When will he return?"

The guard shrugged his shoulders and the writer sat down on the grass to wait. At 10 p. m. a big limousine arrived with Capone's younger brother, and a few minutes later another black sedan pulled up at the gates.

Capone Is Friendly.

Capone, with two armed guards and another man, stepped out, whereupon the reporter introduced himself.

"This is a surprise," said Capone. "Come on in."

A moment later we were seated on the sun porch.

"You seem to have raised merry hell in Chicago," he began. "What brings you here?"

"I thought I would ask you who killed Lingle?"

"Why ask me?" he responded. Then after a barely perceptible pause he said in tones that carried conviction: "The Chicago police know who killed him."

The writer asked: "Was Jake your friend?"

"Yes, up to the very day he died."

"Did you have a row with him?"

"Absolutely not."

"It is said you fell out with him because he failed to split profits from handbooks."

"Bunk," Says Capone.

"Bunk. The handbook racket hasn't been really organized in Chicago for more than two years and any one who says it is doesn't know Chicago."

"If you did not have a row with Lingle why did you refuse to see him upon your release from the workhouse in Philadelphia?"

"Who said I didn't see him?"

"The Chicago newspapers, the files of which, including his own paper, THE TRIBUNE, set forth the fact."

"Well, if Jake failed to say I saw him—then I didn't see him."

"What about Jake's diamond belt buckle?"

"I gave it to him."

"Do you mind stating what it cost?"

"Two hundred and fifty dollars."

"Why did you give it to him?"

"He was my friend."

"How many rackets was he engaged in?' Capone shrugged his shoulders.

"What was the matter with Lingle, the horse races? How many other 'Lingles' are there in Chicago in the newspaper racket?"

"Phooey, dun't esk."

Mr. Capone's Opinion.

"I think just this: Newspapers and newspaper men should be busy suppressing rackets and not supporting them. It does not become me of all persons, to say that, but I believe it."

"How many newspaper men have you had on your pay roll?"

Again a pause, a shrug of the shoulders and then: "Plenty."

"Have you had any telephone calls from newspaper men in Chicago since publication in the St. Louis Star that Lingle was not the only one in his profession in Chicago with a racket?"

Again the one short word: "Plenty." Capone took the writer on a tour of his house and grounds, without escort. We visited the beautiful swimming pool and bathhouse, as fine as anything in Hollywood; the private pier, boathouse, high powered speed boat and palatial cruiser and strolled through the grounds with the rock pool and fernery, and gorgeous trees and flowers.

Afraid? Not Capone.

"You are not afraid?" the writer asked.

"Of what? I go everywhere alone most of the time and would be very happy here if the Miami police would let me alone A little clique over there has tried to run me out of town, but I refuse to be chased. They have arrested me repeatedly, tried me unsuccessfully on a perjury charge which was trumped up and tried to padlock my home as a public nuisance because I kept a drink here for myself, as who in Miami doesn't? No, I'm not afraid. No harm will come to me, because I am out of all rackets. I will make Miami my home and will go to Chicago only occasionally. I had my success, saved my money and now I'm through with the rackets."

"You certainly organized Chicago in a hurry," said the reporter.

"Organize Chicago? Bah; how could any one man organize a city of 3,000,000? I was successful in some rackets up there, but to say that I organized the town is to be foolish."

His Domestic Interior.

We went through the 17 room house, from the bedrooms to the kitchen, where a fine catch of bonito [a species of mackerel], taken that same day, was on ice. The whole place was tastefully appointed and Capone told with pride how his hand and brain alone directed the decorators.

Oddly enough, this man has more friends than enemies in Miami and Miami Beach, and those who would like to see him forced out of his retreat seemingly are in the minority. On every hand one hears, "What we need down here are a dozen more Capones who will spend $10,000 a year or better. Capone behaves himself and is a good citizen."

There are others, however, who point to the fact that notorious killers frequently visit Capone and some persons assert it was Capone who put up the $10,000 cash bond for "Crane Neck" Nugent, killer companion of Fred Burke, which Nugent forfeited recently.

A Political Issue.

Capone, in six months, has become a political issue down here. He was born in Brooklyn 30 years ago and went to Chicago ten years ago at the age of 20.

"I married my childhood sweetheart when I was 15 years old," he said. "We had two boys, one of whom died. The other, Junior, now 11 years old, is visiting in Colorado Springs."

Capone walked to the front gate with the writer, where a sedan was waiting.

"Remember what I told you about those fellows your paper is writing up," he laughed as we shook hands. "Every racketeer in Chicago not working for a newspaper is tickled pink at what you've done."

Brundidge Lies, Says Capone; Offers to Confront Reporter

Miami, Fla., July 18.— (AP) —Al Capone, in a statement tonight, described as "deliberate lies" the statements made in a copyrighted story in the St. Louis Star by Harry Brundidge, reporter, today that the Chicago racketeer had "plenty of newspaper men on his pay roll," and that the Chicago police knew who shot and killed Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago newspaper man.

Capone charged that Brundidge has "faked the so-called interview."

"It is the truth when he said I gave Lingle a diamond belt buckle," Capone went on, referring to one part of Brundidge's story. "Lingle was a dear friend of mine. The buckle was a Christmas present and I gave it to him as a Christmas present and not for any service he had given me as a newspaper man. I appreciated his friendship and I gave him the present just as I give other friends presents on Christmas day."

His Version of Interview.

Brundidge came to Capone's Palm island estate several days ago and was in conversation with him for approximately ten minutes, Capone's statement said. He said that he never had seen Brundidge before.

"He asked me if I ever gave money to newspaper men in Chicago, and I told him I never had," Capone said, "but that if I had I wouldn't tell him. I also told him that if he came to get information off me he was knocking at the wrong door.

"I told him that I was through with the racket in Chicago and didn't care to be mixed up in it one way or another."

The Chicago gang lord characterized Brundidge's statement that he had said the Chicago police knew who assassinated Lingle "as an absolute lie," and went on:

"If he is trying to build up his reputation on what he thinks I said and not the truth he is a deliberate liar. I defy him to say that these statements he has made are true.

Ready to Face Grand Jury.

"I will face him before any grand jury and deny them to his face."

Capone said that Brundidge attempted several times during the conversation to turn the topic to shootings in Chicago, but Capone refused to discuss those matters and talked of other things.

After the two men sat on the porch at Capone's home for a few minutes, Capone said, "I escorted him to the swimming pool and let him see the yacht anchored in back. Several times he attempted to talk about Chicago and I changed the subject."

Capone also denied published reports that he contributed to the campaign expenses of Ruth Hanna McCormick in her race for nomination as United States senator on the Republican ticket in Illinois.

He said he never had been approached for any donation in this campaign, but would gladly have contributed.

"I was not interested in nor connected with politics," he concluded.

SHIP CRASHES ON ICEBERG; FREED AFTER 30 HOURS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 18.—After resting on the ledge of an iceberg eleven miles north of Belle Isle for nearly 30 hours, the freighter Daly Ran was released shortly before noon today and is proceeding to Montreal. H. Aird of the Canadian Import company of this city, local agents, said the freighter is not seriously damaged or she would not be able to proceed under her own steam.

En route to Montreal from Swansea with 6,700 tons of coal, the Daly Ran ran into a dense fog last night and struck an iceberg, cramming her nose into a ledge where she was held fast. The crew of 35 men tried in vain to clear her. In reply to a call for help, the Cunard liner Athenia, en route to Montreal from Liverpool, remained by the vessel until she was cleared, ready to take on the crew if the ship sank.

Captain Returns to Ship.

LONDON, July 18.—(AP)—The captain of the North German Lloyd steamer Targis, whose passengers and crew were rescued in the mid-Atlantic when she was on fire, returned to his vessel today to inspect the damage, said a radio message received from the Rangitata, the British motor steamer which effected the rescue.

BELLE GUNNESS SEARCH FAILS; 'WRONG WOMAN'

Reports from Jackson, Miss., that Belle Gunness, who 22 years ago was called "one of the most notorious murderesses of the century," had been found alive, were exploded yesterday when Jackson authorities learned that their clews to the whereabouts of a woman who answered the description of Mrs. Gunness were based on a mistake in identity.

The story involving a Mississippi woman started Thursday when it was announced that Mississippi authorities were on the trail of a woman believed to be Mrs. Gunness. The erroneous reports came from La Porte, Ind., after Sheriff Thomas Moore of Hinds county, Mississippi, telegraphed authorities there asking if Mrs. Gunness was still wanted.

Scores of reports that Mrs. Gunness had been found have circulated from time to time since her La Porte farm home was destroyed by fire in 1908. The murderess was supposed to have died in that fire. After the destruction of the Gunness home the bodies of several men were found on the farm to which Mrs. Gunness was said to have lured between 15 and 20 men, poisoning them after getting their property.

YOUNG WIVES TELL OF GIN AT CONDON PARTIES

Maid and Beaux Have Place in Testimony.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

The Thomas Condon divorce trial attracted a crowd yesterday to the ninth floor courtroom of Judge Charles Williams in the county building. There were elements of a skit satirizing the Volstead act in the testimony, with occasional outbursts of bitterness between opposing factions.

There was a steady procession to the witness stand of chic young married women and well tailored young married men from the suburb of Flossmoor, where the Condons lived together before Mrs. Condon brought suit for separate maintainance and her husband countered with a divorce action in which he accused his wife of intemperance and other misconduct.

A touch of dramatic suspense came in the testimony of Martha Nelson, a neat young Swedish maid, in the insinuation that Martha's young man had been mistaken for a caller on Mrs. Condon. It was also suggested that a flashlight photo had been taken of the wrong couple in an auto in front of the Condon home.

Maid and Mistress Similar.

It was apparent to all in the courtroom how easily the maid might have been mistaken for the mistress. In height, weight, coloring, and general cast of feature their appearance is similar.

Varying versions of the same incidents were offered by members of the Condon's former social set. Contradictions were frequent, but when it came to the cocktails and the highballs, all were agreed there had been plenty. Some admitted it with a grin, some with a shrug, some with a touch of defiance.

Only Francis J. Hoyne, son of Maclay Hoyne, former state's attorney, denied that he participated in the liquor consumption. He is a teetotaler, he said. Hoyne grew resentful when asked by Benjamin Davis, attorney for Mrs. Condon, what he thought of his wife accepting a cocktail, and he refused to answer.

A Country Club Party.

Hoyne and others testified to a Labor day party at the Olympia Fields Country club two years ago, which progressed to the Condon home after considerable liquor had been served. More drinks were poured at the Condon home. Hoyne said Mrs. Condon was not sober, but Mrs. Arthur Simmons, her best friend, and Mr. Simmons, with whom, Hoyne claimed, Mrs. Condon had grown quite affectionate, denied that she had been intoxicated.

"How many drinks did you have that night?" Condon's attorney, Charles Seifel, asked Simmons.

"I don't count them as I drink them," retorted the witness.

"Well," pursued Seifel, "how many do you have to have before you don't remember?" And another battle was on between counsel.

Martha Gets a Laugh.

Martha Nelson's numerous beaux caused a laugh when she testified she couldn't remember which had followed which, or whether the one with the little grey Chevrolet preceded the one with the big blue Buick. A flashlight taken of a couple in such a car as the latter is expected to figure in the trial, which will be continued today.

Edward Myers, a photographer, identified photographs he took of Mrs. Condon to show bruises and scratches she asserts were inflicted by her husband, to support her cruelty charges.

210,000 MARRIED WOMEN DRAWING DOLE IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—Margaret Bondfield, minister of labor, revealed in the house of commons today that 210,000 wives are drawing a dole. This represents 46 per cent of the total of 458,000 workless women. Married women entitled to the dole must be those on the government's unemployment pay list who formerly worked in the textile mills.

Miss Bondfield's disclosure came during discussion of the government's proposal to increase its borrowing powers for the unemployment insurance by $50,000,000, raising the figures to $300,000,000. Only $32,500,000 now remains in the hands of the ministry of labor. The new amount is asked as a precaution against contingencies which might arise before the house of commons meets in the new session.

The appropriation was granted without division after a long debate, in which Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden's policy of refusing to inaugurate public works as a relief measure was severely attacked.

FOSTER IS DUE IN CITY TODAY; GUARD ARRIVAL

Find Woman Witness to Killing of Lingle.

$55,825 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,825 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in Room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Frank Foster, Chicago gunman, under indictment for the murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, reporter for THE TRIBUNE, will arrive in Chicago today.

He will come in the custody of detectives who arrested him in Los Angeles. Although Charles F. Rathbun, assistant state's attorney in charge of the Lingle murder inquiry, maintained secrecy yesterday as to the plans for bringing Foster into Chicago, it was reported that the gunman will be taken off the train at some point before arrival at the Chicago station.

Foster was indicted upon evidence presented to the grand jury by Coroner Bundesen showing that Foster had been the owner of the revolver which was used to kill Lingle. The numbers on the revolver had been filed off, but through an etching process the numbers were restored, and the gun was traced as having been shipped to Peter Von Frantzius, north side sport goods dealer, who has admitted selling many guns to gangsters.

Von Frantzius is said to have identified Foster as the man to whom he sold the Lingle weapon, thus linking Foster in the killing itself.

Finds Woman Witness to Killing.

State's Attorney Swanson yesterday revealed that he has found a woman witness to the killing of Lingle. Mr. Swanson refused to make the woman's name public, but he said he believed she might make a valuable witness when suspects are captured or placed on trial.

The prosecutor revealed that on the day of Lingle's murder the woman endured a series of shocks. First she was slightly injured in an automobile accident. On her way to a physician's office she saw a child's hand caught and crushed in the door of an elevator. Sickened and anxious to get home, the woman hurried to the train, only to see Lingle murdered within a few feet of her as she passed through the Illinois Central tunnel under Michigan avenue at Randolph street.

Silent on Brundidge Quiz.

Mr. Swanson declined to discuss his plans for the questioning by the grand jury of Harry T. Brundidge, St. Louis reporter, who has made charges of racketeering against certain Chicago newspaper men. However, a new phase of Brundidge's testimony became known to investigators.

This was the case of Matt Foley, assistant circulation manager for the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Foley, it was reported, conceived a plan for making himself a large sum of money in connection with the last Kentucky Derby. He announced some months before the Derby that he would operate a lottery, selling tickets at $1 each, the investigators learned. The tickets, he said, would bear the names of all the candidates then entered for the Derby. Those holding tickets bearing the name of the winner would receive $20, Foley said; the second prize would be $100, there would be smaller prizes, and for any holder of a ticket bearing the name of a horse who had run in the Derby at all there would be a prize of $25.

Learn of New Plan.

This was considered logical inasmuch as there was at that time a field of close to 200 horses entered for the Derby, of which all but a small number—it turned out to be 15—would be scratched before the race was run.

But Foley, it was reported, conceived a better plan still. The investigators said that he caused 50,000 tickets to be printed, but instead of listing the names of all the horses, he had all the tickets printed with the name of the same horse.

This horse was Dick O'Hara, considered a lowly plater, not of Derby class. It was reported to have been considered a certainty by Foley that Dick O'Hara would be scratched long before the Derby.

Foley Spreads the Tickets.

So, according to the reports, Foley spread his one horse lottery tickets all over the city, using the newsboys and circulation drivers of the Herald and Examiner for the purpose and collecting a sum reported as high as $50,000.

But Foley reckoned without Dick O'Hara's owner, Pat Joyce, wealthy railroad president. Mr. Joyce decided he wanted a horse to carry his colors in the Kentucky Derby, whether the horse had a chance to win or not. So Dick O'Hara did run.

Investigators report that when thousands of holders of the lottery tickets on Dick O'Hara came looking for Foley he was nowhere to be found, and that he has not been found yet.

The Case of Ted Tod.

The Herald and Examiner yesterday printed a brief statement admitting that Ted Tod, crime reporter on that paper, had been an employé of the Fairview Kennel club, a dog track operated by the Moran-Zuta-Aiello gang, at the same time that he worked for the Herald and Examiner. The statement, in which it was said that Tod had informed his employers (on the Examiner) of his connection with the gangsters' dog track, also said that Tod had requested State's Attorney Swanson, whose office he was covering as a reporter, to give any news about the dog track raids to another reporter for the Herald and Examiner instead of to Tod.

The statement in the Herald and Examiner follows:

"Anticipating the arrival of Brundidge, THE TRIBUNE yesterday introduced the name of Ted Tod.

"His name is believed to complete the list of Chicago newspaper men expected to be named by Brundidge when he appears before the grand jury.

"It was brought to light by devious 'investigations,' so stated THE TRIBUNE, all of which were entirely unnecessary, inasmuch as every one associated with Mr. Tod knew that he had been publicity manager for the Fairview dog race track for a short period in 1929.

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Tod notified his employers of this association, which he had formed before being employed by the Herald and Examiner, thus removing any possibility of suspicion. He also informed State's Attorney Swanson and his chief investigator, Patrick Roche. He requested them to give all news relating to dog races to the other reporter of the Herald and Examiner assigned to their offices.

Gold Coast Address Denied.

"As a matter of fact, there were no secret phases of the dog track situation at that time, the legal action consisting of open raids in order to establish a court record.

"The article using Mr. Tod's name said he lived in a luxurious apartment at 1400 Lake Shore drive, whereas that is not his address.

"Further it mentioned his 'lavish entertainment, at which much liquor was served,' whereas Mr. Tod does not drink at all.

"All and above could have been ascertained by questioning Mr. Tod, a common practice in journalism."

E. A. Claar, manager of the cooperative apartment building at 1400 Lake Shore drive, yesterday requested THE TRIBUNE to publish a correction of the statement that Tod lived in that building. Mr. Claar said Tod had moved from his apartment there on July 1, a short time after the Lingle killing.

SAYS U. S. LUXURY BILL WOULD PAY OFF THE BRITISH WAR DEBT

LEEDS, England, July 18.—(AP)—The very Rev. W. R. Ingle, known to all England as "the gloomy dean" of St. Paul's cathedral, in a lecture at the Wesleyan conference here today said that what Americans spent on luxuries in the space of two years would pay off the British war debt.

He estimated about $10,600,000,000 was spent annually in the United States on amusement alone.

"People in this world waste a tremendous amount—the French less than the English, and the English less than the Americans," he said. "The real grievance of the working man is not that he is hardly worked or poorly paid, but that he has to produce luxury goods of no real use, by which he loses his self-respect.."

KIDNAPED, SHOT, ROBBED, TOSSED FROM BANDIT CAR

A story of how he was kidnaped by two armed men, taken for a ride, robbed, shot through the left hand and then tossed from the bandits' car was told to the North avenue police last night by James Serientio, 35 years old, a mechanic of 1663 North La Salle street.

While walking along the street at Western and North avenues the robbers forced him into their car at the point of a revolver and sped east, Serientio declared.

"One bandit drove while his partner started going through my pockets," he said. "I resisted and the robber beat me over the head with his gun. He took $13.

As the bandit car went through Rogers Park a motorcycle policeman, Thomas Malkov, gave chase. Again Serientio struggled with his captors, one of whom shot him through the left hand. Then they threw him out of their car at Sheridan road and Jarvis avenue and sped away.

U. S. Warrants Out for Persecutors of Negroes

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 18.—(AP)—Deputy United States marshals left here today to serve warrants on 23 Beckham county citizens charged with driving Negroes from their homes. The complaints were filed with Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney, by a committee of business men and citizens from Erick. The action at Erick followed the killing of Mrs. Henry Vaughan of near Shamrock, Tex., allegedly by Jesse Lee Washington, Negro. Mrs. Vaughan formerly resided in Beckham county.

CAPTURE SLAYER OF POLICEMAN IN WOMAN'S ROOM

Ex-Convict Confesses in Shooting of Two.

Policeman John Guiltanane, 5655 South Union avenue, a war veteran and the only support of an aged mother, was dead yesterday, the victim of a bullet fired by a holdup man paroled from Joliet a year ago. Policeman Anthony Wistort, 10916 South Kedzie avenue, was near death and will be paralyzed if he lives, due to a bullet in the spine fired by the same paroled holdup man, who was assisted by another paroled robber.

These events followed the discovery by the policemen of two robbers at work. In the home of Harry Yetter, 28 years old, 6507 South Claremont avenue, Yetter's relatives were shocked because the bad boy of the family had been caught again. He now faces the electric chair for the murder of Policeman Guiltanane.

Alcock Commends Police.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock sent his sympathy to the homes of the stricken policemen and complimented the detective bureau and the Gresham police station because of the good work done, first the capture of Yetter and William Neveraski, 4916 South Lincoln street, in the robbery, and later for the capture of Yetter after the shooting of the two policemen.

"Policemen Guiltanane and Wistort were shot down because they endeavored to do a humane act," Alcock declared. "They had captured Yetter and Neveraski after they were compelled to shoot Yetter twice, once in the leg and once in the arm. They sent for a patrol wagon to take Yetter to a hospital. Ordinarily they would have taken him to the station in the flivver, but because of his injuries they wanted him to be put on a stretcher.

"Their thought for his comfort was their undoing. They were more concerned about getting him medical aid than they were about searching him thoroughly, and he had another pistol concealed on him after the officers took one gun away from him. He used that pistol with deadly intent."

Policemen Capture Robbers.

The shooting occurred in front of the Morgan Park Auto Sales company, at 2345 West 111th street, early yesterday morning. The two former convicts had just robbed an oil station at 115th and Halsted strets, taking $38 and a watch from William Novak, the attendant, and tieing up Novak and Elisha Alford, colored porter. Policemen Guiltanane, Wistort, and Fred Jergen caught them in their automobile a few blocks away, shooting Yettter as he ran.

Jergen went to a telephone to call for the patrol wagon. While he was away his two police comrades were shot. The prisoners escaped, leaving their automobile behind. It was traced to Andrew Vanovsky, 1638 West 53d street, who was recently put on probation. He said he had loaned the car to Yetter Thursday night.

Found in Woman's Room.

Chief of Detectives John Norton and five squads started a search for Yetter. They learned he had a woman friend living at the Park View hotel, 63d street and Stony Island avenue. They found him in her room and in his possession they found the .25 caliber automatic pistol used in shooting the policemen. The woman, Mrs. Marjorie Gossette, 26 years old, a divorcee with a 10 year old daughter, Patricia, were out of the room at the time but were found later.

"That's the man who shot me," said Policeman Wistort when Yetter was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital in Evergreen Park, where the wounded policeman was taken. The oil station employés also identified Yetter.

"I was drunk and I went out with Bill Nevers," Yetter said. "I don't know what happened." Later he confessed the shooting.

Yetter was arrested here in 1925 on two robbery charges—oil station holdups. He was found guilty on one charge and the other case was dismissed and Yetter was turned over to the prosecutor of Kane county. He had been identified as the man who robbed John V. Jennings of $161 at an Elgin oil station.

Paroled from Prison.

He pleaded guilty there to grand larceny. Former State's Attorney Charles L. Abbott of Kane county said at that time that juries were hesitant about finding any one guilty of robbery with a gun as the penalty was ten years to life imprisonment. As he had only one witness against Yetter, the prosecutor said he preferred to let Yetter plead guilty to a lighter charge and take a sentence of 1 to 10 years. He said he wrote to the parole board saying Yetter was guilty of a major crime and should be kept in prison for the limit. But Yetter was paroled a year ago after serving three years.

"We've helped him before, but we probably won't help him this time," said Yetter's father, Charles B. Yetter, who is 70 years old, and the mother added:

"This is worse than death. I wish I might die. I've done all I could to be a good mother and I've worked hard all my life. I've tried to bring him up right.

"When he got out of Joliet a year ago I tried to keep him at home. But nothing would make him stay home. I told the parole officer about this Vanovsky and his car and the gang Harry was running with. But he did nothing."

Charles Yetter, a brother, said Harry had been drinking too much moonshine.

"We spent $800 trying to save him last time," Charles said. "It did no good. No lawyer could do him any good now. We warned him after we helped him once."

Last night Chief of Detectives Norton and his men were still seeking Neveraski, who had eluded capture.

Congressman Lampert, Hurt in Auto Accident, Is Dead

Congressman Florian Lampert of Wisconsin, a resident of Oshkosh, died yesterday at the St. James hospital in Chicago Heights. Mr. Lampert was seriously injured on July 8 when his automobile crashed into a truck and skidded into a ditch on the Lincoln highway, two miles east of Chicago Heights, while en route to his home from Washington, D. C. He was 67 years old.

He received numerous fractures and internal injuries. His car was being driven by Charles F. Nolan, a student at Georgetown university in Washington. Nolan was not injured.

Mr. Lampert represented the Sixth congressional district and had been in congress since 1916. He was a Republican. He was instrumental in obtaining aid for war veterans.

Ruth Mietz, 19 years old, 2061 West Harrison street, was injured fatally last night when a car in which she was riding with five companions ran into a ditch on Route 49 in Richton park. The girl was taken to the St. James hospital in Chicago Heights, where she died. The other members of the party escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Death Toll Rises to 524.

These deaths and one other raised Cook county's motor toll for the year to 524. The other victim:

Mrs. Ethel Cohen, 42 years old, 3123 West 19th street. Killed by an automobile as she was crossing South Troy street at 19th street. Harry Appleman, 26 years old, 1347 West Division street, the driver, was arrested by Lawndale police and charged with manslaughter.

The secretary of state at Springfield yesterday notified Evanston police of the revocation of the license held by Cornelius P. Van Schaak Jr., 22 years old, 614 Linden avenue, Wilmette, son of the vice president of Peter Van Schaack & Sons, wholesale druggists. The revocation, effective for six months, is the second made against Van Schaack within a year, a previous one having expired April 15.

Van Schaack's arrests for speeding in Evanston include one in 1927, three in 1928, two in 1929, and one in 1930.

Chicago Woman Killed.

Mrs. Helen Verney, 28 years old, 407 West 27th street, was fatally injured when she was pinned under her auto when it collided with another car near Milwaukee yesterday.

An unidentified man was seriously injured when he was struck by an auto at 63d street and the outer drive. He was taken to the Illinois Central hospital. Benjamin Iverson, 9122 Houston avenue, the driver of the automobile, was not held.

DISTANCE TOLLS PUZZLE CITY ON PHONE FRANCHISE

Aldermen Ponder on Revenue Division.

Members of the city council surveying the negotiations with the Illinois Bell Telephone company for a new franchise, yesterday encountered another defect in the franchise draft which has been presented to the aldermen for approval. A number of the aldermen have voiced their disapproval of the omission from the draft of a definite provision obligating the company to pay the costs of relocating its equipment in the event of subway construction.

The telephone company in the franchise is given permission to lay its cables and equipment beneath, and to erect its poles and carry its wires above, city streets. As compensation the city is to receive 3 per cent of the company's gross revenues.

Ponder Division of Tolls.

The aldermen yesterday were puzzling over the question of the division between the American Telegraph and Telephone company and the local company of the tolls from long distance calls. The portion of the revenues of these calls which goes into the treasury of the local company is subject to the compensation features of the new franchise.

An analysis of the apportionment of the long distance tolls between the local and parent companies was made and submitted to the aldermen on Jan. 31 by J. G. Wray & Co. After reporting that certain necessary information was not available, G. W. Cummings, who signed the report, wrote as follows:

"Until the actual use of the property in telephone operation of the three services [local, suburban, and long distance] can be determined, there is no conceivable way in which the company or any one else can state what proportion of the revenues of each or any of the services can be apportioned to the Chicago division.

Suggest Plan to City.

"Without such apportionment there is no basis upon which to calculate a franchise tax based upon a portion only of such gross revenues.

"If the city is to receive compensation on a basis which involves a division of the revenues collected by the Illinois Bell for long distance service it would appear that the interests of the city can be protected only by the development of records by which, both now and in future years, the property and expenses relating to that service can be separated and the separation maintained on an equitable basis in order that the equitable character of the division of revenues can be determined."

CALL NIGHT FLYING NUISANCE AND ASK PROSECUTOR TO ACT

Mineola, L. I., July 18.—[Special.]—Night flying in Nassau county, where some of the country's most famous landing fields are located, has become such an annoyance to residents that District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards threatened today to bring public nuisance charges against all airports in the county which continue to permit aviators to shatter the evening quiet.

Mr. Edwards, who said he had received complaints from all over the county, has called a conference of officials of the principal airports to be held at his office here Monday. Among those invited are Walter L. Avery, manager of the Curtiss-Wright airport at Valley Stream; Capt. J. Nelson Kelly of Roosevelt field, and Maj. William Ryan of Mitchel field, the United States army's aviation post near here.

HIS RED EXPOSE BASED ON FACTS, WHALEN INSISTS

Offers to Prove Charges Against Amtorg.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen today informed the congressional committee investigating communist activities that the "Amtorg documents" were genuine and he could prove it.

These documents published by him when he was commissioner, purported to show that the soviet government, working through Amtorg corporation, its trading agents here, was fomenting industrial revolution in this country. Amtorg officials declared the documents forged.

Asks Secret Session.

The commissioner asked for an executive session of the committee to produce "under cover" police witnesses to back up his assertions, saying the proceedings must be secret to protect the men's lives and their families. The committee agreed to hold a secret session later.

Mr. Whalen said that he would be able to establish beyond question that the papers were turned out by Max Wagoner, an east side printer. To attack Wagoner's standing he read into the committee minutes what he said was the printer's police record. It included a jail sentence for possessing indecent pictures and another one for impairing the morals of a minor.

Mr. Whalen Arrives Late.

Mr. Whalen "stood up" the committee for an hour and forty-five minutes this morning, thus impairing the majestic dignity of that body to a considerable degree.

Due to take the witness stand at 10 a. m., Mr. Whalen didn't appear until 11:45, and then only after a subpoena had been issued for him by the impatient committee. He explained it was all a misunderstanding, and he apologized handsomely, but his reception was far from cordial.

Chairman Hamilton Fish Jr. announced the committee would meet in Detroit July 25 and 26 and in Chicago July 28 and 29, it will then adjourn until Sept. 26, he said, when members will go west for meetings in Seattle, Los Angeles, and possibly San Francisco.

Drys Raid New Brewery; Reputed Capone Property

An alleged Capone brewery, just constructed, was destroyed by prohibition agents under the direction of Administrator John F. J. Herbert at 1421 South Wabash avenue yesterday afternoon. The raiders found 20,000 gallons of mash, eight steel fermenting tanks of 75 barrels capacity each and three 65 barrel pressure tanks. One month ago special dry agents under Alexander Jamie raided a brewery at 2108 South Wabash avenue, where 200,000 gallons of beer and mash was found. The new brewery was believed to have been intended to fill the gap in the Capone gang's properties.

MAGUIRE LAWYER ASKS CONTEMPT FOR DAILY NEWS

Article on Ouster Hearing Called Lie by Jarecki.

The trial of ouster charges against Fred V. Maguire, chairman of the board of election commissioners came to a temporary halt yesterday when County Judge Jarecki, who is hearing the case, was asked by Maguire's attorney, Albert Fink, to cite the publisher and editor of the Chicago Daily News for contempt of court. Attorney Fink's motion will be heard on Monday.

Maguire is charged with employing persons with police records as election officials. The petition to oust him was brought by Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case, former attorney for the election board, who has been accused by Maguire of starting the action for "political reasons."

"Damnable Lie," Jarecki Says.

The charge against the Daily News is the result of an article which appeared in that newspaper on Thursday.

The article said that "the Democratic county committee had Judge Jarecki in conference at the Hotel Sherman on Wednesday afternoon and demanded all the jobs at his disposal in return for what the committee considered it was doing for him in the Maguire proceedings."

"That is a damnable lie," Judge Jarecki exclaimed. "I did not attend the meeting. There was a luncheon to the Democratic candidates the earlier part of this week and I did not even attend that so that the inference might not be drawn of some impropriety on my part."

Rejects Contempt Inference.

Judge Jarecki also took exception to another paragraph in the Daily News story which said that "the court hinted at a jail sentence for contempt of court of Attorney Case when the latter charged the court was asking some witnesses leading questions when their characters were being examined."

The judge challenged any one to find anything in the court records that might call forth an inference of that kind.

Attorney Case appeared surprised by Mr. Fink's attack against the newspaper and refused to take the witness stand, when requested by Fink, to tell what he knew of the origin of the article in the Daily News. Mr. Fink declared that when court adjourned on Thursday, Case was given a message that the Daily News wished to see him. Case will be represented by counsel when the hearing is resumed on Monday.

Fink charged that the newspaper article was an attempt to influence the judge's decision in the Maguire case. He also asked that Case be questioned in regard to the distribution of postcards which, he said, urged people to attend the hearing of the charges against Maguire and "show Mr. Case your support."

2,000 STRANDED AT SEA AS MEXICO HITS SMUGGLERS

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune News Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 18.—Two thousand Russians and Chinese are wandering about in ships off the Pacific coast of Mexico seeking a landing place which is not guarded by coast guards and customs officers, according to an official statement today. Investigations made by government special agents within the last two weeks show that this number of would-be immigrants had, through their agents, made arrangements for illegal entry into Mexico through the bribery of officials.

The immigrants, it was stated, were brought to Mexico by Japanese steamship companies which are unable to transfer them to coast boats which had contracted to land them at unwatched ports along the coast.

Orders have also been issued to increase the guards along the United States border in case the Chinese and Russians should attempt to enter Mexico by way of the American side. Coast guards have been doubled and ports never guarded before are now filled with special agents looking for immigrants.

The fiscal agent estimates that immigrants illegally entering Mexico since Jan. 1 number over 20,000, most of whom are Chinese, Russians, and Syrians.

FLORIDA BACKING ARK. DEMOCRATS BARRING NEGROES

Ready to Assist if Case Goes to High Court.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 18.—(AP)—The state Democratic executive committee today adopted resolutions urging support by "all true Democrats" of the national, state and county nominees of the party and indorsed the Arkansas state Democratic committee for qualifying only white Democrats in the Democratic primary of that state.

Discussing the recent action of the Democratic committee in Arkansas, the resolution said the Arkansas committee's ruling had been upheld as valid by the Arkansas Supreme court. The resolution said, however, it was understood that a petition for a writ or certiorari had been applied for in the United States Supreme court attempting to have the Arkansas law declared unconstitutional.

The Florida committee empowered its chairman to take steps for application to the United States Supreme court for permission to file as friend of the court supporting the legality of the position taken by the Arkansas organization.

G. O. P. Leader Criticized.

Little Rock, Ark., July 18.—(AP)—Echoes of the 1928 presidential campaign were heard today in the meeting of the Pulaski county Democratic central committee, which criticized by resolution alleged activities of J. A. Comer, Little Rock Republican leader and formar grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Arkansas, against United States Senator Joe T. Robinson, who seeks renomination in the August primary.

The resolution, adopted unanimously by the committee, charged Comer was conducting a "whispering campaign" through paid employés and by letters in favor of Senator Robinson's opponent, Tom W. Campbell, Little Rock attorney. The committee declared in the resolution the contents of the letters were untrue.

Comer, a lawyer, was charged with "disturbing the peace of the Democratic party," and with trying to discredit Senator Robinson. While the committee said it was not sponsoring either of the candidates, it condemned the alleged activities of Comer as "unfair."

Grocer Norris Rifled Out.

Lincoln, Neb., July 18.—(AP)—Chief Justice Charles A. Goss of the Nebraska Supreme court tonight ruled that the name of George W. Norris, Broken Bow grocer, should not appear on the Republican primary ballot as a candidate for the U. S. senatorial nomination in opposition to Senator George W. Norris of McCook.

The chief justice reversed the decision of Secretary of State Frank Marsh, who had accepted a belated filing for the Broken Bow grocer. The secretary of state was ordered by the court to refrain from including the name of the Broken Bow man on the Aug. 12 primary ballot.

After the court's ruling, John P. Robertson, secretary of Senator Norris, announced that the senator would not withdraw from the race. "He will run on the primary ballot," Robertson said.

Friends of the senator had indicated that he may withdraw and run for reëlection as an independent.

The court's ruling leaves the Republican senatorial primary race a three cornered affair among Senator Norris, State Treasurer W. M. Stebbins, and Aaron Read of Madison.

Robber Brings Relief from Heat to Butcher Brothers

"Hot, eh," remarked a young Negro sauntering into a meat market at 2941 Cottage Grove avenue yesterday afternoon. The proprietors, Albert and Morris Lezak, mopped their brows and nodded. "Well, relief is in sight," the Negro promised and drew a pistol. He directed the Lezaks into the ice box, where they shivered half an hour until a customer, Mrs. Anna Forgenson, 2946 Cottage Grove avenue, heard their shouts and released them. The Negro had fled with $295.

SWOPE EXPLAINS PLAN TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT

Employers, Employes Share Burden.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, today outlined the plan by which his concern is stabilizing employment among its 80,000 workmen before a meeting of some fifty other large employers at city hall.

The hearing was called by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's committee for the stabilization of industry for the prevention of unemployment.

Mr. Swope told the group that the General Electric plan had not at first been popular, but that at present about 75 per cent of all the company's employés had accepted it. At the conclusion of his speech many of those present, all of whom are engaged in working out employment stabilization plans of their own, questioned him at length regarding the technical operation of the plan.

Features Outlined.

Following are the salient features of the General Electric plan as outlined by Mr. Swope:

1. Joint and equal contributions by employés and the company.
2. Joint participation in the administration of the plan.
3. Aid through group action to those workers who are in need or require temporary loans, or who become unemployed, or for whom only part time work is available.
4. In times of unemployment emergency, coöperation and assistance from those employés of the company not usually affected by unemployment, and assistance by the company in equal amount.

Those Unaffected Aid.

"The plan," Mr. Swope explained, "may be adopted by each works as a unit, by a majority vote of its eligible employés. It has now been adopted or is being considered by the employés of all works. It is of further interest that the plan is quite generally favored by departments which are not usually subject to layoffs in periods of unemployment and whose members would not make normal contributions to the fund, but would contribute during the unemployment emergencies.

"This plan is not final in form or in substance and may be modified by joint action of the employés and the company. It is an interesting experiment, in which the company is glad to join its employés, first, in endeavoring to find a solution, and, second, in ameliorating the tragic effects of unemployment on particular employés, who are in no sense responsible for their unemployment."

Evanston Apartment Fire Causes $10,000 Damage

Fire of unknown origin yesterday routed tenants from a three apartment building at 911 Sherman avenue, Evanston, and caused a property damage of $10,000. The fire started beneath the rear porch of the building, and police believe small boys playing with matches were responsible.

JAMES KIRKWOOD AND LILA LEE AGREED ON DIVORCE SETTLEMENT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Attorney Richard Cantillon, representing James Kirkwood, actor, today said a pre-divorce agreement is expected to smooth Kirkwood's way to a decree from Lila Lee, Chicago born film star, when Kirkwood's contested divorce case goes to trial next week.

Miss Lee will not fight next week's suit or interfere with Kirkwood's wish to retain custody of the pair's six year old child, the attorney says, but she reserves a say over the child's education and training and is to have her maternal rights specified and extended when she recovers her health.

The couple have divided community property satisfactorily, the attorney said.

Wife Sues to Divorce Herbert Batson, Banker

Mrs. Hazel Randolph Batson, 35 years old, of Glen Ellyn, yesterday filed a suit for divorce against her husband, Maj. Herbert Batson, former English army officer and vice president of the commercial department in the National Bank of the Republic, in the Circuit court of Du Page county at Wheaton. She charges nonsupport. Mrs. Batson said their marriage took place in England in January, 1920, after she had been a nurse in the war. She charges her husband persuaded her to mortgage her property in Logan county, Ind., and that it was lost in the recent period of depression.

5½ YEAR PEACE IN HARD COAL MINES ASSURED

Agreement for New Contract Reached.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Industrial strife in the anthracite region was definitely averted tonight for five and a half years when the miners' full scale committee confirmed provisions of the tentative agreement affecting 150,000 men, drawn up last night between the miners' and operators' committee at the Anthracite institute.

The agreement, running until April 1, 1936, and superseding the present one expiring Sept. 1 of this year, will be ratified by the tri-district convention of the hard coal miners to be held at Scranton, Aug. 4, according to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and other union chiefs participating in the negotiations.

Miners Get Checkoff.

The principal features of the new agreement are a definite concession to the miners of the checkoff system of payment of dues and to the operators a modified form of arbitration for the consideration of wage scales and other questions.

The agreement provides for a permanent committee of twelve, six from each side, who may call in outside experts to aid in the solution of problems arrising during the life of the agreement.

Mr. Lewis, speaking on behalf of himself and W. W. Inglis, president of the Glen Alden Coal company and chairman of the operators' group, said:

"We are gratified to confirm the negotiations of a new agreement that will spell industrial peace in the anthracite region.

Present Wages Stand.

"The agreement is predicated upon a continuance of present wages. The arrangement for collection of dues will reduce operating expenses of the union. In consideration for this accommodation, the agreement provides for practical coöperation by the miners in promoting efficiency in operating methods and economy in the cost of production without decreasing the miners' earnings.

"The arrangement set forth in the contract for meetings from time to time of the negotiating parties will, in our estimation, prove to be a vehicle for the extension of the good will now existing in the industry."

TRAILER SERVICE IN MADISON ST. IS ABANDONED

The car and trailer service which has been in operation on Madison street since 1923, will give place today to single car traffic, according to announcement made last night by officials of the Chicago Surface Lines.

The street car officials said the change would enable them virtually to double the frequency of the service in Madison street, and to increase the speed of operation approximately 12 per cent. The change was ordered, it was said, after a survey showed that the trailer service was not efficient on the congested street. The new schedules will save approximately five and a half minutes in the time of passengers making the trip from Austin avenue to the loop.

JURY DISCHARGED AFTER DEADLOCK IN BEGLEY CASE

Twenty hours of deliberation failed to bring an agreement by a jury in Judge Philip Finnegan's criminal court in the case of Sergt. William Begley, suspended policeman, who was charged with extortion. The judge discharged the jurors shortly after noon, when they reported that they were hopelessly deadlocked. It is reported that the jury at the end stood 10 to 2 for conviction.

The state charged that Begley extorted $500 last fall from Jean Hassewer, a cabinetmaker, 5642 Lake Park avenue. Hassewer had previously entered into a deal to buy an interest in a "money making machine," and it is charged that the policeman, acting with others, extorted the money on the pretense of stopping a threatened prosecution. Hassewer was murdered mysteriously several months after the arrest of Begley and others.

Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks said he would start preparation for a retrial of the case at once.

MRS. C. H. SWIFT IS RESTING WELL AFTER OPERATION

Mrs. Charles H. Swift, the former Claire Dux, was resting comfortably at the Presbyterian hospital last night following an emergency operation performed early yesterday after she had been stricken while attending an opera at Ravinia.

"Mrs. Swift underwent an operation for tumor. Her condition is satisfactory." This was the bulletin issued by the attending surgeons, Dr. Wilbur E. Post and Dr. Carl B. Davis.

Mrs. Swift's career as Claire Dux, the opera and concert singer, was marked by triumphs both in America and abroad. Born in Poland in 1890, she came to the United States in 1919 and made her Chicago debut in 1921 as Mimi in La Boheme with the Civic Opera company. Her marriage to Mr. Swift was a social event of 1926.

TURK, 156, IN U.S. HUNTING A BRIDE AND FALSE TEETH

Prefers Plump Brunettes; He's Father of 36.

Ready for Anything

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Zaro Acha wants to tackle John D. Rockefeller, Sr., at a round of golf for a $50 side bet. The fact that he never has played golf does not bother him. He'll stack age against flaming youth any time. He also wants to compete against John R. Voorhis, 101 year old Tammany leader, at anything from tree sitting to endurance bike riding.

Providence, R. I., July 18.—[Special.]—Zaro Acha, the 156 year old Turkish "Father William," arrived in the United States this morning looking for a set of false teeth and a new bride.

His last teeth grew when he was 105 years old, Zaro explained, and lasted forty years, so that he has since suffered from the ministrations of near eastern dentists.

As for the bride, he confided that he never has been happy with his latest spouse, a lass of 65, whom he hopes to divorce with part of the proceeds of his American tour.

Drys Did Not Import Him.

Zaro brought with him a passport giving his birth date as 1774, and was accompanied by his backer, Assim Radvin of Constantinople, exporter of Turkish foodstuffs. The latter agreed with Calvin Harris, American representative, that prohibition organizations had nothing to do with the tour. He said that Zaro had never taken a drink in his life, however.

The United States public health surgeon, who looked Zaro over, said he is suffering from senility, hardening of the arteries and a cataract in the right eye, but otherwise is in excellent condition.

Zaro acknowledges that he likes brunettes, preferably plump, although the presence of an attractive blonde fellow passenger and a brown haired girl reporter caused him to stall considerably and ask that his reply to the all-important question be kept a secret.

To reporters, who averaged 120 years younger than himself, he said he had served in four wars, the first in 1799, when he helped defend Acre against Napoleon, and the last in 1878, when 104, he volunteered and carried heavy guns up mountains when they exterminated whole regiments of Russians.

Howls About French Women.

Zaro cannot remember the names of all his eleven wives or thirty-six children. His latest and only surviving bride, Kudret, is trouble enough. But he still enjoys life and got a big thrill out of his visit to the Folies Bergères in Paris five years ago.

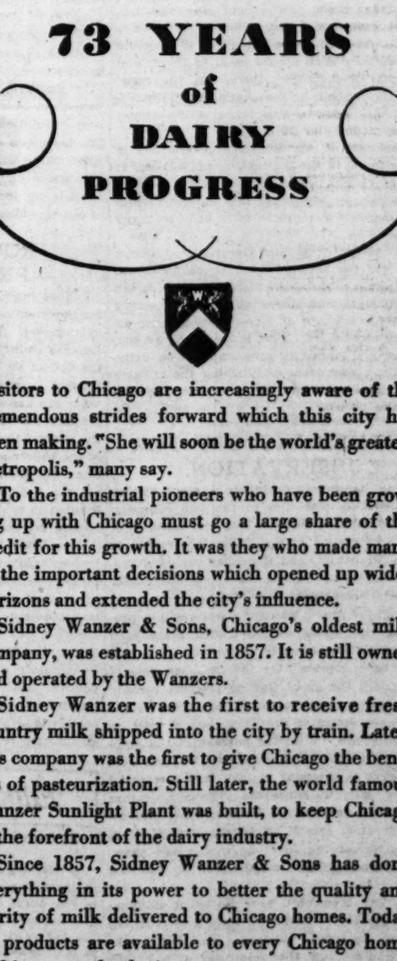
"Ay-yi," he howled, when asked his impression of French women.

The movies have been a strain on his eyes recently and he doesn't like to begin wearing glasses at his age, he confided.

Zaro was discharged from a munitions factory in Istambul eleven years ago, when he was only 145, and has since been a doorman at the city hall there.

The aged Turk expects to "cash in" on his trip here by appearance before scientific societies. He went on the New York tonight.

Growing up WITH CHICAGO



73 YEARS of DAIRY PROGRESS

Visitors to Chicago are increasingly aware of the tremendous strides forward which this city has been making. "She will soon be the world's greatest metropolis," many say.

To the industrial pioneers who have been growing up with Chicago must go a large share of the credit for this growth. It was they who made many of the important decisions which opened up wider horizons and extended the city's influence.

Sidney Wanzer & Sons, Chicago's oldest milk company, was established in 1857. It is still owned and operated by the Wanzers.

Sidney Wanzer was the first to receive fresh country milk shipped into the city by train. Later, this company was the first to give Chicago the benefits of pasteurization. Still later, the world famous Wanzer Sunlight Plant was built, to keep Chicago at the forefront of the dairy industry.

Since 1857, Sidney Wanzer & Sons has done everything in its power to better the quality and purity of milk delivered to Chicago homes. Today its products are available to every Chicago home and in most suburbs.*

RACE OF THE CENTURY AT ARLINGTON TODAY

Best distance horses of the year meet in $35,000 Arlington Cup for championship of America

THE greatest field to face a starter in 25 years will undoubtedly go to the post this afternoon to compete for the Arlington Cup, and a purse of $25,000 added, the winner of which will be termed the champion of 1930. Blue Larkspur, which showed his form in the Stars and Stripes Handicap by breaking the track record for a mile and furlong to 1:49 2-5ths, this year, and which won the Classic last year; Misstep, iron son of Upset and St. Theresa; Petee Wrack, the Fox's half brother which won the Suburban Handicap at Belmont; Reveille Boy, winner of the American Derby; Sun Beau, Toro, Stars and Bars, Paul Bunyan, will all be in the battle.

Weight for age affair

This splendid championship contest will be strictly a weight-for-age affair. Three-year-old stallions will carry 114 pounds, 3-year-old mares will carry 109 pounds; stallions 4 years old and up, 126 pounds; mares, 121 pounds.

For the greatest race ever staged on a western track, come to Arlington today. You will see the smartest thoroughbreds of all ages compete in this one race. There is no increase in admission prices.

Race to be broadcast

Because of the great importance of this race both the National and Columbia Systems will broadcast it over nation-wide networks. In Chicago listen to KYW or WBBM.

THE GERMAN DICTATORSHIP.

Attention has been drawn to a peculiarity of the constitution of the German republic by an unusual situation which it has made possible. President von Hindenburg resorted to article 48 to enable Chancellor Bruening to put an emergency tax law in effect. There was a government budget deficit of $300,000,000 and the chancellor levied some new special taxes to meet it. In theory such acts without the consent of parliament can be effective only until the assembly meets and passes on them. If the legislators defeat the administrative measure it is void. In this instance the government remained in control by dissolving the reichstag to preserve the taxes.

The upshot of the procedure is to destroy in the new pattern republic the first principle upon which the great legislative bodies of the English speaking people have been created, the control of taxation of the people by their representatives. President von Hindenburg and his advisers have done what Charles I. and his advisers did in Great Britain. They kept parliament out of session and tried to raise money by special taxes, such as ship money.

The time in which the German expedient can be used is limited. There must be new elections and the reichstag ultimately will remain in command of the purse strings, but necessity has driven the government to usurpation of a power which was declared to be the right of absolute kings. Logically such a road leads to Doorn and the imperial woodchopper there, but the guarantee of the republic is the character of Hindenburg and the apparent acceptance of the democracy by a majority of its citizens.

The weakness of representative government in Europe is found in the multiplicity of parties. It works uncertainly when differences of political opinion break the electorate into so many fragments and give the representative body so many blocs.

In the present instance Germany, whatever the need for the action, is taking chances with the only power with which the English preserved their parliament and developed their democracy when the parliaments of Europe were being destroyed by absolutism. That is the power to control taxes and appropriations and by so doing prevent the crown from maintaining the military force sufficient to govern by it without the consent of the people.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR CONSERVATION.

With no blowing of trumpets a great victory for conservation was won in the late congress. It was the culmination of a long and bitter fight for the preservation of the Rainy lake region in northern Minnesota, and if similar complete protection is given by Canada the whole Rainy lake watershed, comprising over fourteen thousand square miles of forest, lake and stream, will be preserved to the people of the United States and Canada and their posterity—a heritage of health and joy beyond price. On the Canadian side of the boundary the great Quetico preserve already exists, but steps still remain to be taken for the complete protection of the Rainy lake district on the Ontario side. With the passage of the Shipstead-Newton-Nolan act our Superior National Forest preserve is extended to take in the essential lands and waters in Minnesota. The new measure protects the present water levels and prevents artificial flooding, except by special permission of congress, preserving shoreline timber and therefore the beauty of lakes and the wild life resorting to them.

There has been until now no great midwest national preserve. There are state preserves, but these are necessarily limited. The Rainy lake region was in fact the only vast area of the original wilderness of the midcontinent remaining available for preservation. It was of course subject to private exploitation at any moment, and six years ago it became known that private industrial interests were planning an ambitious development of dams and water control which would soon accomplish unavoidable damage to the natural beauty and the recreational resources of the region. Back water was already encircling the lakes with dead trees and affecting the wild life which it is an important principle of the conservation movement to protect. The private interests organized for power development were and are powerful, resourceful and determined. But by 1927 the friends of conservation had developed a most effective resistance. The Izaak Walton league and the Quetico-Superior council, a coördinating body of conservation groups in Minnesota, the American Legion, the women's clubs, the American Forestry association, the American Game Protective association, and others concentrated the opposition and through the friends of conservation in congress were finally successful in procuring the necessary legislation.

To have made this splendid region secure for the people of America is a service of which the individuals and organizations responsible and the 71st congress may be proud. But the event has also significance as evidence that the conservation movement is now so organized that it cannot be defeated by local or special interests, however powerful. An organization like the Izaak Walton league represented in every state by wideawake groups of able and influential men can watch over the varied interests of conservation and bring an overwhelming influence to bear for their protection and advancement. There is now a standing army of conservationists behind the movement which is a permanent feature of American public policy and has passed out of the earlier crusading stage into that of quietly determined accomplishment. It is supported not merely by the profound instinct of the nation but by effective organized citizenship devoted to a great cause, watchful of opportunity, and able to make their public spirited purposes tell against any selfish and shortsighted opposition.

THE JUNIOR PARTNER GETS BUSY.

Senator Blaine of Wisconsin has been rereading the Kellogg peace pact, another noble experiment, and by resolution would have the state department instructed to offer its best offices to Great Britain and India, both signers of the pact, to bring the situation in India into harmony with this outlawry of war "with no abridgment of the just rights of the people of India who are seeking to emulate our national independence."

Mr. Blaine may hold that if the United States is about to accept the British naval treaty and assume a new place in the commonwealth of nations it might start off the partnership by being of service in the internal affairs of that association of dominions. The junior member would thus make at least a little bustle of authority about the place and show that he had a sense of responsibility. It might get him nothing more than a suggestion that he dust the front rug and then stand by to answer telephone calls. That probably would be the result. In this new arrangement Mr. MacDonald has no place in which he can make further use of the state department. All he will require will be the navy department telephone number.

THE COMMUNIST INQUIRY.

If the investigation of communist activities in America by Congressman Fish's committee is prompted by fear of revolutionary disorders in this country it is wasted effort. There is no communist sentiment in this country worth talking about and no leaders have arisen or are likely to arise who can attract more than a handful of followers to the cause.

The fact that there are a few thousand communists in the country and that they meet from time to time is too well known to require investigation. Incidentally, they have a perfect right to meet and to discuss their theories and aims if they do not include violence.

The investigation will justify itself if it brings out facts of a different sort. The American people has a good deal of reason to suspect that considerable sums have been sent to this country by the Russian government for purposes of revolutionary agitation. The committee may be able to uncover the facts. They bear directly upon the question of Russian recognition. Our government could hardly maintain relations of friendship with a nation engaged in the attempt to overthrow it by violence.

Information is desired also as to the degree of watchfulness exerted by the federal government over revolutionary activities in the country. It has been said that the federal government maintains no surveillance over communist or any other subversive movements. If so the federal government is not doing its full duty for the preservation of our republican form of government.

ROUGH STUFF IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Gifford Pinchot won the Republican nomination for governor in Pennsylvania. He will run as an independent. There had been an agreement in Luzerne county, the Wilkes-Barre region, to print the ballots on perforated paper to prevent fraud. Pinchot carried the county by 26,000 and these votes are necessary to his nomination. After the primary the whole county vote was challenged on the ground that the perforation was a mutilation of the ballots and that legally they were not valid. The case has gone to the Supreme court and is set for hearing Sept. 29. The uncertainty led Pinchot to cast about for another party label and he will run as an independent.

There may be a large number of very decent Pennsylvanians who do not believe that Mr. Pinchot represents the highest ideals of reform in political action. He has been long at it and has acquired reputation at it. His opponents, however, make their side of the street so offensive that any reform with any reformer seems to be unescapably necessary. Thus we progress in politics. If the reformer tends to become pestiferous, the boys in the back room become pestilential. If one goes into demagogy the others go into rip roaring rascality.

Editorial of the Day

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE THAT COUNTS.

[Minneapolis Tribune.]

In 1890 Stephen M. Babcock, laboratory worker at the University of Wisconsin, invented and gave to the world the Babcock butterfat test for milk.

It has been invaluable to the dairy world and its use has vastly increased the wealth and prosperity of the northwest. Through it interest was increased in the breeding of the best strains of dairy cattle. It was a lethal blow at the boarder cow. It demonstrated practically and accurately to many farmers the difference between making money and losing money in the dairy business.

His invention has been rightfully called the most distinguished service given to agriculture in a generation.

At the age of 86 he declines to accept royalties estimated at more than a million dollars, but is awarded the Capper prize of $5,000 and a medal for his distinguished service to the farmers of the nation.

In achievement, precept and example Prof. Babcock qualifies as one of the nation's most useful servants. His present honors come to him late in life. He is rather an inspiring example of modesty. He did things for the love of doing them. He found his greatest personal satisfaction in seeing the work of his hands confer benefits on others. All the northwest congratulates him. All the northwest appreciates him. There is no interest in it that has not been affected by his life work.

SUNLIGHT FOR THE CHILD.

A FEW minutes ago a child about four years of age, accompanied by his mother, passed down the street toward the beach. This child had on sandals and a single garment, which latter covered a few square inches of the child's midsection. His skin was well tanned. There was every indication that the mother takes her child to the beach daily for a sunbath.

Everything we have learned of the effect of sunlight on children indicates that this mother's policy is a wise one. In a rapidly growing child, cartilage is growing and being converted into bone. That this complex change may work out satisfactorily, the tissues must have plenty of calcium and there must be proper relationship between the supply of calcium and phosphorus. It is not enough that the calcium be ample in amount. It must be chemically right. The chemicals made by the action of sunlight on the sterols of the skin are necessary for proper conditioning of the calcium, its proper relation to phosphorus, and for health of cartilage and bone. Growing children need sunlight. They need it somewhat in summer and more acutely in winter. To a limited extent the sunlight compounds can be stored in summer for winter use.

They need it for growth. They need sunlight to protect against rickets and also to help them resist colds, pneumonia, and contagion in winter and diarrheas in summer. They need it all year round as a protection against consumption.

If sunlight promotes ageing and therefore induces premature senility, that is no more than a theoretical disadvantage to a child. On the other hand, the need of protection against rickets and pneumonia and the advantage of promoting growth are present, immediate, and practical.

There is but one disadvantage and that applies only to a few children. Bright sunlight may cause irritability. A nervous, irritable child should spend at least a few hours daily in a dark, quiet place. A very few children are light sensitive. Their skins burn easily. Some develop heat hives. Such children should not be exposed to bright sunlight except it be done cautiously.

SAFE AND CHEAP TREATMENT.

A Reader writes: I have recently made a great discovery—namely: that when the nerves are upset from a few hours' strain from worry, and the famous headache is about to descend, I place my hands and wrists under the cold water faucet and, presto! After a few minutes the nerves are as calm as a healthy babe's. Believe it or not, it works with me and it may help others, hence the contribution.

REPLY:

STARCH ABOUT THE SAME.

T. Y. writes:

1. Which contains the least starch—toasted white bread or toasted whole wheat bread?
2. Does buttermilk contain as much starch as ordinary sweet milk?
3. Is whole wheat bread more valuable as a food toasted or untoasted?

REPLY:

1. About the same. Both are practically all starch.
2. Neither contains any starch. Both contain milk sugar which is a kinsman. Some buttermilk contains less than sweet milk.
3. Toasted, though the difference is not great.

EXERCISE MAY HELP.

T. writes: I am 18 years old and extremely flatchested for a girl my age. What can I do about it?

REPLY:

Changing the shape of the bony chest wall is not an easy matter. You may accomplish something if you will work hard and persistently. The African women who carry heavy loads on the head are not often flat chested. Rowing, swimming, and climbing are good exercises.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

AUTOMATIC RENEWAL.

Chicago, July 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Our tenants signed a lease which expired the 30th of April of this year, but did not sign another at that time. We asked if they were going to stay and both said yes. This week the wife put a note in the mail box saying they are going to move Aug. 1. Are they liable for the flat and do they have to get a tenant for it? C. W.

Where a tenant under a lease for a definite term holds over beyond the term and the landlord accepts additional rent, these circumstances, in the absence of other circumstances showing a contrary intent on the part of the landlord, result in a renewal by implication so that neither party can terminate the tenancy nor increase the rent during such renewal.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DUPLICATE SUFFICES.

Chicago, July 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Are we compelled by law to give up Torrens certificate of title to holders of mortgage who insist that they must hold it because of a recent decision handed down by the Supreme court? Would not a duplicate of title do just as well, provided one is needed? G. S.

It is customary for the mortgage holder to hold a duplicate. You are not obliged to give him even this, unless you have so agreed. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WAR DECLARED ON WEEDS.

Chicago, July 14.—[Friend of the People.]—In the interest of those who suffer from hay fever, I wonder if it would not be possible to start a movement which would compel property owners to clear their properties of noxious weeds, the pollens of which cause untold suffering to countless thousands of people. V. C. E.

You are advised that the department of health is now instituting a canvass of all premises containing a growth of weeds and poison ivy, and if the names and addresses of the owners or agents are obtainable notices will be served covering the requirements of the ordinance.

In addition our law enforcement division has taken up with the city prosecutor's office the matter of having court proceedings instituted immediately.

In order to create city-wide interest we have addressed a letter to every civic organization and community club interested in health and local welfare, soliciting their aid in our efforts to rid the city of the seasonable weed nuisance.

ARNOLD H. KEGEL,
Commissioner of Health.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WHERE IS MY WANDERING BOY TONIGHT?

Where is my wandering boy tonight,
Who knelt at his mother's knee,
The boy that was once my joy and pride,
And none was so good as he.

Chorus—
Oh, he's up in a tree tonight,
He's up in a tree tonight;
I laugh and grow fat,
For I know where he's at,
He's up in a tree tonight.

Oh, where is my wandering boy tonight,
That used to go hellin' around?
And I know that he's safe and sound.

Chorus—
Oh, he's up in a tree tonight,
He's up in a tree tonight;
I laugh and grow fat,
For I know where he's at,
He's up in a tree tonight.

WELL, ANYHOW, we're getting on with our new subway and street car and elevated consolidation plans; all street car conductors and motormen were given new caps and badges yesterday. Not much, we'll admit, but as Cleopatra said to Henry the Eighth, "Rome was not built in a day; it took at least a day and a half."

OLD JIM GERARD, former ambassador to Germany (and how Jim did shake things around over there!), has just come back from Europe with the news that Italy and France are itching to get at each other's throats and will soon be at war. What! With the ink still fresh on Mr. Kellogg's peace pact and the U. S. about ready to sign the naval peace treaty on the dotted line! Pipe down, James; with all those peace treaties signed and delivered, how can there be another war?

TAUNT FOR A BRAVE MAN.

I'm only a defenseless girl,
Unused to sword or gun;
My aim is poor, my weapon weak,
But still my missiles stun.
And never would I hurt a soul,
Not even when in fun,
Yet I've only to unsheathe my pen

And Lissen, Cal, We Know a Lot More of 'Em, Too.

"It is human nature," observed our brother col. con. Cal Coolidge in his colyum yesterday, "to blame some one else for our misfortunes." Aye, Cal, we subscribe to that thought heartily. And more than that, in other men we faults can spy, and blame the mote that dims their eye. There is so much good in the worst of us and so much bad in the best of us that it ill behooves any of us to find fault with the rest of us. A creature not too bright or good for human nature's daily food. To love is human, to forgive divine. The worst way to improve the world is to condemn it. The better the day the better the deed, judge not that ye be not judged, and when sorrows come they come not single spies but in battalion. Let us then be up and doing, with a heart for any fate; act well thy part, there all the honor lies.

PATCHWORK.

Life is a patchwork crazy quilt
With pieces of every hue,
Not in an orderly manner built,
But tumbled and set askew.

Patches of khaki and calico,
Satins and silks, agleam—
The red of pain, the black of woe,
And the gold of a vanished dream.

Sometimes one wonders, did a Hand
Fashion this jumbled maze?
Was there ever a Brain that planned
The hodge-podge of our days?

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 19, 1865.

NEW YORK.—A special from Washington to the Post says: "The President has changed the place of imprisonment of Dr. Samuel A. Mudd, Michael O'Laughlin, Samuel Arnold, and Edward Spangler, and they were sent to the Dry Tortugas instead of to the Albany penitentiary." They were convicted of conspiracy in connection with the assassination of President Lincoln.

WASHINGTON.—R. H. Gillett, who has been retained by some friends of Jeff Davis as his counsel, has arrived in Washington. He has had no interview with his client, nor does he know what course the government intends to pursue relative to the trial.

NEW YORK.—G. W. Gayle, the man who offered $1,000,000 for the murder of President Lincoln, President Johnson, and Secretary Seward, arrived at Hilton Head, S. C., from Washington under guard and was sent thence to Fort Pulaski. R. M. T. Hunter of Virginia, who also is confined in that stronghold, has applied to President Johnson for a pardon.

CHICAGO.—The corner stone of the new Plymouth Congregational church was laid at Wabash avenue and Eldredge court with appropriate ceremonies. It will be handsome among handsome city churches and commodious beyond any church in the city. Plymouth church was an offshoot from the First Presbyterian church in 1851.

ST. PAUL.—A letter from Fort Sully, Dakota, says that Gen. Sully's Indian expedition has concentrated there. It found great difficulties on the march, owing to grasshoppers having destroyed the grass. The horses were kept on half rations of corn. Gen. Sully thinks he will be able to make a treaty with the Sioux west of the Mississippi.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 19, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Headquarters for the Republican national committee have been leased in what Senator Hanna describes as "the leanto" of the Auditorium Annex. A contract has been closed with Manager Southgate of the hotel for sixteen flats in the four story building to the south of the hotel.

LONDON.—It is now generally admitted in Russia that China has openly declared war but to preserve international harmony the fiction will be kept up that war so far as Russia is concerned will be only against the Chinese Boxers, and not against the Chinese government. Russia now has about 40,000 soldiers in Siberia but is pushing 30,000 reinforcements there with all speed. The foreign office in London discredits the report that China has declared war on Russia and regards the attack on the Russian Manchurian settlement as merely the extension of the Boxer movement. England is distrustful of the czar's purpose.

GEORGETOWN, Ky.—The prosecution in the trial of former Secretary of State Caleb Powers, charged with being accessory before the fact to the murder of William Goebel, scored some telling blows when William H. Culton, one of the indicted men, took the stand and told of a plot to kill Goebel. He said he talked with Henry Youtsey and that Youtsey explained how Goebel could be shot from the window of the secretary of state's office without danger of detection. Gov. W. S. Taylor, now a refugee in Indiana, was credited with furnishing the money to bring the mountain men to Frankfort at the time of the assassination.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 19, 1920.

BERLIN.—Prince Joachim of Hohenzollern, youngest son of former Emperor William, committed suicide in Potsdam. He was recently divorced from Princess Marie Augustine and is believed to have been in financial straits. One report says he shot himself while in his residence, the Villa Leignitz, and died a few hours later. He was 29 years old. He was more popular with the German people than any other son of the kaiser.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for the presidency, assured President Wilson that if elected he would do everything within his power to carry out the promises the President has made relative to the league of nations.

REPLYING TO MR. CASTLE.

Chicago, July 12.—There seems to be a good deal of sophistry going around about the naval treaty. It is being spread by those most interested in having the pact approved. First W. R. Castle Jr. comes to Chicago, well known as a center of Americanism, and, speaking on the treaty, tried to explain away the difference between eight inch and six inch guns, but he never mentioned a word about the difference in the number of naval bases possessed by England and by the United States. Nor did he mention that small cruisers are effective only if operating near a naval base. Large cruisers only are effective for overseas operation.

Further on Mr. Castle tries to create the impression that the chief fear of the American people is a war with Japan. This is nonsense. No sane minded American thinks for a moment that Japan would have nerve enough to attack the United States. This is a smoke screen laid down by Mr. Castle to divert the people's mind from the real issue, parity with Great Britain, which we have not achieved because of her preponderance of naval bases. But while every one knows Japan by herself would never attack the United States, it must be quite evident that if England ever attacked the United States, Japan would be her ally because both England and Japan fear the United States. They are the only combination of powers that the United States has to worry about. According to English reasoning, England should have a fleet twice as big as any in Europe for fear two European nations will unite against her. According to this same reasoning, the United States should have a fleet as big as England and Japan put together. If this is wrong, then England is wrong, because her defense is based on possible threats.

More of Mr. Castle's sophistry is to the effect that the navy thinks in terms of war. The state department thinks in terms of peace. Since when, Mr. Castle, has adequate naval protection been considered separately from peace? The only reason there is peace in the world today is because all large nations are armed and have treaties with or protectorates over small nations. Each country knows it would cost too much to attack another country at this time. It would end by a revolt in their own country. But if one of those countries were isolated and unarmed what a race there would be to grab it.

JOHN C. DIGNAM.

BIRTH CONTROL.

Chicago, July 8.—The letter of Edwin J. Karges, with its reference to your editorial of a few weeks ago on birth control, recalls to me with a sense of guilt that I neglected at the time to tell you how splendid it was. It gave evidence of an alert appreciation and a sane understanding of the most outstanding problem facing humanity today—that of overpopulation. Any country and any house is overpopulated if a smaller number of people could live more happily. Every baby ought to be a wanted baby. The time must come when the spacing of babies will be as normal as the spacing of meals, regardless of attempted clerical disapproval, and life will be all the more human in consequence. Your readers are to be congratulated upon your well balanced statement of the matter.

JAMES W. WALKER, M. D.

ENVY.

Chicago, July 18.—Miss Rhoda Ruth Aaron's criticism of hairy males was prompted, undoubtedly, not by social but psychological motives. Psychoanalysis has long established the fact that most women wish to be men. The enormous strength of males fascinates them, overwhelms at times their powers of admiration. Now, the hairy male is a type that represents these most cherished physical qualities. The lean, hungry, hairy chested type is an exception, as the rule holds that brawn and hair go together. So her outcry is a reflection of a secret envy. HAIRY HARRY.

THE ECONOMIC INTERPRETATION.

Chicago, July 17.—Is Miss Aarons an authority on manly beauty? Or does she hold an interest in a safety razor company or a hair destroyer company? It's enough to have to shave your face every morning. P. S.

WHY, INDEED!

Chicago, July 17.—Why is a hairy man more ugly than the handsome horse, the beautiful collie dog, the feathered bird or the wooded mountain side? HINGE.

ROBBED.

Chicago, July 12.—Allow me to relate the experience I had two times I went bathing at the new 12th street beach in Grant park. While bathing there one evening last year I noticed a man prowling around my car which was parked on the prescribed space. As I ran toward it to investigate, this man disappeared and I found one door of the automobile open and a few things gone. Apparently he saw me running and, luckily for me, could not complete the job.

A few days ago I decided to drive again to the same beach right after 5 o'clock and enjoy a little dip in the cool waters. It was broad daylight and two policemen were stationed there. Results: One door handle broken, one window smashed, and between fifty and sixty dollars in cash and a gold watch gone.

Next time I will drive the car right into the lake; this will give me a chance to be in the water and at the same time make sure that nothing will be stolen.

THE RIGHT OF WAY.

Chicago, July 12.—This morning our car was delayed some ten minutes due to a truck which was holding the tracks ahead, the driver ignoring the sounds of the motorman's gong. Quite a few of us on the car arrived at our work late. Traffic should be given to understand that the street car is the most important (outside of the police and fire departments) to traverse the street, and should at all times be given the right of way. YOU CAN'T PLEASE EVERYBODY.

Creston, Ia., July 15.—I note in yesterday's TRIBUNE that your correspondent, Mr. Clarence R. McGill of Terre Haute, Ind., is displeased because 28 senators were absent at the opening of the special session. Guess it is pretty hard for congress to please everybody. I am peeved that there were 53 there.

Reminds me of the small boy who asked his father why they had a man pray for congress. "They don't, my son. He just looks at congress and prays for the country."

Mrs. Gladys H. Bevans Tells Daily How to Guide Children

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

To the nine hundred block, with its sordid dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her divorced and remarried mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom he now regrets he is engaged. He has found employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and her mother. Mrs. Colt encourages Billy Treadway, a rich bachelor beau of her girlhood, in his attentions to Theresa. Johnny Deane takes Theresa to the movies. Mrs. Colt and Theresa go to Billy Treadway's for Sunday dinner. Billy realizes he is in love with Theresa. Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, who has also remarried, has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with a friend to secretly give Theresa work. Theresa makes preparations to attend a dance at the new country club with Mr. Treadway.

INSTALLMENT XII.

DECLARATIONS.

Elsie was feeling something beyond self and it made her realize that Theresa had had a lean life.

"That would be lovely."

"Your feet are beautiful."

"O, no, mother!"

"They are! You don't meet triple-A often. I'm going to tell Billy to send you yellow roses——"

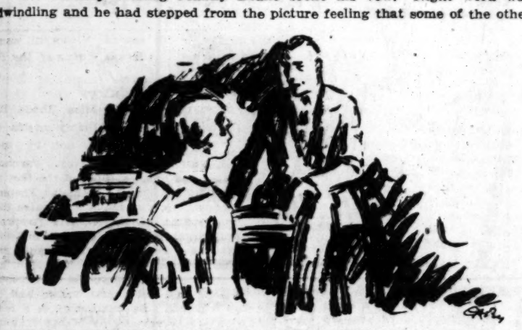
Theresa wheeled. "Is he going to send me flowers?" she asked with amazement.

"Of course, dear. He asked me about the color the other day. Always so attentive to a woman's needs, Billy, and so understanding of them!"

The sweet mist that had gathered around Theresa's spirit was blown away. Her eyes grew troubled. She just couldn't marry him! And each day her mother's wish for it stalked more boldly.

She went back to her typing for Mr. Gale. Twice, during the next hour she left her typewriter in order to go to the bedroom and look at the dress. At length she laid it, reverently and with gentle, timorous hands, on a layer of tissue in its box, fearing dust. She would wash her hair, Thursday. She drew a deep breath; life so ecstatically exciting! She closed her eyes a second, petitioning her particular God to make her "act right."

On Tuesday evening Johnny Deane broke his vow. Night work was dwindling and he had stepped from the picture feeling that some of the other



"Jerry," he said, "Katie knows how it is with me. She won't blame you."

toilers needed the work in a way he couldn't sense. Coming up the stairs, two at a time, he found the door into the Ames-Colt apartment open and because this had not happened for a long, long time his heart rose.

"Johnny," Theresa called; he halted. It had been "Johnny" and "Terry" for more than a week. The shaking transition had happened in Katie's apartment and while Katie was out. Katie, for some reason had had to go "to Lambert's place" and she had taken an hour to do it.

"Can't you see I'm in a hurry?" Johnny asked. He moved toward her. "I hate to stop when you call me," he went on, "it goes against nature. Now what's the row?"

"Is that supposed to be humor?" she asked.

"Now look here—Ed Wynne has nothing on me and you hand me that——" He was by her table; he took her hand, held it, swung it, murmuring, "It's my weakness now——"

He had deliberately grown the habit of chattering constantly with her, fearing silence and what an accumulated silence might make him blurt out. [O, many are the hues of our protective coloring!] She lay awake trying to remember the clever things he said, and exactly as he had said them. And—the way he had looked at her! More of the latter!

"Mother's out," she said.

Johnny meditated singing a loud "Glory Hallelujah!" but he thought better of it in time to apply the brakes.

"Is that so?" he offered, with the weakness that confesses an after thought, and the discarding, of first, fine, careless verbal rapture.

"Yes . . . she went out for supper—I mean dinner; the people who asked her have dinner at night, you see——"

She wondered why he was looking at her that way again; so tenderly that the tenderness seemed to hurt him. He moved a little closer.

"Why don't we go to the Yorktowne to eat, sister?" he asked.

"The Yorktowne, Johnny?" she questioned breathlessly.

"Yeh. Got some grudge against the management, or don't you like the sand they put in the spinach?"

She ran her pretty fingers across her typewriter keys. The Yorktowne. It had looked, to her, lovely. Her heart beat a little hard. She would love going there. They had little lights on the tables, she'd seen them going by and she had heard the music.

"And should be. Come on!"

"Can you—really afford it, Johnny?" She was looking up at him anxiously.

"Don't—please!—be so sweet!" he entreated of her, inside. He said, "If you don't eat too much—perhaps——"

"I'm not really so very hungry," she stated seriously.

He captured her hand which she had pulled away. "Joking," he said. Then, holding her hand so tightly that she couldn't draw it away, he stared down at her, chin hard. All of the women he had ever fed—Johnny had eclipsed Mr. Hoover's record with Belgian babies, with his feeding of "dames"—all of these women had appetites that had kept glass blowers busy; they couldn't eat anything that wasn't covered with a glass dome. And—gosh—here she was saying, "Can you—really afford it, Johnny?"

"Never met—any one like you——" he announced in a voice that stepped back to the changing era. Katie went by the open door. Theresa, trying to free her hand, flushed, called, "Won't you come in, Katie?"

"Can't," Katie bawled back

"She—saw——" said Theresa.

"Oh, don't! Johnny, you know!"

"Terry," he said, "Katie knows how it is—with me. She won't—blame you. I want to—tell you this, that—I'm going to do the utmost to let the whole cock-eyed world—see me—in that position!"

He dropped her hand very suddenly, then.

"Ready at seven?" he asked stiffly, "or is that too early for you?"

"Seven? O, no." [She felt it was very late.]

"We might go to a picture show after dinner——"

"I'd rather—if you don't mind—come home. I want you to see my dress. I called you in to ask you whether you'd come—later—to see it."

"I'd adore seeing it," he said and—very seriously. . . . Yet again—that look; teeming with tenderness and a wish to protect, give, make up!

He left her very hastily, knowing he must. He kicked the bottom drawer of the bureau shut after he had taken from it a clean shirt. He hoped the glass on a portrait had broken to scratch an artificial smile. "Rotten fool I was!" Katie heard him mutter. Then she heard his whistling —"Once in a Life Time Some One Comes Along——"

"God bless yuh," she thought, "you'll get there. The little kid's crazy about yuh and if maw can keep her oar from muddying the stream—you're going to get there soon——"

Maybe Christmas would do it, Katie reflected. The ice around people's hearts thawed at Christmas time, oddly enough, as the old world froze, and people were kinder and truer. "And just everything's nicer," Katie decided half aloud.

They were very gay, Johnny and Terry, at the Yorktowne. After a little space, Theresa's feeling of consciousness wore away and she could look around. Christmas decorations were everywhere and the music was lovely. And Johnny looked at her so kindly and very steadily. He ordered their good dinner to her surprise and relief.

When they got back to the apartment Theresa made him wait in the living room-office while she laid out her dress. Then, with a little increase of heart beat, she called, "Come!"

And Johnny joined her to look at the dress.

"I never had a real evening dress before," she confided, "don't you think it's really very beautiful, Johnny?"

He said, with a little tremor in voice, that he'd never seen so lovely a dress. Then suddenly—he turned to take her into his hungry young arms. "I—adore you!" he said, his voice rough and breaking sharply. "I—can't keep it back—any more, dearest! I can't!"

His head bent; and, in the room where Mrs. Colt had warned her daughter against a too full trust in young Mr. Deane, young Mr. Deane kissed Mrs. Colt's daughter. And for them, who kissed, the year was at spring!

Good morning!

There is a thief in Hollywood,
And Dressler is the name;
And the way she's "stealing" pictures . . . !
Cry the stars—"It is a SHAME!"

You'll find Marie Dressler up to her old tricks in this movie that's been made from the Rachel Crothers stage comedy. As an eccentric dowager bent on saving her granddaughter FOR one man and FROM another she corners practically all the laughs and a large part of the film's general interest. A roaring, wily, funny, stout hearted and terrifying old generaless she is, and her moments on the screen (they are many) are fraught with delight for the observer.

The picture which stars Miss Shearer—most charming!—tells the not particularly credible story of a beautiful, witty, and, supposedly, completely hard boiled grass widow who is urged by old Mrs. Boucicault (the dowager) to so fascinate a certain male heart breaker that he may turn his eyes and thoughts forever away from a young granddaughter who, engaged to a nice, sweet chap, is forgetting that fact.

The siryn agrees—to find that the prospective luree is none other than the husband who had done her wrong in past simple suburban days, before she had learned the subtle difference between a wrapper and a negligee. A divorce and a course of Parisian sprouts have made her what she is today, BUT—as fate will have it—Kitty Brown still loves Bob Brown.

Events which take place at a house party thrown by old Mrs. Boucicault furnish entertainment—and lessons in bad manners—a-plenty. The piece is sumptuously staged and costumed.

There's depth as well as sparkle to Miss Shearer's portrayal of Kitty Brown. She is natural and touching in the episode which deals with her discovery that there is another woman in her husband's life. Also, be it said, as Kitty Brown, housewife, she achieves a triumph in makeup. Hard to believe that this is the gorgeous sophisticate you meet later.

Gilbert Emery gives a smooth and taking performance as a man about town. Sally Eilers and Raymond Hackett are engaging as granddaughter and her perturbed fiancé. Hedda Hopper does her best with the ungrateful rôle of a silly, conceited, and catty woman. Others in the cast play up all right.

"Let Us Be Gay" is not great, but it has pep and distinction.

"If dis whip don' get you dis gun sho' will!"

A Beery speaking. Wouldn't you know it?

An all color picture this. The locale is Africa during wartime and the tale told is the highly incredible one of a white girl who is saved from what lies in store for her as priestess to a body of African savages, by an English soldier who has always believed her to be of Caucasian blood and who proves his point.

Voodoo rites, uprisings, tomtoms beating, has this picture. Chicanery or the part of the Beery who strides through the synthetic African jungles, cracking a whip and singing ominously in a deep bass voice about what he's going to do with it, lends it body. The hero (Walter Woolf) is brave and quite good looking and the heroine (Vivienne Segal) is the same. The singing of both is delightful and their acting quite good enough to pass muster. Lee Moran, Lupino Lane, and Marian Byron contribute comedy that is sometimes comical and ensemble effects are handled capably enough. To Alice Gentle go the laurels, however. She is an outstanding figure both in acting and song. As the supposed mother of Dawn, the heroine, she has several impelling scenes.

The picture is an adaptation of a musical play. It has plenty of color and good tunes to bolster up slow action and a flimsy story.

PREACHER DECRIES SOME NEW AUTHORS' PAGAN LOVE VIEWS

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Incompetency of the clergy in American churches, together with frequently cited social flaws were listed yesterday by the Rev. Dr. William Chalmers Covert, Philadelphia, general secretary of the board of education of the Presbyterian church as "threatening America's future."

Dr. Covert, who is a former Chicago clergyman, spoke before the midwest pastors' conference at the Presbyterian Theological seminary.

Dr. Covert declared "indecent literature is flouting all that is sacred in the love of man and woman." He pointed to companionate marriage as "a gross, sensual prescription for an evil its practice would only intensify."

Dr. Covert declared sex laxity, easy divorce, grafting politics and godless educational facilities were the chief agencies that are prophetic of the decline of American culture.

Dr. Covert declared that the 75,000 children were involved in nearly 200,000 domestic tragedies have become "the pathetic fragments of these broken homes and have been cast upon the world." Companionate marriage, he condemned as "belonging to the jungle and not to a respectable society.

Dr. Covert pleaded for a "spiritualizing of America's educational life." He stated that 28,000,000 American youths now are enrolled in public schools of whom 4,200,000 are in high schools and another million in colleges and universities. He contended that what is wrought on the plastic minds of these young people who constitute 25 per cent of the nation's population, "hangs not only the quality of our civilization in the future, but the moral destiny of our nation as well."

"God and reality of spiritual things ought to be bred into their lives during the sensitive period of youth," said Dr. Covert. "A secularized education in which moral values and religious sanctions have no place will not meet the perils that threaten our civilization."

Turning to politics, Dr. Covert declared that when makers, interpreters and executors of laws are "moved by selfish interests, then true patriotism dies."

At the Methodist camp meeting at Des Plaines yesterday, Bishop Titus Lowe of Portland, Ore., speaking on "The Supremacy of Spiritual Motive," cited President Hoover. He described the President as a man who is spiritually influenced and at the same time guided by a vast amount of scientific knowledge.

Gov. Emmerson will visit the camp meeting today. Charles W. Hadley, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, will speak on "Law Enforcement," and the Rev. Dr. Fred D. Stone, pastor of the Irving Park Methodist Episcopal church, will speak on "The Relation of the Church to Law Enforcement."

Yankee Profs. Trace Marine Hike of Aeneas

Plan Picnic Near "Topless Towers of Illium."

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 18.—(AP)—Two hundred and fifty American professors arriving at Istanbul today aboard the steamship City of Paris will sail tonight for Chanak, Turkish village near the site of ancient Troy. They will land there early in the morning, and hope to have a picnic lunch among the ruins at noon.

Thence, honoring the bimillenial celebration of Virgil they will trace "the wanderings of Aeneas from Troy to Mytilene, Crete, Actium, Corfu, etc., and eventually to Carthage and Rome.

The wild zigzagging of these twentieth century wanderers will lead them over most of the area covered in Virgil's famous poem. The ship has aboard a complete Virgilian library, which they can use as a reference while aboard.

What remains of Chanak was shattered by bombs during the Dardenelles campaign of the world war. Residents for miles around assembled there today in anticipation of big business in coins, pottery fragments and statuesques which they hope to sell when the Americans arrive.

Special permission was obtained from the Turkish government through the American embassy at Istanbul to allow the group to visit Troy, proximity of which to a Turkish military zone makes free access impossible.

A protest against Turkey's recent refusals to permit excavations on the historic site of the Homeric city of Troy was sent to the Turkish government at Angora today by the 250 American professors and teachers. They reminded the government many prewar excavations had not been completed, that the greater part "of one of the world's most important archaeological sites" had been left untouched. They left here tonight for the site of Troy.

A life size group of small three toed horses of a species which lived in North America thirty million years ago has been completed and is on exhibit at Field Museum of Natural History. It is the only restoration of this type in the world.

The group consists of six figures of the small horses placed in a reproduction of the Black Hills of South Dakota, one of the favorite haunts of that species. This type is the Mesohippus or middle period horses, appearing midway between the Eohippus or four toed "dawn horse," which was the size of a cat, and the modern one toed horse. The Mesohippus is about 21 inches in height and similar in build to a fawn.

Lucrezia Bori Takes Role of Mimi for 'La Boheme' at Ravinia

The evening at Ravinia last night was partly taken up with a repetition of "La Boheme." The single change in cast was the appearance of Lucrezia Bori as Mimi.

There also was an unexpected offer of assistance in the coming performance of "Afilma Allegra" next Monday night. During the day the information crept out that a number of animals, dogs, cats and monkeys will be needed during a gypsy scene in the new opera. Apparently every organ grinder on the north shore heard the report. Mr. Eckstein admitted that not less than four dozen of those musicians called at the park during the evening to offer the services of their monkeys. At last reports no selection had been made.

Meantime Miss Bori went through her rôle with the intelligence, the sweet manner, the stage sense, and the fine singing that make her one of the world's most winsome exponents of the role. E. M.

Max Epstein Gives $50,000 for Hospital to Help the Negroes

A gift of $50,000 from Max Epstein, president of the General American Tank Car corporation, to the Provident Hospital and Training school, was announced by the board of trustees of the University of Chicago last night. The money will be used to establish an outpatient department in the hospital. This makes a total of $1,500,000 donated to the university by Mr. Epstein in the last five years.

This gift follows the cooperative agreement between the university and the hospital. Under that the university agreed to supervise the scientific work of the hospital, which is the training and care of Negroes and the training of Negro doctors and nurses. Trustees of the hospital raised over $2,000,000 early this year for the purposes of new equipment and quarters.

Former Choir Singer on Way West for Movies

From a church choir on the east coast to a leading rôle in a movie on the west coast in three jumps is the record of Margaret Schilling, 19 years old. She reached Chicago yesterday on her way to the film capital. Margaret was singing soprano in a choir when she took her first jump, which was to a radio job. Her second leap took her into featured rôles in "My America," and "Strike Up the Band." There Warner Brothers found her. "Children of Dreams" will be her first movie. She never has faced a camera before, except for a screen test.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Have you paid your 1928 taxes yet?

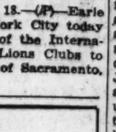
The Answers.

Robert Mendelson, 134 N. La Salle street, lawyer.—Having no interest of record in any real estate in the county, I have had no taxes to pay. If many taxpayers have withheld payment, there are reasons for that. The reassessment ordered by the state tax commission and financed by the banks has relieved the owners of revenue producing property and placed an added burden on the home owners.

Miss Helen Holzinger, 4901 Marmover avenue, secretary.—I have no property of my own, but my father has and makes a point of paying the taxes on time, despite civic reformers who ballyhoo against the payment of the same. I think his attitude is right, because otherwise our teachers will not be able to continue their work this fall.

N. Leon Ross, 7731 East Lake terrace, broker. — Yes, why kick about matters that concern the good of our commonwealth. Taxes are one of the essentials of good government. The sooner our citizens realize this, chaotic conditions such as those of last year will no longer occur.

Mrs. M. J. Ness, 3154 Wilson, secretary.—Yes, our taxes were paid before the last day. We really couldn't afford to let the penalty pile up on us. As this is our first year as taxpayers we have had some difficulty, but we believe if every one pays taxes on time everything will be better in this city.



Edward Placek, 2746 S. Clifton Park avenue, restaurant owner.—My 1928 taxes are paid because the amount was all right. Each year I make it a point to pay them and get that over with. The reassessment did not make much of a change in my bill.

School Plans Call for Nine New Buildings

Six Additions Also on '30 Program, It's Said.

Construction of nine new school buildings, six additions, and rebuilding of two schools before Jan. 1, 1930, will complete a building program of exactly one hundred new schools and additions during the last five years, according to a report filed yesterday by Don C. Rogers, director of building survey for the board of education.

The report shows an increase of 90,592 seats during this period, divided as follows: elementary, 64,712, 71 per cent of total; junior high, 13,840, 15 per cent of total; senior high, 12,240, 14 per cent of total. The present program indicates a decided shift in type of enrollment calling for provision of 87 per cent secondary seats and only 13 per cent elementary seats.

The five year enrollment change is shown by a pupil survey. From 1925 to 1930 a loss of 6,206 pupils or 2.4 per cent was recorded in elementary schools. Secondary schools showed a gain of 25,700 or 29.0 per cent. Senior schools showed a gain of 159.0 per cent with 30,945 added enrollment. The change in building program is the result of changed enrollment.

The loss in elementary students is explained by educational authorities by the decreased birthrate noticeably felt following the world war. The increase in secondary enrollment is due primarily to increased prosperity during the five year period requiring fewer students of secondary school age to seek gainful employment.

The present school building program, consisting of projects under construction, the remainder of the 1929 program not yet started, and the 1930 program to be completed in the fall, will provide 41,013 additional seats as follows: Elementary, 13 per cent; junior high, 37 per cent; senior high, 50 per cent.

The seat shortage has lessened with the building program from 19 per cent in 1924 to 12 per cent in 1929. This is a gross shortage, with some schools having a surplus that cannot be used for districts showing a shortage. The senior high schools show the greater shortage, due to the increased enrollment. The elementary schools show a decrease in per cent of shortage. Junior high schools show little shortage as they are being introduced gradually. The junior high schools by taking the intermediate students have lowered the shortage in senior and elementary schools in their districts.

Completion of the present program will almost but not quite dispell the shortage, not taking any population increase into account.

BRUSSELS, July 18.—Delegates to the twelfth educational congress continued their work today. Startling reports were made on overwork in schools and its risks of permanent damage to children's health.

The delegates reported that Latin and Greek might be forced to give place to modern languages and urged that the teaching of geography and history be shorn of names and dates having nothing to do with the subject in hand. One resolution declared against the practice of cramming for examinations.

The evil effects of violent games were discussed and some delegates advocated the substitution of the Swedish drill and gymnastic exercises for football and competitive sports.

All the candidates for the teaching profession should have a vocation or otherwise be ruthlessly excluded, one delegate proposed, and criticized the primary schools for turning out pupils knowing a mass of nonessentials, while they were unable to spell or use their own language grammatically, or do the simplest arithmetic correctly.

OU CAN'T PLEASE EVERYBODY.
Creston, Ia., July 15.—I note in yester-y's TRIBUNE that your correspondent, r. Clarence R. McGill of Terre Haute, d., is displeased because 38 senators ere absent at the opening of the special gsion. Guess it is pretty hard for ngress to please everybody. I am eved that there were 58 there.

Leo Feist Million Provides $100,000 for Needy Persons Trust

White Plains, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—A trust fund of $100,000, to be known as the "Leo Feist Charities Trust" and to be used for "the temporary relief of needy persons," was provided for in the will of Leo Feist, who was a New York music publisher, filed today. His estate was estimated today at about a million dollars.

The $100,000 charities trust is to be administered by the widow and the three sons who are permitted to make their own choice of the persons or charitable institutions to whom the income from the trust is to be given. They are instructed to devote it "to the welfare of humanity."

The widow, Mrs. Bessie Feist, and his sons, Nathan, Milton, and Leonard, are given personal effects and an interest in a trust fund to which the residuary estate is to be applied.

As long as Mrs. Feist lives, Nathan and Leonard receive $5,000 a year from the income of this trust and the widow the remainder. Milton, who has an income from other sources, is not a beneficiary during his mother's lifetime, but at her death he will receive 30 per cent of the trust and his two brothers 35 per cent each.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Secretary Stimson was the ranking guest at the luncheon given today by Dr. Varela, Uruguayan minister, to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of that government. The luncheon was served in the Hall of the Americas. The special decoration was a bust of Artigas, national hero of Uruguay, placed on a pedestal surrounded by palms and ferns. Among the large company were Attorney General Mitchell, Secretary Lamont, Secretary Davis, and Dr. James Brown Scott of Chicago, president of the American Institute of International Law.

The assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr are moving into their new home on Wyoming avenue, purchased this summer. They have lived since their marriage in an apartment at the Dresden, where Mrs. Carr and her mother, the late Mrs. Ezra Keons of Hillsdale, Mich., lived from the time of the completion of the building. Mr. and Mrs. Carr will sail for Europe next month for Mr. Carr's vacation.

Miss Katherine Lowman, daughter of an assistant secretary of the treasury, whose engagement to William N. Jardine was announced this month, gave a dinner tonight for Miss Beatrice Littlefield, daughter of Capt. W. L. Littlefield and Bowman McCalla MacArthur. Their marriage will take place here tomorrow.

Rare Fish Display.

Society Braves Heat to Attend Sheridan Show

BY THALIA ——.

The intense heat didn't seem to wilt the spirits of the riders nor the spectators at Fort Sheridan's sixth annual horse show, which opened yesterday, but the horses showed a marked disinclination to get over the jumps.

The Fort Sheridan show, the last of the summer series held hereabouts, always is one of the most colorful in effect. The gray towers of the post make an imposing background for the show ring, the grandstand aflutter with flags, and the bright hued crowd.

The military aspect provided by the presence of many uniforms, the fine music of the post band, and the occasional military ceremonials add to the occasion also. The bareback exhibition of riding put on by Troop A of the 14th cavalry during the afternoon was an interesting feature.

The navy was represented by Admiral W. S. Crosley, commandant of Great Lakes Naval Training station, and Mrs. Crosley, who had a box party of guests. Mrs. Crosley wore black and white chiffon and a black shade hat. Military notables present included Brig. Gen. Casper H. Conrad Jr., commanding officer of Fort Sheridan; Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, and Col. George T. Langhorne.

Libby Chase, who hasn't appeared in show rings for several years, rode in almost all the jumping events and carried off several ribbons. Miss Frances Richardson also received several of the handsome silver trophies.

Sports frocks, sheer and sleeveless, were the popular attire of the women and children.

Mrs. J. Andrews King in a yellow linen dress and matching hat, Mrs. Donald Ryerson in apricot crepe, Mrs. William Hubbard and her sister, Mrs. Francis P. Sears of Boston, composed one of the box groups.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow had with them Miss Martha Sarver and Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt. Mrs. James M. Hopkins was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Kay Goodman, and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson. Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson, wearing peach colored voile and a black hat, and her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Spencer in a yellow and white dress and turquoise blue beret were interested spectators, as several of the Richardson horses were participating.

Others in the audience included Mrs. Huntington Henry and her daughter, Miss Annie May Henry; Miss Janet Chase in a green flowered voile dress and white pique hat; Mrs. Melvin Wamboldt, Mrs. Edward H. Bennett in a boucle suit in shades of blue and a panama hat, with her young daughter, Olive Hood; Mrs. Press Hodgkins, Miss Eleanor Dennehy and Miss Louise Brewer, all in white tennis frocks; the James Minottos, John R. Thompson Jr., who rode some of his own horses; Mrs. Scott Durand, Mrs. R. R. McCormick, whose entries were ridden by Libby Chase; Mrs. Seymour Wheeler in flower sprigged dotted swiss; Col. and Mrs. A. A. Sprague, Mrs. Wesley Dixon, the Robert S. Piries, Mrs. Pirie's sister, Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson; and John T. Pirie Jr. The Piries rode in one of the jumper and hunter events.

The Lake Forest gardens of Mrs. William E. Clow, Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. George D. McLaughlin and Miss Florence M. Underwood will be open to the public today under the auspices of the Lake Forest Garden club.

The Belgian ambassador and his wife, Prince and Princess Albert de Ligne, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning to participate in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Belgium's independence. Following a solemn high mass at St. John Berchman's church, a reception will be held for them at the Belden-Stratford hotel. In the evening they will be guests at a banquet at the Hotel Stevens. Dr. Cyrille Vermeren and Felix Streychman are honorary chairmen of the entertainment committee, which includes Countess Charles de Perry de Fontnouvelle, wife of the French consul general, and Mme. Giuseppe Castruccio, wife of the Italian consul general. Gov. Emmerson, Consul General Lundquist of Sweden, Vice Consul Eugene Huss of Luxemburg, and Maj. Gen. Frank E. Parker will be among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Primley and their small niece, Betty, have returned to Hubbard Woods from a visit to Mrs. Primley's sister, Mrs. Cornelius Tiers, at Southampton, L. I. The Primleys' residence is called We Twa.

Mrs. James M. Hopkins Jr. and Miss Patricia Hopkins of Lake Forest were at the Barclay hotel in New York for a few days this week. Mrs. F. Edson White stopped at the Savoy Plaza before sailing for Europe today on the Bremen. The William O. Goodmans were registered at the Park Central early in the week.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—More than three hundred members of the Southampton, L. I., summer colony dined and danced tonight at Canoe Place inn at the Boy Scout benefit dinner-dance and cabaret. A summer fashion show, with young women of the summer colony acting as mannequins, was presented. The Misses Evelyn Anderson, Alice Belmont, Rose Berky, Betty Campbell, Isabel Gardiner, Dorothea Gay, Marjorie Colly, Marion Anderson, and Jean Darrow of Southampton and Miss Nancy Sands and Miss Justine Hayward of East Hampton took part.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison of Llewellyn Park, West Orange, N. J., will leave the early part of next month for her summer home at Chautauqua, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius M. Wickersham and their sons, Cornelius W. Wickersham Jr. and George W. Wickersham III., sailed tonight on the Statendam to pass several months abroad.

Miss Constance S. Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Adams, left for Fishers Island, N. Y., where she will visit her grandmother, Mrs. Henry A. Potter, also of Llewellyn Park, at her summer home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Seward Allen are at Pinard cottage No. 2, Newport, R. I., which they have leased for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Kip III. have left for Leek island in the Thousand Islands to visit Mr. Kip's mother, Mrs. Mefford Runyon of Scotland Road, South Orange.

As You Swelter Why Not Think About Ice Fund?

When it gets too hot for you in your electric fan cooled living room with a glass of ice water at hand, reader, go down into Halsted street, or Maxwell street, or those little two block enclosures' a stone's through from the loop. Then you'll not mind 100 degree weather such as you experienced yesterday.

It isn't hard to picture last night down there. Children play until midnight out in the streets to forget the heat. Mothers sit on doorsteps and fan themselves, holding fretting babies in their laps. Sick children cry.

There isn't a vacation in store for those kids and the families whose seven to a dozen members live in a stuffy two or three room flat.

That's what the ice fund does. That's why THE TRIBUNE'S wagons visit tenement families every summer, leaving the cheer made possible by the friends who contribute to the fund. The fund is far behind the total of this time last year. Less than $1,000 has been contributed this year. Will you help?

These gifts were received yesterday for both the ice fund and the Camp Algonquin fund:

Sally's Crowd to Defy Heat While at Movie

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Does this warm weather make you realize how fortunate we are to be having our next party in the cool Palace theater? Once inside the doors of this summer haven we will forget that the temperature is hovering about the 90 and upward mark and that Chicago streets are fairly sizzling. The picture, "Dangerous Nan McGrew," will be a timely one, too, for it will take us into the frozen north of Canada and instead of the diet of warm weather sports we've been having there will be ice carnivals, winter games and snowclad forests to enjoy.

Here's something I haven't told you about before. Perhaps we'll meet Louise Groody, the charming star who dances and sings so well. Wouldn't that be exciting? She's lovely on the stage and I'm sure she'll be just as attractive, if not more so, when seen face to face.

If your enthusiastic letters are sufficient proof, I can see that you are all extremely anxious for this party to arrive. I can't blame you a bit because I know just how good the show will be and what a treat is in store for us. I'm sorry I can't take every one of you because there have been so many letters from Helen Kane fans and vaudeville lovers, but I may invite only one hundred guests.

But, losers, take heart! In tomorrow's TRIBUNE will be an announcement of another perfectly delightful party that you'll enjoy hearing about. If you write me a convincing letter and follow the rules, there's almost no reason why you shouldn't win an invitation next week. In the same issue the hundred boys and girls who will be my guests at the R-K-O Palace theater on Thursday will find their names and may expect an invitation some time before the date of the party.

Borglum to Return to Direct Work on Stone Mountain, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., July 18.—(AP)—Gutzon Borglum, sculptor originally engaged to carve a memorial to the confederacy on Stone mountain, has agreed to return to Atlanta. He again will engage in the work, under one condition, it became known today.

J. L. McCord, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee appointed to bring about the completion of the memorial, said S. H. Venable, representing the owners of the mountain, had agreed to give "such additional space on Stone mountain as may be necessary for the carving of the memorial originally planned and to grant an ample extension of time for the purpose."

Borglum's agreement to return was contained in a letter from the sculptor to McCord. In the letter Borglum said he would return "if you [McCord] will form a committee as outlined by yourself and if I may rely upon your remaining at the head of such a committee."

Borglum's letter said further: "I will return and resume and accept the attendant responsibilities to the end of this undertaking. I will return to discuss reorganization and otherwise develop plans any time on a week's notice."

Joan Peers Signs Pact to Appear in the Movies

Hollywood, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Joan Peers, 18 year old daughter of Frank O. Peers, Chicago, today had a motion picture contract ratified by Superior Judge Marshall McComb so as to make the contract binding. Miss Peers signed a renewable contract with options giving her movie services for five years to Columbia studio. She last appeared in "Applesauce."

Broker Weds Actress.

Jersey City, N. J., July 18.—(AP)—Jane Winton, film actress and former show girl, was married yesterday to Horace Gumbel, 30 years old, New York broker, in Trinity Methodist Episcopal church. The bride, who gave her age as 24, was formerly the wife of Charles Kenyon, author and playwright.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman are in Canada. After Aug. 1 they will reside at 7379 North Damen avenue.

Cloud Club Bars Women; It's New York's Latest

New York, July 18.—(AP)—The mere male at last has found a retreat where the merry modern woman cannot plant her pretty heels, but he's had to go up 66 stories to do it. The Cloud club has opened its doors on the three top floors of the 68 story Chrysler building—and no wife, mother, or sweetheart is going to put her foot in there.

Only one woman is allowed within its portals. She is Miss Josephine Riley, the petite brunette telephone operator.

The membership of the organization includes the names of aVnderbilt, Firestone, Whitney, and Chrysler. There's a Roman bath lined with mosaic tiles, a library and a taproom designed in the likeness of an old English tavern—with soft drink bar.

Allan Hoover Returns.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—The return of Allan Hoover, youngest son of the President, to the White House to spend the week-end today brought Mrs. Hoover back from the presidential camp in Virginia.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

What was the most embarrassing moment of your life? If you care to have it published, address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Please write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

Not His Wife.

While at a dance I was introduced to a young lady by a friend of mine. After the dance I offered to take this young lady home. We had entered a cab and were waiting for the traffic light to change when a small boy selling newspapers came up to the cab window and asked if I wanted to buy a paper. I answered "No," and he in return said, "Maybe your wife would like to read a paper." You can imagine my embarrassment, as this was the first time I had ever met this young lady. G. I. B.

Rock Cakes.

I was having dinner with friends.

"Do you have these in Ireland?" inquired my hostess as she passed her baking powder biscuits.

"Oh, yes, we call them rock cakes," I answered. Everybody at the table smiled and when they saw how embarrassed I was, explained how they always teased their mother about her hard biscuits. C. S.

Wants Bicycle.

"I wonder if among your readers any one would have a bicycle to give a boy, out of school for the summer and doing delivery work. He is of a family of six, ambitious, and wants to work his way through school. J. F."

If your son has outgrown his wheel wouldn't you like to pass it on to this ambitious boy who can put it to much good use? He'd be happy to receive it.

Porch Swing.

"Do you know of some family who would like to have a porch swing? We no longer use ours and I would like to place it where it will be appreciated and enjoyed. G. H."

Your front porch becomes a comfortable and jolly place when there's a swing to rest in and enjoy on warm summer evenings. Write me for the one G. H. offers; please do not telephone.

Food Talk.

What arouses the lazy morning appetite more than the savory smell of sizzling bacon? And what can make one hungrier at a picnic? One of the pleasantest things about bacon is that it tastes just as good as it smells provided it has been properly cooked. Unfortunately, perfectly cooked bacon is rare. Too many times it is served all curled up with edges burned and the central cupped up part of the strip underdone.

Cooks in our grandmothers' day could get by with the excuse that bacon never curled unless it came from a pig killed in the wrong time of the moon. The modern cook has no such alibi. Only a confession of carelessness explains poor results. Broiling bacon is the simplest kind of cookery. Perhaps it is the simplicity of it that causes many cooks to fail. Housewives who serve excellent bacon watch their step all the way from the market to the table.

Buying a good grade of bacon is of first importance. A cheap product is never satisfactory. Bacon of high quality is an economic food, even though it costs as much as good steak. One pound has a fuel value of 3,200 calories, which is more than twice that of steak. [The principal fuel value in bacon is fat, that in steak is protein.] Another economic feature of bacon is that it goes a long way.

Select a brand that bears the seal of inspection. Never buy bacon in a package that the grocer refuses to open. Bacon of high quality is evenly streaked with fat and lean. The fat should be creamy and granular and the lean a deep red color. If one is well equipped to cut it into thin slices of uniform thickness, it is a saving to buy bacon in the piece. The thickness of the slices is important. It is easy to get them cut just a little too thin or a little too thick. The most desirable thickness is about ⅛ inch.

Broiling should be started in a cold pan. Turning the slices often and draining off the fat from time to time is another good practice. This method produces tiny crosswise waves from one end of the strip to the other, but they do not prevent the bacon from lying flat and becoming even in crispness and color. Just as soon as the bacon is done it should be drained of all fat and served at once on a warm platter.

Bacon drippings are delicious in flavor and are just as valuable for seasoning vegetables and for many shortenings as is butter. Leftover bacon may be utilized in the making of muffins, hot French dressings for cole slaw and lettuce and combinations with scrambled eggs, omelets and in cream sauces.

Girl, Twenty-one, Says She Loves Man with Wife, Family

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am a girl of 21, hopelessly in love with a married man who not only has a wife, but two children. He is a man of means, earns a remarkable salary and could give me the things I crave. He tells me constantly that he loves me.

"He is now banking his money and within a year plans to give his wife enough to live on comfortably and give the children a good education. Then he plans to elope with me to another state, lead a new life and make new friends.

"I don't say anything against his plans, but it seems awful to elope with a man and not be married to him. All day long I think of this, almost regretting our friendship, Dear Miss Blake, do you think this would be half fair to his wife, even though they cannot agree?—M. C. R."

Shades of young and beautiful love! Twenty-one and the best the girl can draw is a man with a wife and two children! And all the fine, worthy young men floating about, who would ask not more but infinitely less for the pleasure of being a husband she could be proud of.

What is the matter with you young girls who get mixed up with married men? Where was your vision, if not your sense of fair play, when you first found yourself involved? It's all so stupid, so pitifully stupid, to begin life giving yourself a break like that.

Not that I am impressed with the man's promises of a year from now. Given that length of time, no one knows better than the man himself that he will find some means of escape from his illicit romance. That type of man has small difficulty in extricating himself from the sort of situation M. C. R. has cooperated in getting him into. And any man, in this day of easy divorce, who talks eloping without marriage has no intention of carrying out plans such as are suggested in M. C. R.'s letter.

But more to the point, what are you thinking about, M. C. R.? Did it ever occur to you to put yourself in the position of the wife with the several children? Or, along the planned lines, suppose you some day became a wife with one or several children—a common law wife with the insecurity which is meted out to the kind? What would your judgment, then, suggest about the man's character? At 21 you are old enough to know something of life that you could, if you would, use to advantage right now.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Be a Caveman.

"Dear Miss Blake: The girl I love is very harsh and fresh to me. Should I go with her? BROKENHEARTED."

Sorry, Now.

"Dear Miss Blake: Through a misunderstanding I lost the fellow I love. Is there any way of getting him back? "DOWNHEARTED KITTY."

If you're in the wrong don't hesitate to admit it.

Too Sure.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow who calls unexpectedly. What do you think of this attitude? STELLA."

He takes too much for granted.

Swim Out for the New Silhouette, Says Antoinette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you believe what you read in the papers, and why shouldn't you, you understand that a lady may take a second lump of sugar now without fear of being turned down as a model applicant or a Follies. In fact, it is reported on good authority that a five to eight pound leeway over last year's dieted figure is in favor now.

While it would be folly to attempt to sell the idea that fat girls or just nice big armsful are on the verge of a high popularity, it would be just as great folly for you young women not to believe that what you were carrying around on your bones last or a couple of seasons ago is not enough for this year's style.

We won't say you have to be plump. But we will say, with authority, that you have to be less thin looking. You cannot have that wan and dieted look that in the silly reducing season distinguished the food faddist from her sisters of a decent sized dinner plate. You've got to look as if you could enjoy a meal. And the prospects are that the curved line is going to be in for some little time. So, look about, lean ones, for the means of converting angles and hollows into current silhouette requirements.

You have before you for two months, maybe a little more, one exercise feature that will do more in a short time for just those angles and hollows you can't afford to flaunt any longer than anything else we could possibly recommend to you. It is swimming.

If you hesitate about going swimming because you are self-conscious about your figure, don't be a silly-billy. Get right into one of those swimming suits, called shorts in some circles, and defy any one to stop you from taking advantage of the beach, the sun, the air, and the actual chest building strokes of swimming. If you were the richest little girl in the world with all the gymnasium equipment at your command you couldn't get a better filling out exercise than you can have at the beach.

It creates an appetite for you, along with its other advantages. Obey the appetite instinct when you get out of the water, and eat!

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Pittsfield, in Pike county, Illinois, has been selected for the start of a two day annual summer meeting and tour of the Illinois Horticultural society, Aug. 6 and 7. Apple orchards and other tree fruits will be studied as the chief part of the program, according to H. W. Day, secretary of the organization, which dates back to 1856.

Officers include: John A. Garner, president, Newton, Ill.; W. S. Perrine, treasurer, Centralia; and executive committee members, R. A. Green, Ottawa; Louis R. Bryant, Princeton; J. B. Burrows, Decatur; Reinhard Boehle, Chillicothe; Guy Beauman, Tunnel Hill, and John Gage, Texico. The society members will meet on the public square at Pittsfield at 12:30 p. m., Aug. 6. The first afternoon will be spent in visiting orchards at Summer Hill and Barry, returning to Legion hall at Pittsfield in the evening.

The second day will include visits to orchards in the Griggsville and Valley City sections. Problems up for consideration are the control of insects, with detailed attention to summer oil sprays, control of diseases, spray residues on apples, root trouble on young Jonathan trees, pruning of young and old trees, soil management, and a packing and shipping plant inspection at Valley City.

Two visitors are scheduled to make talks during the summer meeting program. Stuart Pierson, director of the Illinois state department of agriculture, and E. C. Wolcott, executive secretary of an apple producers' association, will be principal speakers during the evening meeting, Aug. 6, at Pittsfield.

Little Knowledge of Night Sky Stirs Any One's Interest

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

You can have a well baby this summer if you know how to care for it. Mrs. Bevans will send you the necessary information on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What is lovelier than a summer night with its great dark sky studded with stars? Or the early evening when Venus shows low and yellow over the horizon, and the color has not yet left the sky?

For any one who has an interest in the heavens, the summer with its lovely night skies and its balmy air seems an ideal time to begin a study of the stars. Or if not a study in any formal way, it is an ideal time to gather some general information about them.

So, to complete my suggestions for books that will help you unlock the outdoor world to your children, I hunted around for a book of the stars and found one I liked very much.

A simple short primer about the heavens can scarcely be written—this, in a way, is a subject that can't be reduced for little children. Consequently the book I am recommending is a rather long book but not at all technical.

It is called the "Young Folks' Book of the Heavens" and is most delightfully written. If you have a son or daughter of 12 or over who has a real interest in the heavenly bodies, it would appeal as a book to be read alone. Or if you wanted to answer many of the children's questions about the sky and could not, this book would be most interesting for you to read aloud with them. Such entertaining stories and information and legends as this book contains are enough to stir any one's interest and imagination and make them look with different eyes at the world of the sky.

And the informative part is so well presented. For instance, as to inventions, did you know that the forerunner of the modern telescope was made because in the year 1608 the son of an optician, playing with some lenses, happened to hold one in front of the other to look at the town's cathedral clock, and found that it brought the clock face nearer?

This is really a fascinating book for any young person, or unscientific adult to own, less of a text book than the "Boys' Book of Astronomy," reviewed here some time ago.

"The Young Folks' Book of the Heavens" is written by Mary Proctor, published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, and costs $2.00.

Fashion's Yoke Meets Gracious Acceptance

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The ladies may be throwing off the yoke of feminine slavery to a lot of traditional duties, but they are putting on the yoke of fashion voluntarily. Yoke is used here in the literal sense. Not only the Paris dressmakers, but their smart clients are doing everything possible to make yoked dresses fashionable. Collars are much less new than yokes, and many of the newest midseason frocks are wearing the latter. Dark dresses with light or white yokes are seen everywhere, and Worth and some of the other houses include yoke and sleeves in one color while the rest of the frock contrasts.

For midsummer yokes of white linen, of piqué, of organdy, batiste and lace are the preferred types. The Germaine Lecomte dress sketched has a novel kind of white piqué yoke. This dress is dark blue flat crêpe and the yoke is made of graduated petals of the piqué hemstitched together. This yoke stops at the top of the shoulders.

In addition to the yoke feature this dress has a new kind of high waistline, achieved by placing a circular ruffle of the dress material above the real, normal waistline.

The skirt is flared from a point slightly above the knees by a circular lower part, and above this circular flare is a wide circular ruffle that decreases into a mere double point at the back.

The one piece dress of this type is designed to be worn on the street in summer without a coat. The smartest hat to wear with a frock of this kind is a brimmed hat of white piqué.

HOOVER ORDERS GOVERNMENT TO SLASH EXPENSES

Tells Cabinet to Offset Revenue Shrinkage.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Reduction in governmental expenditures below appropriations was ordered today by President Hoover.

Department heads assembled at the semi-weekly cabinet meeting were asked by the President to investigate possible economies with a view to offsetting an expected shrinkage of revenues due to unsatisfactory business conditions. It was stipulated that the program should not contemplate a curtailment of public works construction which has been expanded to aid the unemployment situation.

In a statement issued following the cabinet meeting the President pointed out that the budget estimates of expenditures for the fiscal year commenced on July 1 total $4,203,254,457, an increase of $209,101,970, or five per cent over actual expenditures of $3,994,152,487 during the fiscal year 1930.

Totals Are Made Public.

The increase is almost the same as shown by the appropriations figures made public earlier in the week by heads of the senate and house appropriations committee, but the totals are considerably less by reason of the fact that they do not include upwards of 750 millions expended by the postoffice department from postal receipts.

While the President made no reference in his statement to the question of income taxes it is known that he hopes the situation when congress reconvenes in December will justify a recommendation for legislation to continue this year's reduced rates.

"The cabinet meeting today was largely devoted to a consideration of the financial situation of the government as a result of the appropriations made by the last congress," said President Hoover. "The budget for the present fiscal year beginning July 1 has been increased by about two hundred nine million dollars above the actual expenditures of the last fiscal year. The largest increases are for the speeding up of buildings, inland waterways and public works.

Confusion Over Expenditures.

"There has been some confusion as to the amount of increased expenditures imposed by the last congress by the mistaken inclusion of authorized programs which extend over many years, such as public buildings, roads, and rivers and harbors and only in a small part fall on each annual budget. Also some comparisons of federal expenditures include the postoffice outlays. It has always been the practice to include only the postoffice deficit. Otherwise real comparisons would be destroyed by the variations in postoffice operations.

"Including the estimated postal deficit the total budget estimates of expenditures for the present fiscal year are $4,203,254,457, as compared with actual expenditures for the last fiscal year of $3,994,152,487, or an increase of $209,101,970, being an increase of 5 per cent.

Meet Possible Reductions.

"The discussion today was directed to measures for reduction of expenditures below the estimates with a view to meeting reduction of revenue arising from slack times. The cabinet members and heads of independent agencies have undertaken a searching inquiry into every branch of the government as to methods by which economies may be brought about for the present fiscal year without interfering in the program of aid to unemployment.

"I am confident that we will find measures for very considerable reductions of actual outlay below the amounts appropriated. What the amount may be cannot be determined until we have completed our investigation."

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, July 18.—Admiral Takarabe, minister of the navy, intends to resign his post when the London naval treaty has been finally acted upon, if he is not forced out before then, it was learned in an official quarter here today. The position of the navy minister is said to have become untenable in view of the controversy which has raged in naval circles over the London treaty, but he desires, if possible, to remain at the post until the pact is finally approved.

Admiral Abo, who has returned from London to participate in the naval deliberations here over the treaty, is mentioned as the most likely successor to Admiral Takarabe.

Although the government announced last week it would submit the treaty to the privy council for ratification before the summer holidays, scheduled to begin July 20, the cabinet at a meeting today failed to fix a date for submitting the pact to the council, which will adjourn tomorrow for the summer. The government now plans, it is understood, to summon the council whenever necessary, notwithstanding the holidays.

Ex-Labor Leader and 3 Freed of Kidnap Charge

Four men, including Emmet Flood, 56 years old, former labor leader, were discharged yesterday when arraigned before Judge John Sbarbaro in the Felony court on complaint of James Houlihan, 40 years old, 6334 North Francisco avenue. Houlihan charged that Flood, Michael Ferriter, Thomas Mahoney and James Regan, had assaulted him with intent to kidnap. The evidence showed that Houlihan and Flood are now involved in a civil litigation and that ill feeling exists between the men.

Two Chicago Children Die in Michigan Farm Fire

They were Richard Krieger, 13, and his brother Florian, 9, sons of Frank Krieger of Chicago.

ACCUSES WHARTON

MRS. CECILO WARE.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Cecile Ware, divorced wife of James W. Ware, wealthy New Orleans cotton broker, obtained a warrant yesterday in the Felony court for Attorney Charles S. Wharton, former assistant state's attorney and one time congressman, who is now serving a sentence in the Leavenworth federal penitentiary. The warrant charges Wharton, who was convicted of complicity in the Evergreen Park mail robbery, with embezzlement of $10,000 worth of diamonds and $4,500 in bonds.

The warrant issued by Judge John Sbarbaro was forwarded to the federal prison to be served when Wharton's time is up next fall on the mail robbery charge.

Mrs. Ware says Wharton recovered the diamonds and bonds in a suit which she brought against Clark G. Kuney, farmer-banker of Three Lakes, Wis.

ITS FOES FIGHT ON, BUT TREATY WILL PASS SOON

Johnson and Moses in Battle to End.

Charges "Indecent Haste."

Senator Moses prefaced his attack on the treaty with a reference to the cloture program as "the garrote that is soon to be put upon us." He cried out against the "indecent haste" with which ratification is being sought.

"If the merits of the instrument are so obscure or so imperfect that they cannot demonstrate themselves in the short time between now and autumn it is probable that the treaty contains so many defects that it ought not to be ratified at all," said the New Hampshire senator. "In other words, if this treaty must decay instead of ripen beneath the suns of summer it certainly contains germs of destruction which we should try to avoid.

"We know that, except for a few fragmentary and unimportant portions of the incunabula which were heaped up as the plenipotentiaries labored, we have been denied our constitutional right of access to the papers which mark the steps by which the treaty was finally put upon paper.

Insists Action Is Untimely.

"Under these circumstances I continue to maintain that we are asked to deal with this treaty untimely. It should reach us at a time after the negotiating power has shown a willingness to share the constitutional prerogative which has been set up for treaty making. It should reach us after a time when the members of the senate have had full opportunity to explore, to discuss and to determine the propriety of the antecedent and attendant circumstances which surrounded the work of the conference. It should reach us after a time when senators, refreshed by a brief vacation, could give alert and attentive study to the document in all of its implications.

"Instead of all this, we are handed the document with sparse and inconclusive statements of its purpose and are told somewhat superciliously by the laird of Stanmore that we must take it or leave it in its nakedness."

No Record of U. S. Proposals.

Mr. Moses said there is no official record of what the American delegation proposed in London.

"From the results, however, we are free to assume that they announced in advance that they would accept whatever our British cousins chose to hand out to us," he said. "At any rate that is what has been brought back from London, namely, a sacrifice of the principle of the 8 inch gun cruiser for our navy, a principle which we maintained at Geneva, which was denied to us at Geneva, and which constituted the point upon which the Geneva conference finally failed.

"We are told that the treaty before us is the only treaty obtainable at London. Evidently it was also the only treaty obtainable at Geneva, but at Geneva Calvin Coolidge refused to accept such a treaty."

Building Cost Discussed.

During the dinner hour, when only half a dozen senators were on the floor, Senator John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.] raised the question of the cost of building the American navy up to the maximum tonnages permitted by the treaty. He called attention to the admission by Senator Claude Swanson [Dem., Va.], a leading proponent of the treaty, that it would cost a billion dollars.

"It depends entirely on the decision of the American people," replied Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], one of the negotiators of the treaty. "If the people want actual parity with Great Britain they will get it far more cheaply under this treaty than without it, because this treaty halts the expansion of the British navy."

BOOKS

"Roosevelt," Owen Wister's Story of Friend

Book Gives Picture of the Strenuous Regime.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Roosevelt," by Owen Wister [Macmillan].

After the vicissitudes of being mysteriously recalled by the publishers, Owen Wister's "Roosevelt" has just been offered to the public in its official first edition. The first printing of the first edition was objected to, not, as those who had read advance proofs of it thought when they were notified of its being recalled, because of Mr. Wister's outspoken disapproval of Woodrow Wilson, but because of a story told of a southern hostess' maneuvering to entertain Roosevelt when he was making an official visit to Charleston.

OWEN WISTER.

There were no names mentioned and the story was merely anecdotal, but evidently the lady in question felt that her reputation would have been damaged by the impression the author gave of her. Mr. Wister mentioned another case of her social chicanery, one which happened to him personally, and any one would think that the lady deserved everything she got in the book at Mr. Wister's hand. However, it was for these anecdotes that the book was recalled.

The five and a half pages which the author substituted for the original recording of a minor incident in the life of his hero are as beautiful as any of the finely written pages of the long, impressive volume. They draw a picture of Charleston at once memorable and charming. Readers are the gainers in the rewriting of those few pages.

The friendship which Owen Wister records in this volume began when both he and Theodore Roosevelt were at Harvard. It lasted until, as the author says in the last sentence of his book, Mrs. Roosevelt "was carrying on alone." It was founded on something more than mere college proximity. It began—in its real blossoming—when Roosevelt gave his first generous praise to the slightly younger man who had written his first story of the west which they both loved. It was a perennial from that day, growing, like a fine old garden, richer in bloom as the years passed over it.

Mr. Wister, at 70, is a vigorous, trenchant writer, but he has the mellowness which only the perspective of years can give to man. He sees the pattern, not only the individual embellishment. The pattern of the life of his friend he sees as honest and sincere passion to serve his country, shot through with a natural tendency toward militant preaching. Minor characteristics, bad as well as good, he sees, too, although they are not more than decorations of the pattern—Roosevelt's absolute Puritanism for instance, his incurable optimism.

But, strangely, it is not so much the pattern of the individual Theodore Roosevelt as the pattern of his larger personal life that Mr. Wister makes entrancing. His gallery of portraits of the Familiars, as he calls them, of the White House during Roosevelt's presidency are fascinating beyond words, and the most alluring of all of the three hundred and seventy-odd pages. Henry Adams, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Elihu Root, Leonard Wood, Gifford Pinchot, Winthrop Chanler (Roosevelt's closest friend), Cabot Lodge, Jules Jusserand, French ambassador—on all of them Owen Wister turns the whole charm of a skilled and brilliant novelist. He makes you believe, indeed, that it is true that of all the Presidents of the United States, Roosevelt gathered about him the most interesting social circle.

The book is not, however, all sweetness and light, and gentle memories of a charming friendship and delightful friendly letters (heretofore unpublished in most cases) from Roosevelt. There are pages of the author's unrestrained feelings about Woodrow Wilson, whom he apparently found even more an enigma than Roosevelt himself did. There are beautifully written paragraphs of accusation about the war, beautifully written, because the whole book is charmingly set down.

Theodore Roosevelt, the friend of Owen Wister, was a man of strength, dignity, fineness, almost apostolic zeal in what he thought was right, a great statesman, a brilliant leader, and a man of almost superhuman thoughtfulness for his friends—kindnesses to them in trouble, active friendliness even when trouble did not spur him.

WRITERS ACCEPT THE ORDER OF MERIT; PREFERRED TO KNIGHT

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—It may have been noticed, at a distance from England, that knighthoods are rarely bestowed on English writers.

G. M. TREVELYAN.
[Elliott & Fry Photo]

At least one such knighthood, when given, was refused by Mr. Galsworthy. I know of another that was also refused. This is because English literary men have no love of titles.

There is, however, an honor which few writers would refuse; and that is the Order of Merit. Mr. Kipling is said to have had the offer of this decoration. It has been accepted by Sir James Barrie and Mr. Galsworthy. And now it has been given to three other authors. It has been pointed out that the O. M. is an order quite above politics. It is given to any man, without restriction, whom the king regards as worthy, whether he is a politician, an artist, a writer, or a member of one of the services.

Nobody will question the distinction of Dr. Alexander, the philosopher; and all who love ghost stories will rejoice that Dr. James, author of some of the best of them [though perhaps the award was not precisely made on account of the ghost stories] has been honored. As for Prof. Trevelyan, although, comparatively speaking, he is a young man for this particular honor, he has well deserved it.

I think he was only twenty-three when he wrote his book on "England in the Age of Wycliff," and he has gone on adding to his benefits to mankind in the matter of history ever since. The new honor will be acclaimed in Italy, for his three books about Garibaldi and the unification of Italy already are classics.

It should be noted, as specially interesting, that Prof. Trevelyan's father, Sir. G. O. Trevelyan, also was the holder of the O. M. Sir George was an historian of the American Revolution, and the nephew of Lord Macaulay; so that it is clear that history runs in the family.

Mr. George Doran of Doubleday, Doran, is in London. He is now going off to visit H. G. Wells and Somerset Maugham in the south of France, but he will be back again to spend Ascot week with Edgar Wallace.

A novelty in detective stories is Miss Ivy Low's "His Master's Voice," the scene of which is laid in Moscow. Miss Ivy Low is really Mme. Litvinoff, so that she probably writes her descriptions of Moscow from first hand knowledge. Readers who remember her first novel, published before the war, called "Growing Pains," will be interested to see this new work.

But the Theodore Roosevelt of Mr. Wister's book is not a radically different Theodore Roosevelt from the popular conception of his admirers. In other words, while "Roosevelt" is a delightful, charming volume, it does not materially add to the picture of one of our most beloved (and passionately hated) national figures. It is literature, shall we say, rather than history.

About Hoboes.

"The Hobo's Hornbook," by George Milburn [Washburn], is a collection of songs [without music], "a repertory for a gutter jongleur" it is subtitled. The collector of the ballads took them down over a period of years of close association with their singers. He is now at the University of Oklahoma.

Greeks Wary of Mr. Vassos Bearing Art

For He's Turned Modernist in New York.

BY ALTA MAY COLEMAN.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—John Vassos, young Greek artist, who is one of the ultra-modern illustrators now popular in America, is causing some heated arguments these days in his native land.

JOHN VASSOS.

Mr. Vassos, you may remember made those striking and novel illustrations for Oscar Wilde's oft illustrated "Salome" a couple of years ago; there's to be a new edition soon. Last year he did "The Ballad of Reading Gaol." Or perhaps you've seen his latest book, "Contempo," some twenty or more drawings dedicated "To America."

Now when this thoroughly contemporary young artist was commissioned to design the new building which is to be the American Legion home in Athens, what do you suppose he turned out? A skyscraper, of course! Conservative Athenians are all hot and bothered about it. An even greater number of radicals evidently approve, for the corner stone is to be laid with due ceremony next month.

"Skyscrapers," Mr. Vassos declares, "are probably the most perfect example of abstract beauty the world has had in generations." And far less an affront to the architecture of the past, he feels, than would be an attempt to imitate those glories. Mr. Vassos, since the close of the war, has been a New Yorker. A tea party at his studio on Tuesday revealed that he and Mrs. Vassos have achieved that haven which all city dwellers sigh for, a penthouse with broad veranda overlooking the Hudson river and, within . . . the last word in modernist furniture, his own design. Mrs. Vassos, by the way, wrote the text for "Contempo" and also for "Ultimo," the new Vassos book coming out in the fall.

Sarah M. Lockwood, who writes so entertainingly on furniture that we read every word of her "Antiques," although we haven't house room for a trivet, has just returned from some months in Japan and China.

As for news nearer home: Lynn Riggs, whose first book of verse, "The Iron Dish," will be published in September, is announced to have two plays on Broadway next season, "Green Grow the Lilacs" and "Roadside" . . . Lillian Day, author of "Paganini of Genoa," has also turned playwright, collaborating with her husband, Lyon Mearson, on "Our Wife," scheduled for early autumn.

Meetings and Lectures

On Monday afternoon, at 4:30 p. m., Prof. John M. Manly will lecture on "Medieval Manuscripts." Griffith Taylor, professor of geography, will talk about "The Evolution and Migrations of the Races of Man" on Wednesday afternoon at the same time, and on Thursday at the same hour Prof. William E. Dodd will discuss "Little Men and Great Events in American History." These three lectures will be held in the Harper Assembly room of the University of Chicago.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

WITH THE LITERARY EDITOR

FICTION.

Idyll's End, by Claude Anet [Dodd Mead], is an actual romance of a half century ago in royal Austrian circles, novelized with artistry by one of France's outstanding writers.

Mr. Pim, by A. A. Milne [Dutton], is the author's own novelization of his popular play, "Mr. Pim Passes By."

The Whipping, by Roy Flanagan [Cape-Smith], is the story of what a public whipping did to make an obscure sinner popular.

The Murder of Cecily Thane, by H. Ashbrook [Coward McCann], is a mystery story that really is "different," with lots of new tricks. One of the new $1.50 first novels.

Touch Me Not, by Vincent McHugh [Cape-Smith], is a vivid and vital story of that most difficult of all emotions to put convincingly into type, first love.

Sinners in Summertime, by Sigurd Hoel [Coward McCann], isn't so naughty as its title suggests. It is a gay tale about four young men and four young women on a Norwegian fjord one summer who had read Freud and weren't going to have any nonsense about sex. Another of the new $1.50 first novels.

Portrait of a Rebel, by Netta Syrett [Dodd Mead], is the story of a lovely rebel in mid-Victorian days when being lovely was perhaps less difficult for a woman than it is today, but being a rebel was almost like being Livingston in Africa.

Father Means Well, by Hugh McNair Kahler [Farrar & Rinehart], is a gay tale of a father's efforts to provide himself with a suitable son-in-law.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

D. H. Lawrence, by Stephen Potter [Cape-Smith], is the first critical biography to appear of that very misunderstood man and author.

Jockeys, Crooks, and Kings [Cape-Smith] is the story of the life of Winnie O'Connor, internationally famous jockey. He told it to Earl Chapin May, who set it down without embellishment and in all of its naïveté.

NONFICTION.

Number, by Tobias Dantzig [Macmillan], is the history of counting, and if you think the subject is dull just read a chapter.

Lancelot and Guenevere, by Tom Peete Cross and William A. Nitze [University of Chicago Press], is a scholarly study of the origins of "courtly love," a theme which, the authors show, replaced in polite society the Tristan and Isolde motif.

Satyrs and Women, by Pierre Louys [Covici-Friede], is a collection of the exotic French writer's poems translated by Pierre Loving, each poem accompanied by one of Mojeska's alluring drawings—the book a de luxe edition of 1250 copies.

Noble Experiments, by Judge Jr., [John Day], is a pocket-book of recipes for eighty-two concoctions which, according to the law of the U. S. can only be concocted in the mind, the ingredients being alcoholic, and one perfectly legal but deadly sounding beverage.

The Loyalists of Massachusetts, by Alfred Jones [St Catherine Press, London], is a handsome source book on the subject, giving short descriptions of the extent and degree of the loyalty to England of some 501 Massachusetts men and women during the American revolution.

THE STORY OF A FRIENDSHIP

OWEN WISTER

This "record of a gallant and faithful friendship" is now obtainable at all bookstores. To those who were disappointed in their attempts to purchase it at the time the first enthusiastic reviews appeared, the publishers wish to express their regret that circumstances beyond their control necessitated postponement of publication.

You will find Mr. Wister's story of his friendship with Roosevelt "lively reading," "a vigorous and vital book," "a biographical record that reads like an adventure in personality," "a picture of the times that is graphic and significant."

ENFANTS TERRIBLES

By JEAN COCTEAU

"Cocteau is now the author of a great book. 'Enfants Terribles' is a document in recklessness, as exciting as Hughes's 'Innocent Voyage.' 'Enfants Terribles' brings into the stagnant realm of contemporary letters a new sort of shudder, a new kind of acidulous and dangerous bliss."—New York Herald Tribune. $2.50

THIN AIR

An Amazing Himalayan Interlude
By CONSTANCE BRIDGES

Through this vivid narrative of the author's travels in the Land of the Lamas, the mysterious fate of the young American, David Wendell, runs like a scarlet thread. Everything she tells of him and of the weird search for him is true; and lifts her book far above the usual travel book in fascination. Wendell's hint that he might vanish; the identification of two bodies as his; the peculiar actions of the Tibetans; the apathy of the British; all these make a true story stranger than fiction. $3.50

The CRITIQUE of HUMANISM
Edited by C. HARTLEY GRATTAN

Here in this new book are thirteen brilliant arguments, weapons of precision and courage, which defy the New Humanists and the dull authority of the past. There is no more timely, thoughtful, and highly readable book this season. From C. Hartley Grattan's opening sentence to Lewis Mumford's final word there is dynamite in every line. $3.50

. . . A Lost Soul Tells Her Story

These are the actual diaries of a prostitute and dope fiend. They form one of the most important human documents uncovered in our time. Mary Austin says, "The book is all the more important because it has none of the patronizing moral undertone found in the ladies of social workers, and none of the sympathetic magic wrought by the practised litterateur . . . It stands by itself as a first hand account of a wasted woman."

CUBS WHIP ROBINS, 6-2; BLAKE ALLOWS 5 HITS

$35,000, TITLE AWAIT WINNER AT ARLINGTON

50,000 Expected for Governor's Card.

Cup Field

THE field for the running of the Arlington Cup today, which will be worth $35,000 and may decide the turf championship of the year, is as follows:

Horse.	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Blue Larkspur	126	J. Smith	7-5
Toro	126	E. Ambrose	8-1
Sun Beau	126	E. Steffen	2-1
Snowflake	109	L. Schaefer	8-1
Stars and Bars	126	J. Redding	20-1
Victorian	126	W. Fronk	15-1
Maya	114	No boy	100-1
Galahad	126	C. Meyer	75-1
Petee Wrack	126	C. Quattleb'm	6-1
Reveille Boy	114	J. Leyland	20-1
Paul Bunyan	126	R. Morrison	10-1

Eleven were named in the overnight entries for the cup race to be run at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Arlington Park, and Blue Larkspur, from Edward R. Bradley's stable, was the favorite at 7 to 5. Sun Beau was a highly fancied second choice at 2 to 1.

COL. E. R. BRADLEY

Both Train Off.

Both of these stars have trained off. Gallant Fox became so unruly he would not even gallop for such a great rider as Sande. Misstep has a bad leg. It might be rheumatism or it might be a bowed tendon. At any rate Misstep will be over in his stall suffering while the elite of the turf are taking part in the championship struggle.

Blue Larkspur, Sun Beau, and Victorian—that was the way most of the wise players figured the finish—but with such an array of stars in the battle anything might happen. Enough horses are left, including Reveille Boy and Petee Wrack, to give the dope bucket a bad upsetting.

The Cup race will attract some 50,000 to Arlington, for more people seem to be interested in its outcome than in the running of the Classic.

Cup day is to be Governor's day at Arlington, and Gov. Emmerson, with many other Illinois political leaders, will be on hand to see the turf championship decided. Gov. Emmerson is a guest of Warren Wright, president of the Lincoln park board.

Smith Up on Blue Larkspur.

Snowflake's starting depends on the going. If there is rain and mud, the Mad Hatter filly will be scratched. Pat Dwyer, trainer of the Walter J. Salmon stable, attributed her bad performance in the Arlington Oaks to her distaste for the heavy going through which the Oaks field galloped a fortnight back.

Col. Bradley, who was not at Arlington Park on the Fourth for the Stars and Stripes handicap which Blue Larkspur won, arrived yesterday from Idle Hour farm in Kentucky, where Blue Larkspur was born and raised, to see the Cup race.

The crowd here to see the Cup race decided watched some thrilling finishes at Arlington yesterday. The feature was the Bouquet purse at a mile. Lady Broadcast was the winner and she shattered the track record when she ran the mile in 1:35 3-5. She beat Conclave from W. R. Coe's stable by two lengths and Beaming Over from the Bradley barn was third.

Neal Rides Winner.

Lady Broadcast was ridden by Paul Neal and her mile was one of the fastest ever run on any track. She let Conclave make the pace in the early stages and then came up on the turn to smother her field completely in the run down the stretch.

The popular Bradley green and white jacket was carried to victory in the Niles Center purse for 2 year olds by B'ar Hunter, a son of Black Servant-Bit O'White. B'ar Hunter had no easy task and old Jimmy Smith had to ride him for all he was worth in the late stages to get the decision over Al Sabbath's First Vote, which forced the pace all the way.

In the betting B'ar Hunter paid 2 to 1. He ran the five and a half furlongs in 1:05, equaling the track record.

NEW YORK'S YACHT THREAT

27 YACHTS SET SAIL TODAY IN MACKINAC RACE

Twenty-seven yachts will set sail from the Van Buren street gap at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the annual dash from Chicago to Mackinac, the classic of middle western yacht racing and the longest fresh water race in the world. The event is sponsored by the Chicago Yacht club.

Entries in the 331 mile contest include fifteen boats in the cruising division and twelve in the racing division, cups being awarded to the winners in each division. Among the 27 entries are yachts from Chicago, New York, Chesapeake bay, Toledo, Milwaukee, and St. Joseph, Mich., giving this year's contest the widest representation of any in the 23 years that the event has been run. The fastest boats of all the Chicago yacht clubs are entered.

Four Former Winners Enter.

Two former winners in each division will start, the Siren, a two time winner, in 1927 and 1928, and the Intrepid seeking to repeat former victories in the racing division, while Bob Benedict's schooner, Bagheera, last year's winner, and Howarth Beaumont's Comet, 1928 winner, will race in the cruising division. The Siren, owned by the Karas brothers of Chicago, has entered the race in spite of a collision in the Belmont yacht harbor on Monday which snapped her mast. A new 60 foot mast arrived yesterday and a crew of workmen labored throughout the night to put the boat in trim for today's race.

Two out of town threats which may give the Chicago yachtsmen stiff competition are Quicksilver II., owner by A. E. Pierce of the New York Yacht club, which will start in the cruising division, and the Dorello, owned by O. L. Dwight and sailing in the racing division under the Milwaukee Yacht club's colors. The Quicksilver finished fourth in a field of more than 40 boats which raced over the 600 mile course from New York to Permuda last month.

Vagabond a Contender.

Eddie Purtell's Vagabond of Milwaukee recently defeated the Intrepid in the Lake Michigan Yachting association regatta and is expected to give the others in the racing division a battle. The regatta race, however, was over a 12 mile course.

Final preparations for the race were made last night at a dinner at the Chicago Yacht club, attended by the skippers of the 27 boats and the club's directors. Final instructions were issued and arrangements made to keep the boat crews informed of wheather conditions by radio. Several Chicago radio stations, including W-G-N will broadcast periodical weather reports throughout the race.

BOTH CAN BE WINNERS

Marian, left, and Betty Bowman, sisters, of Hyde Park High school, can both win first prizes in The Tribune swimming meet, Sunday, July 27. Marian is 13 and will compete in the junior division, while Betty is 15 and will participate in the senior girls' class. The sisters, being in different divisions, will not compete against each other.

A'S ADD CHAPTER TO SOX TALE OF WOE; WIN, 15-1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Although his intentions were of the best, Donie Bush, the White Sox chief, could uncover nothing that rated higher than a batting practice pitcher yesterday. He made three selections but one was as bad as the other so the champion Athletics made merry with their bats and romped away with the third of the series by a score of 15 to 1. It was the eighth triumph in a row for the house of Mack.

As might be guessed by the score, a lot of hostile athletes engaged in the job of smacking Garland Braxton, Dutch Henry, and Ed Walsh, but none excelled Jimmy Foxx. He grew rough in the third along with some of his mates. He sailed a homer over the left field roof, to complete a five run rally against Braxton. In the next chapter he hit a four baser in the opposite direction off Henry. This occurred with the bags jammed, which explains in part why the rally netted six more runs. Later Jimmy doubled a run across and also scored himself. Still later he walked and scored again. He made everybody forget that Cochrane and Boley also hit home runs.

Earnshaw Stops Sox.

The Sox had troubles beside their own lack of pitching. They couldn't hit George Earnshaw. They made so little progress against him that after five innings of effort they had only one single to their credit. Then, with a 13 run lead in six innings, Earnshaw probably figured it advisable to slow down. Accordingly, he yielded six hits in the four concluding rounds. Two of these, of which Jolley and Cissell were the authors, were paired in the seventh to present the Sox with their only run.

Runs started to accumulate in the Macks' third when Boley singled and reached second ahead of Watwood's throw on Earnshaw's roller. The two runners moved up on Bishop's bunt and scored when Haas fluked a single to left. Cochrane added to the hilarity by dumping the ball into the lower floor in right. There was a lull while Al Simmons was being thrown out and then Foxx bunted his homer onto the roof of the pavilion in left. Next came a pass to Miller whereupon Braxton was excused for Henry who ended the inning without more runs.

Boley Hits Homer.

The first of the mishaps that led to six more for the champions in the fourth was Boley's home run tap to left. Earnshaw popped out, Bishop walked and Haas forced him. Having

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 18.—Hack Wilson, the distinguished Martinsburg Moose and Elk, knocked out his 25th home run of the season to launch the second inning of this afternoon's game with the league leading Robins. The tonic effect of this stirring blow was immediate, and the boys marched right on to give Fred Blake his fifth victory of the year by a score which read: Chicago, 6; Brooklyn, 2.

FRED BLAKE.

The victory gave the Cubs a 3 to 1 edge in the series, a 10 to 4 advantage for the season and placed the Chicagoans within one game of a won and lost tie with the Robins. If they are successful in the final game tomorrow, they will push off Sunday against the Giants only four percentage points in second place, .588 to Brooklyn's .590.

Bob Osborn will go after his seventh victory tomorrow and will be opposed by William Watson Clark, who pitched a one hit game against the Pirates his last time out. There was a rumor, however, that Vance might come back after one day's rest.

Blake Allows 5 Hits.

Blake held the enemy to five hits, a scratch single with two out in the first, a single which was nullified by a double play in the third, a homer and a double after two were out in the sixth, and a single with two out in the eighth. He walked three and struck out four.

Hack was not the only person who engaged in home run accomplishment during the afternoon's ceremonies. Clyde Beck smashed an inside the park homer after Hartnett had tripled in the fourth, and English led off the seventh with a smack into the left field stand. Brooklyn's two runs also were attributable to a homer, Bissonette's number 14 with one on and two out in the sixth inning.

As previously mentioned, Wilson opened the day's production with his 25th homer. Stephenson was safe on Finn's error and went to third on Grimm's single to center. Stevie scored on Hartnett's sacrifice fly to Herman. Grimm went to second while Elliott was throwing out Beck. At this point the spectators witnessed an amazing bit of loafing by Capt. Charley. Blake shot a long single to center on which Grimm should have scored easily, but Lopez put on the old act of holding his arms to his side as though no play was being attempted at the plate. Charley was awakened when Lopez suddenly lifted his arms, grabbed Frederick's throw, and tagged the Cub captain for the third out.

Cuyler Steals Second.

In the fourth Hartnett tripled to right with one out and came home when Beck got his homer to center. Wright threw out Blake and Finn tossed out Blair. The Cubs got their fifth run in the fifth inning. Cuyler singled with one out and stole second, his 21st theft of the season, while Wilson was striking out. He scored on Stephenson's single to right.

The final run was made by the Cubs on English's homer in the seventh. Beck got to third before the side was out in the eighth, and Wilson doubled and died on second in the ninth.

After the game tomorrow the Cubs go to the Polo grounds for five games in four days, starting Sunday and including a doubleheader on Tuesday. If the Chicagoans win tomorrow they not only will be in a virtual tie for first place, but they will have elevated themselves to a 50-50 showing on the current trip with eight wins and eight losses.

Al Singer Wears Crown But Chocolate Is Pegler's Champ

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 18.—When Al Singer knocked out Sammy Mandell at the Yankees' ball-orchard a little skinny pickaninny from Cuba became the real lightweight champion prize fighter of the world, because Kid Chocolate can lick Al Singer, the boy who knocked out Sammy Mandell, and Al Singer is among those who know this.

When the prize fight was over Singer became the nominal champion, and there is no doubt that he will collect considerable money by the way of royalties on his title, but the fact still remains that Kid Chocolate beat him some time ago, and can do as much again.

Since the surrender some time ago of the New York prize fight commissioners, who issue licenses nowadays without regard for the records of the applicants or their principals, championships have not mattered much, except for the most formal and perfunctory purposes. If the customers had access to the same information that every metropolitan policeman carries in the lining of his uniform cap they would understand that the business has become a social adjunct of the more violent cailings.

Not As Good As He Seems.

Singer is not the prize fighter he might seem to be, judged by the fact that he knocked out the lightweight champion of the world. There was no question about his victory over Sammy Mandell. If there were any prearrangements, as the populace suspected that there were when the prominent larcenists of the Broadway delicatessens and night clubs offered as much as 3 to 1 on him, it was not necessary to employ them.

The case may have been similar to that of Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia when Tunney gave an extremely sinister character of that community reason to believe that he, the sinister character, would receive 20 per cent of all profits for the duration of his tenure if he, Tunney, should win. In that instance the sinister character conscientiously made all the arrangements within his power to assure Mr. Tunney's victory, but it turned out that Tunney was the better prize fighter, on his merits, and the arrangments proved to be redundant and unnecessary. Mr. Tunney thereupon repudiated the arrangements.

In the Singer-Mandell fight the situation was rather puzzling. Mandell, what there was left of the young man after 11 years of fighting and several weeks of the most burdensome training, was beaten fairly in

$65,000 Purse Helps Mandell Forget Beating

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell hit the trail for the west tonight, a tired, saddened youngster bereft of his lightweight championship and rather glad of it.

He is going back to Rockford, Ill., to rest and forget the nightmare in the Yankee stadium last night where a hobgoblin named Al Singer jumped upon him in less than a round and battered him to the floor. Mandell today still was trying to puzzle out the happenings in the ring.

"I'm sure making the weight didn't hurt me," he said as he sat in Madison Square Garden and groped for reasons for the surprising defeat. "but I felt dead. I had no pep or life, and I couldn't seem to arouse myself. I was strong physically, though.

"I don't know what happened in the first round. I never saw the first left hook that knocked me down and never felt any of the punches. I don't remember being on the floor at all.

"I'm going to rst and fight some at 138 pounds and decide whether I'll try the welterweight division. Anyway, I'm glad I'm rid of the title."

Sammy, a handsome youngster of 26, bore two distinct mementos of the Singer punches that knocked him down four times and out. His lower lip was gashed and two upper teeth were loosened by the first knockdown punch. He had no other cuts or bruises about the face.

Although the gate receipts were only $162,388.33 including taxes, a surprisingly low figure, and $129,663.36 minus government claims, the figures held little interest for the former champion. Mandell received a flat guarantee of $65,000 for his services, although his share in the gate was officially announced as 35 per cent, or $45,382.12. Singer received 15 per cent. Paid attendance was 27,742.

Entries Reach 700 in Tribune Aquatic Meet

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Marian and Betty Bowman, Hyde Park High school students, were among yesterday's entries for THE TRIBUNE'S amateur races in Lincoln park lagoon July 27. They wrote letters typical of many of the 700 who will seek merit badges in the 100 yard races.

"We have never entered a meet of any sort," Marian wrote, "but we have hopes of winning merit badges because of the practice we get at our pool at Hyde Park and at the beach."

Betty, 15; Marian, 13.

Betty is 15, and will compete in the senior girls' class, while Marian, 13, is entered with the juniors. All boys and girls between 12 and 15, inclusive, are eligible. Each will receive a merit badge. Sixteen other prizes are offered in four races.

Fourteen year old John Bramwell, 2024 Lincoln avenue, wants a badge and believes he has a chance for a prize.

"While I have had little experience," John says, "I have represented my troop of Boy Scouts and I have entered several races at a boys' camp."

With only three days remaining to enter it is probable that more than a thousand youngsters will sign for the 100 yard races. Most of them will be competing for the first time.

Joseph Brock of the Memorial Community house, Whiting, Ind., yesterday entered four swimmers. Among them is Catherine Ribovich, Indiana free style champion. Brock believes she will be one of the finalists with Betty Quinn of the I. W. A. C. and Marlyn Lapin, young star of the Lincoln Turn verein.

Mrs. Lee Mida Wins Western OpenGolfTitle

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Mrs. Lee Mida of Butterfield won the women's western open golf championship by defeating June Beebe of Olympia Fields, 6 and 5, in the 36 hole final yesterday at the Acacia Country club. Mrs. Mida stood four up at noon, but Miss Beebe won three of the afternoon holes and halved five more to prolong the match to the 31st hole.

An incident occurred on the first green in the afternoon round which upset Miss Beebe and also gave Mrs. Mida a chance to display her sportsmanship. In preparing to putt, Miss Beebe brushed a leaf from the path of the ball with the back of her hand instead of picking it up as the rule provides.

The officials ruled that she had patted down the surface of the green, and therefore lost the hole. At the time Mrs. Mida was unwilling to accept the decision, and after winning the 31st, which officially ended the match, she insisted on playing another hole so that there would be no stigma attached to her victory.

This was done, and she halved the 32d to put the verdict beyond any quibbling which might arise over technicalities.

In the 18 hole final for the first flight, Mrs. Rose Marshall of Marquette park defeated Mrs. O. C. Bell of Edgewood Valley, 1 up on the 19th green. Mrs. T. J. Orr took the honors in the second flight by turning back Mrs. F. B. Malcolm, 5 and 3, while Sylvia Gibson beat Mrs. Esther Johnson, 3 and 2, in the third flight.

M. D. Stewart shot 77—38—115 to win low gross for 27 holes in the Western Advertisers' golf tournament yesterday at the Butterfield Country club. W. B. Schmidt's 126—15—111 was good for low net.

Mrs. V. Vilan won first low gross with 94 in the guest tournament yesterday at Knollwood. Low gross for members resulted in a tie between Mrs. G. W. Brown and Mrs. Richard Fleming, with 104 each. Mrs. Brown won the draw.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: I am writing to correct any impressions which might have formed from "Original Pete's" recent articles that Harry Gilmore, good old Harry Gilmore, did not pay good purses in the old time bouts held at McGurn's handball court. If "Pete" fought in preliminaries for 50 cents, it was all such kids as he, whoever he may be, were worth. I know Harry Gilmore paid more than $100 per bout, often many times more, to boxers like William Schumacher, now Capt. Schumacher of the police department, Jack King, Mat Worley, Tommy White, Billy Stift, Jimmy Barry, and myself. I never received less than $50 for a bout, and money then meant more than now.

Nor do I remember that Pete Boyle met Con Doyle, as Pete was a 126 pound man and Doyle a 146 pounder.

Incidentally, for those who may remember me, I never was in better health in my life and am 64 years young.

I wonder how many remember the Middleton house when it stood on the corner of Main and Scott streets. On the other three corners were Nostrant's feed stable, Phillips & Nelson's blacksmith shop, and the home of Fred Rawson.

The hotel was a two story frame building with office, parlor, and dining room on the first floor and sleeping rooms on the second. A wooden bench, placed in front of the hotel, provided a meeting place for four or five old gentlemen who collected there almost daily to talk politics and comment on new arrivals among the guests.

Man o' War did not go out of his class in his stake career. Gallant Fox has declined today's cup event, not so much, we think, because of lack of confidence of his stable as to give him a rest from his sulks before other 3 year old events later in the season. This recalls that Reigh Count, 3 year old champion of 1928, near the end of the season did not hesitate to start in the Saratoga cup at one and three-quarter miles for 3 year olds and upward. As a matter of fact, all older horses except the great performer Display, declined the issue against the crack 3 year old. Display took a trimming.

Now's the Time to Plant Winter Grain for Birds

BY BOB BECKER.

Now is the time to plant patches of winter feed for birds, thus insuring our feathered friends a food supply when cold winds and deep snow dominate the middle west. Sportsmen, nature lovers, estate owners, farmers, and suburbanites can perform an invaluable service for birds of all varieties if they will do their sowing right now and let the birds do the reaping six or eight months hence.

Buckwheat, kaffir corn, oats, barley, wheat, sunflowers, and such seeds from an assortment which the bird fan should keep in mind if he wishes to help out the birds.

It is a better idea to plant a large number of small patches of food, rather than one or two large patches, for the birds will flock to the large areas in great numbers. This means a concentration of bird life which will attract too many predators.

No particular piece of land is necessary for winter planting. A corner of a field which is close to a stand of woods makes an ideal spot for sowing buckwheat or other grains. If the birds feed in such a place and danger threatens, they can find cover quickly.

Quail must have not only food, but shelter during the winter. Any farmer or estate owner who leaves patches of weeds, raspberry bushes, and tall grass in the corners of his cultivated fields is going to be more than repaid by the presence of one or more coveys of quail, which are a distinct economic asset on a piece of farm property.

Field corners which are pretty clean can be made attractive to quail by a patch of kaffir corn or buckwheat.

Pegler Hails Chocolate as RealChampion

the ring within one round. He came to his feet and tried to fight back with a show of pluck that brought to mind the valor of bemedaled soldiers. If he had been a party to any clandestine dealings he certainly would have gone down and out, flopping and threshing picturesquely on the floor, as one of the subdivisional champions and one of Jack Sharkey's built up opponents did within recent memory in the Garden ring, without climbing up to take further abuse.

Mandell was trying and he was game, but he was also all through and undoubtedly knew it before he entered the ring. But Kid Chocolate, a featherweight; Tony Canzonieri, or even Jack Berg, the Englishman, would have beaten Mandell for the championship Thursday night.

Al's Chin Sensitive.

This Chocolate, a comical little minstrel Negro, still naive enough to swell about the second stratum of the social set of the Harlem in suits, shirts, and neckties of hysterical cut and hue, is undoubtedly the best prizefighter, pound for pound, in the business at the present time. If he were a heavyweight, neither Sharkey nor Schmeling would lay a glove on him and he would have Carnera and Campolo diving through the ropes with the impetus of their misspent lunges.

Singer bars him because he is a featherweight, a strange objection considering that the weights were divided to protect the lighter men; but then, Singer is not to be reproached for anything that happens during his régime as lightweight champion. The boy has a sensitive chin.

Ignacio Fernandez, the Filipino, frightened him off with periodical right hand swipes that did not even graze him in a ten round fight a few weeks ago and Kid Chocolate outscampered him within the last year, eluding the same punches that put Mandell down.

Singer has improved since then, no doubt, but Chocolate has improved more, and in a return fight, if Singer's directors would accept a return fight and the boys would waive all arrangements, Chocolate would win the lightweight championship without ever having held the featherweight title.

This letter may disclose a faint vein of cynicism as to the prize fighting industry, but the records of many prominent managers and submanagers nowadays disclose terms of penal servitude, and if one suspects the worst one can't go far wrong very often. And the fact remains that Kid Chocolate, a featherweight, can lick Al Singer, the lightweight champion of the world.

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Helen Jacobs, second ranking women's tennis star, arrived from Europe aboard the Mauretania today. Miss Jacobs' immediate competitive plans call for participation in the Seabright and Maldstone tournaments and the national championships at Forest Hills, starting Aug. 18.

MORE GOLFERS TO START PLAY IN TRIBUNE MEET

Announce New 1st Round Pairings.

More golfers begin match play today in THE TRIBUNE'S public links tournament. Some already have played and won, others have played and lost, while still more are getting into the competition for the first time.

One point is chalked up to the credit of those who won their matches last week and those who keep on winning will lead in the race for prizes which will be given to those who have the best record at the end of the summer.

Losers Still Have Chance.

Those who lost have no need to feel discouraged, as they will have many opportunities to improve their standing before the tournament is over. They may win this week while last week's victors are being defeated and thus keep right up near the top.

Those who are entering for the first time will find that there is a lot more fun in the game when a definite opponent is encountered, and it's all the more fascinating when you don't know just what your adversary looks like or what he is shooting. You will be playing your own favorite course and he will be playing on his, and when your cards are received by THE TRIBUNE golf editor they will be matched against each other.

Play Your Round Early.

If your name appears in the pairings below, go out at your earliest opportunity and play your part of the match—an 18 hole round. Then write plainly upon your card your own name and that of your opponent and mail it to THE TRIBUNE golf editor.

RIVER SQUATTERS REVIVE MEMORIES OF CAP STREETER

Houseboat Dwellers Defy Canal Board.

Henry J. Stout and his terrier pup, Buddy, seem likely to rival, as squatters, old Cap'n George Wellington Streeter and the cap'n's tall silk hat. Cap'n Streeter squatted for many years on his Lake Michigan sandlot at the foot of Chicago avenue and defied the world.

Stout and Buddy are squatting in their makeshift houseboat, the Red Crown II., in the north branch of the Chicago river. They defy the world in general, and Walter E. Beebe, sanitary district counsel, in particular, to do anything about it.

Backed by 400 Others.

And about 400 other river squatters, in their 100 houseboat homes scattered along the river from Belmont avenue to Irving Park boulevard, are of a like mind with Stout and his pup, inquiry yesterday revealed.

Mr. Beebe started the dispute on Thursday by an action he filed in Circuit court. Asking removal of the squatters, he charged that the houseboats obstruct traffic and make the shore "dirty and noisome." Some of the squatters vote in elections, giving waterfront addresses, he declared.

"Every so often they start this stuff, and always with the same result—nothing," declared Mr. Stout, as spokesman for the water dwellers. "The truth is, there's no law about river squatting one way or the other. So what can they do?"

He Suspects Property Owners.

Property owners close by always begin the trouble, Mr. Stout suspects. Paying taxes themselves, it makes them jealous to see somebody living tax free, he thinks.

"We don't obstruct traffic here, for the river north of Belmont avenue is not officially navigable," he said. "You can see for yourself our premises are not dirty, and as for the noise, that's bunk."

FIND LAND PROMOTER GUILTY OF USING THE MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Samuel Mooes, land promoter, who advertised that Boulder Dam would transform barren acres into blossoming farms, was convicted in federal court today of using mails to defraud. A jury before Judge William James found him guilty on five counts.

Testimony at the trial showed Mooes and his associates had obtained 24,000 acres of Imperial valley land at 50 cents an acre. The land was located 16 miles from Colorado river and over 300 miles from Boulder Dam.

The government witnesses stated that Mooes said the land would benefit from water made available by Boulder Dam and on strength of the representations, sold the land at from $5 to $7 an acre. The government expert witnesses testified that Mooes' land was too high to be reached by irrigation water.

During the trial it appeared that more than 2,000 persons had bought the land.

J. T. CUNNINGHAM HEIRESS WEDS CIVIL ENGINEER

Margaret Janice Cunningham, daughter of John T. Cunningham, millionaire ice cream manufacturer living at 3030 Sheridan road, was married June 11 to Gustav Adolf Amberg, 30 year old civil engineer of Cairo, in Wickliffe, Ky., it was announced yesterday by her parents.

Miss Cunningham came into public notice last November in connection with her reported engagement to Capt. Emery Williamson, army signal corps officer stationed in the Canal Zone.

Mr. Cunningham said last night that his daughter's marriage was a "big surprise" to him but that it met with his approval. They will make their home in Cairo, Ill., where Mr. Amberg is engaged in government work on the Mississippi river flood control project.

Mr. Amberg is a graduate of Leland Stanford university, a former San Franciscan. Mrs. Amberg is a graduate of Penn Hall, Chambersburg, Pa. She was grand president of the Mu Delta sorority in 1924.

VICTIM TELLS OF GOATLESS GOAT GLAND SURGERY

Farmer, 67, Made "Doc" Refund.

Topeka, Kas., July 18.—[Special.]—The story of a man who forced "Dr." John R. Brinkley to return to him the money he paid for the goat gland operation, was told today in the Brinkley hearing here. This witness was Paul Holm, 67 years old, a farmer, who lives near Hampton, Neb.

Mr. Holm testified that he had prostate trouble and he consulted Brinkley about it. He went to Brinkley's hospital in Milford and paid him $356.

Two weeks after returning to his home Holm began to get worse and he kept getting worse for six months. Then he went to a Dr. Davis in Omaha last March 4.

Dr. Davis, Hold testified, found that Brinkley had performed a fake operation, that is, when he had him strapped down to the operating table and a local anaesesthetic had been applied, Brinkley pretended to cut into him and implant goat glands, and Holm paid accordingly.

Dr. Davis found, the farmer said, that Brinkley had made two slight incisions and then stitched them together to make it appear that goat glands had been implanted.

However slight as these cuts were they were improperly dressed, Holm said, and blood poison set in and he nearly lost his life.

After he discovered that Brinkley had fooled him, he demanded the money back under threat of suit.

After considerable correspondence Brinkley sent him the $356, accompanied by a letter in which he wrote:

"I am sending you my check for this amount because I expect my heavenly father, the Great God whom I trust, will pay me back many times this amount."

THIS 35 CENTS DOESN'T WORRY HIM ANY MORE

Twenty years ago Long, who then as now was in the railway mail service, was stranded between trains at a small Arizona town. Stranded with him was a fellow clerk, Robert A. Baker, now a retired ranchman of Exeter, Cal. A bit short of funds, Long borrowed 35 cents from Baker. Then the two went their separate ways.

Year in and year out the thought of that 35 cents plagued Long. Try as he might, he could never think of it at the right time. But the other day that 35 cents did happen to cross his mind at just the proper moment and he inclosed a dollar bill to Baker with the notation, "The 65 cents is for interest."

Yesterday a reply came from Baker that he had received the dollar.

Mathias Mann, Born in Chicago 86 Years Ago, Dies

Mathias Mann, 86 years old, one of Chicago's oldest native born residents, died yesterday at the home of his son, Henry T. Mann, 6731 Meadow lane. Mr. Mann was a retired farmer. He once farmed forty acres of land in the neighborhood where his son's home is now situated. Mr. Mann is survived by three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Mary Kremer, Mrs. Elizabeth Britz, and Mrs. Barbara Malone, and Henry T. and Edward H. Mann.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL NOW

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has Benefited This Woman

Millions today are eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

The cause of constipation is the lack of roughage in food. Add sufficient roughage and constipation disappears. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is nearly all roughage.

Here is a letter from Mrs. H. Gilbert, 107 E. Knight Ave., Collingswood, N. J., which will be interesting to many sufferers:

"I had a very serious operation in October and when I came from the hospital my main trouble was constipation. One day I said to the doctor 'I am going to eat ALL-BRAN,' and since I started I have no trouble whatever. So you see I can't praise it enough and am always telling my friends what it did for me."

You will enjoy the nut-like flavor of this delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. It is rich in iron, and when eaten with milk or fruit juices, adds important vitamins to the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an essential in any reducing diet. Your grocer has it in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

TIME LIMIT UP, KIDNAPER FAILS TO RETURN BABY

For two months Mrs. Kathryn Mooney, 5200 Wentworth avenue, has been hopeful that the "Julia Otis" who kidnaped her 2 year old daughter, Mary Agnes, would keep her promise to return the child as she promised in a note sent to the mother. Yesterday, when the time limit had expired, without word from the well dressed young woman or the child, Mrs. Mooney's faith in the pledge waned, and not even the little sister who has arrived in the meantime could soften the mother's grief.

"O, it's cruel, it's cruel," she sobbed. "Why didn't she bring back my baby like she said she would? I wouldn't have minded if she'd brought her back like she promised. Two montns is a long time; won't I ever see Mary again? Won't she see the newspapers if they tell her I want my baby back? Please ask her to send her home again."

"Julia Otis" went to the Moroney home on the pretext of helping Michael Moroney and his family who were almost destitute. The young woman left, promising to buy a dress for Mary Agnes, and later a note arrived saying she was taking her to California.

MARSHALL FIELD HAS FIRST SOLO TEST IN PLANE

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Marshall Field III., grandson of the founder of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, completed his first solo flight at Roosevelt field today in his own 100 h. p. biplane, named Fleet. He was up for twenty minutes and made four landings.

Prior to the solo hop Mr. Field had had but ten hours and fifty-six minutes of dual instruction. Frank Sheltz, his instructor, formerly a lieutenant and pilot in the navy, described him as an "especially apt pupil."

In addition to the biplane used today Mr. Field owns a big Loening amphibian. This he plans to take to England, it was reported, when he sails next month.

According to the report, which was coupled with the recent publication in a London newspaper that Mr. Field was engaged to Mrs. Dudley Coates, young London widow, Mr. Field expects to use his big plane in a honeymoon tour of Europe and Africa.

His present wife, Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field, has been a resident of Reno since May 1, and expects to receive her divorce decree about Aug. 1.

CHICAGO WOMAN AND SON RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Jackson, Mich., July 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Leona Graham, 29 years old, of Chicago, and her 6 year old son, Stephen, were rescued from drowning today by Russell Mason, 17 year old Jackson High school senior and member of the Junior Red Cross life saving unit.

Mrs. Graham and her son, guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hall Roosevelt of Detroit, at their summer cottage at Brown's lake near here, were on a raft, anchored in 40 feet of water, 60 feet off shore when Stephen fell into the lake. In trying to reach the child, the mother fell into the water. Young Mason swam out to them and broke the boy's grip on his mother and towed him ashore. Then he returned and swam to land with Mrs. Graham. Russell and two physicians revived the mother and boy.

BETTER FOREIGN WHEAT DEMAND IS DEVELOPING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The long expected improvement in the foreign demand for North American cash wheat seems to have materialized, and buying of futures yesterday in the Chicago pit by houses with seaboard connections more than offset heavy hedging sales. It also brought about a further change in sentiment with the result that prices advanced 1⅜@1¾c from the early low with the finish at the top, July being 88¼c; September, 92@91¾c, and September at 97⅛@97⅝c.

It is estimated that so far this week foreigners have brought over 8,000,000 bu of North American cash wheat of all kinds, taking the grain at advancing premiums, as No. 1 hard winter at the gulf was quoted at 5c over Chicago September. Part of the business has been in Manitobas. A shortage in the French wheat crop with unfavorable weather conditions in that country is regarded as having been confirmed by persistent buying by that country, with some taken for shipment as far ahead as next December. Liverpool closed ⅝@⅞d higher on the French crop reports.

Traders More Bullish.

Further desertions from the bear side of wheat were noted during the day, the belief being that from now on the foreign buying would offset to a large extent the hedging against the new winter wheat. The spot basis in the leading markets was firm, with the country less disposed to sell to arrive, except on sharp bulges. Around 250,000 bu were bought by local handlers during the day.

A statement by T. E. Cunningham of Winthrop, Witchell & Co., who came out strongly favoring the buying side of wheat on the breaks, attracted considerable attention. He feels that the trade is an unwarrantedly bearish now as it was bullish a year ago, when prices were nearly 70c per bu higher.

There was buying of wheat here against sales at Winnipeg by spreaders which permitted exporters to remove hedges against sales of Manitobas to advantage. Winnipeg closed 1⅛@1⅜c higher. The Free Press report on the prairie provinces was due overnight and there was some evening up for it, although mixed views were expressed by Canadian operators as to its probable showing. No rain of consequence was shown in the dry areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Further confirmation of the development of black rust in Manitoba and Saskatchewan was received during the day.

Corn in Sharp Bulge.

Corn market is feeling the effect of continued dry and hot weather and, with general commission house buying and short covering, prices advanced to a new high on the present movement on the active futures. The finish was at net gains of 1¼@2⅜c, with December leading. The latter was 72⅛@72⅞c at the last, with July at 82¼c, and September at 78¾@78⅞ to 79c. Stop loss orders were caught on the way up, and sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves.

Deliveries of 50,000 bu cash corn were made on July contracts, the first in some time. There was also 150,000 bu. sold to go to store. The market is regarded as a weather affair and, should the forecast for showers materialize, it is generally expected that profit taking will develop. Feed market generally is showing strength with bran at Minneapolis $2 per ton higher since Monday, but numerous reports are coming from the southwest that wheat is being fed in preference to corn due to the high price of the latter.

LARD PRICES HIGHER

Lard was bought yesterday by commission houses and packers' brokers, with selling limited, and prices advanced and closed 7½ to 15c higher on the active deliveries, December leading the gain. Hog prices were up 25c, with the top $10.00 and receipts lighter than usual at this period. Exports of lard were 554,640 lbs and of bacon 30,500 lbs. July bellies were neglected and prices 10c lower, with September off 2½c. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS

Expectations of an immediate upturn and new bullish activities on this belief led to higher figures in butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday. November storage standards closed ¾-⅞c higher while July held steady. November eggs moved up ⅝c.

Houses with outside connections made many of the butter purchases. Shorts came in rather frequently as the market moved higher and there was a moderate amount of profit taking. This pressure lacked force, however, and late selling failed to effect a change. News was generally bullish. Pastures were reported poor, causing a reduction in production. There was a further decrease in the excess supply, the four markets showing 137,000 lbs less into storage than last year.

Higher level of eggs apparently reflected a firmer spot market tone, coupled with a belief that production would fall off sharply in the immediate future. Sales were butter, 168 cars; eggs, 58 cars. Receipts were butter, 11,004 tubs; eggs, 14,309 cases.

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

While country offerings of wheat to arrive were not as large as on Thursday, local handlers booked 250,000 bu to come here, and further amounts would have been secured had futures advanced slightly higher than they did. Demand was fairly active with the spot basis here steady. No. 1 red and hard winter brought 1¼@1⅜c under the September, with No. 2 red 1½@2c under, and No. 2 hard, 1⅜@2c under the future. Basis at the gulf was firm with 5c over September paid for No. 2 hard winter. This is somewhat better than was paid a few days ago.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Sentiment in wheat leaned more to the buying side on breaks owing to unfavorable crop reports from the northwest, while there is a large element in the trade who are bearish because of the liberal receipts and continued heavy hedging pressure, which, they claim, offsets large export sales. The market is showing more sensitiveness and responds readily to buying on all weak spots. It was noticeable that buying of September and selling of December at 6c spread is becoming more popular, and those who are bearish believe that carrying charges are against a good, well maintained advance.

December corn took the lead of all corn futures yesterday and responded to new professional buying, with some increase in the outside trade. The market is largely a weather affair, with continued hot and dry weather causing crop deterioration.

COTTON TRADE ENLARGED

Failure of the central and western sections of the cotton belt to receive rain, where it is badly needed, was the basis yesterday for a renewed buying and a sharp advance, with the close around top prices. Trading was more active and sentiment leaned to the buying side. The Dallas News report said the cotton crop was deteriorating at scattered points throughout Texas. Another feature was the more encouraging news from yarn markets. The close on new crop futures in Chicago was at 31 to 38 points, with other markets up 27 to 32 points. Spots in New York gained 25 points to 13.40c, with New Orleans up 30 points to 13.10c. While Galveston finished at 13c and Houston, 12.85c.

The Oklahoma state cotton exchange report says high temperatures are not damaging the crop, although rains are needed in some sections and not generally in others. Prices follow:

SEARS ROEBUCK 4 WEEK SALES DROP 14.9 PCT.

Total for Period Is $25,986,995.

BY O. A. MATHER.

One of the reasons for the general revision of prices made recently by Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., the two big Chicago mail order and chain store concerns, appears in the Sears-Roebuck sales report issued yesterday. It showed the sharpest decline for any four weeks period thus far this year when compared with the corresponding period last year.

Sales for the four weeks ended July 16, which marked the seventh period in the Sears-Roebuck thirteen months' year, totaled $25,986,995, a decline of $4,541,091, or 14.9 per cent, from the same period in 1929. It also was the smallest four weeks' business yet this year. Sales for the year up to July 16 totaled $198,263,008, a decline of $10,452,571, or 5 per cent, from the corresponding period last year.

It is probable that mail order sales have declined somewhat recently for two reasons: First, the recent sharp decline in commodity prices, which are difficult to follow in any business done chiefly by catalogue, and, second, curtailment of buying in the agricultural districts because of low grain prices. It was reported that the chain store end of the business has held up better than mail order sales. Sears-Roebuck yesterday announced a new store in Brooklyn.

Oil Deal Satisfies All.

It's a nice transaction that satisfies everybody concerned and this appears to be the status of the Standard Oil of Indiana-Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation deal announced on Thursday. Anyway, both companies gave additional details yesterday showing their satisfaction with the $72,500,000 cash transaction whereby Standard of Indiana purchased the Sinclair Consolidated one-half interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing and Sinclair Pipe Line companies. These had been owned jointly by the two major concerns.

"In taking over Sinclair's interests in these two companies," Edward G. Seubert, president of Standard of Indiana, said, "the Indiana company acquires gross assets with a book value of approximately $162,000,000 as of May 31. These include current assets of $110,500,000. The original investment of Standard of Indiana in the companies, plus the cash consideration in the present transaction, will bring our total outlay to about $118,700,000. We, of course, assume the other half of the total bonded indebtedness of $53,000,000.

"The gross revenue of the Sinclair Pipe Line company alone for 1929 was approximately $23,600,000 and the net income was $9,400,000. This represents about 8 per cent on the investment of Standard of Indiana in the companies, without taking into consideration returns from the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company. The outstanding advantage of the purchase to Standard of Indiana is that it will round out the company's integration, putting it in a position of independence as regards crude oil reserve and transportation for oil to refineries and markets."

Profit Is $28,311,000.

The Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation stated that its total investment in the two companies being sold was $44,189,000, and therefore its profit on the deal was $28,311,000, which is equivalent to $5.19 a share on 5,455,750 shares of Sinclair common stock.

What little change has appeared in trade and industry in the last week has been on the constructive side, according to the weekly mercantile reviews.

"A slight gain in retail distribution, almost as slight shading off of crop prospects, continued dullness in leading industries in which curtailments or summer vacation shutdowns are apparently at their limit, and some few further reductions in price levels balanced by advances in other staples about make up the list of tangible developments of the week," Bradstreet's review says.

Heavy construction and engineering projects announced throughout the country during the last week aggregated $45,042,000, compared with $28,941,000 in the previous week and $63,150,000 in the like week last year, the Construction Daily reports.

Commercial failures in the United States this week totaled 452, compared with 428 last week and 376 a year ago. The largest increases were shown in the east and the west, while a slight decrease was reported on the Pacific coast.

Surface Line Bond Holders to Get 6¼%

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The first mortgage bondholders of the Chicago Surface Lines are to increase their interest and dividend rate 25 per cent by the merger of the elevated and surface lines into the new Chicago Local Transportation company. The basis of exchange of old first mortgage bonds for new securities was made available yesterday to THE TRIBUNE for the first time.

Briefly, a present holder of a first mortgage bond will get half in general mortgage and refunding bonds and half in prior preferred stock. The present first mortgage bond pays 5 per cent. The new general mortgage bonds will pay 5½ per cent and the prior preferred stock 7 per cent. In a word, the investment which now draws 5 per cent will average 6¼ per cent in the new company.

Cites Distribution.

It is understood that the protective committees for first mortgage bond holders have agreed to this exchange under acceptable conditions, although no formal announcement has been made.

The amount involved in the first mortgage bonds is a little more than half of the agreed valuation of the surface lines. These first mortgage bonds are distributed among the present companies as follows:

Company.	Amount.
Chicago Railways Co.	$50,089,500
Chicago City Ry. Co.	30,533,400
Calumet & So. Chicago Ry.	4,978,800
Total	$85,601,700

Illustrates New Return.

Of this sum $42,800,850 will be transformed into general mortgage bonds at 5½ per cent and a like amount into 7 per cent prior preferred stock. The interest charge on the $85,601,700 at present is $4,280,085. Under the new securities the return will be $5,350,106. To illustrate on a small holder's basis: The person who now receives $100 a year in interest on $2,000 in bonds will get securities in the new company calling for an income of $125 a year.

All of the first mortgage bonds now outstanding have three years of interest due and unpaid. The provision for the care of that has not been made public.

Faherty Urges Appointment.

President Faherty of the board of local improvements, which will spread the assessment for subways, is ready to proceed, he said yesterday, whenever sufficient information is supplied by the council committee on local transportation.

Faherty urged that a boss be appointed to get the plans ready. The city council appointed an advisory subway committee of engineers Wednesday. It also selected R. F. Kelker as chief engineer of the subway and Robert Ridgway as chief consulting engineer and court of last resort in making decisions. But no chairman of the engineering committee was named.

Refers to Judgment.

Faherty's request for an opinion on the powers of the aldermanic committee and the board of local improvements caused some speculation in the city hall yesterday.

"I'll tell you my purpose in asking the opinion," said Faherty, frankly. "I obeyed the orders of the city council in certain major street improvements and as a result got a $2,000,000 judgment against me. That won't happen again."

He referred to the judgment obtained by THE TRIBUNE in the expert fee case.

Car rides declined again during June, according to the monthly report issued yesterday by the Chicago Surface lines. Total rides for the month were 124,746,980, a decrease of 9,051,265 in comparison with June, 1929. Gross receipts were $4,766,687, a decrease of $352,112. In the divisible receipts the city's share of 55 per cent was $122,467 and the company's 45 per cent share was $100,200.

Advertising Campaign Is Planned for Macaroni

Plans for the expenditure of $1,500,000 in a four year advertising campaign were made yesterday at a meeting of the National Macaroni manufacturers at the Palmer house.

EMPLOYMENT SHOWS INCREASE IN 4 STATE MANUFACTURE GROUPS

Employment increases in four large manufacturing groups in the state were noted during the period from May 15 to June 15, the Illinois department of labor announced yesterday, despite a general decrease of 2 per cent in employment throughout the state.

Wood products, furs and leather goods, clothing and millinery, and food products were the four groups to register gains.

In the general summary factory employment decreased 2.4 per cent and nonmanufacturing employment showed a drop of 1.1 per cent. Pay rolls for all reporting employment dropped 3.3 per cent, manufacturing accounting for a drop of 5 per cent, and nonmanufacturing decreased 0.4 per cent.

Declines of 2.4 per cent in employment of both men and women were shown in the general report.

The drop of employment figures in the metals, machinery, and conveyances group during the May-June period was 5.4 per cent, the lowest dip in a similar period since 1924. The cut in employment was accompanied by a drop of 9.4 per cent in pay rolls.

Stone, clay, glass products, chemicals, and textile groups all showed employment declines. Seasonal activities were reported to be responsible for the gains of four groups against the general downward trend, the department said.

ELECT BEUTEL PRESIDENT OF PHILLIP BANK

Directors of the Phillip State Bank and Trust company yesterday announced the election of C. A. Beutel as president and the promotion of Barnet L. Rosset, former president, to chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Beutel has been vice president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, as well as a director of the Phillip bank since 1929.

C. A. BEUTEL. [U. & U. Photo.]

Mr. Beutel has been active in Chicago banking circles for over twenty years, having started in the Continental National bank in 1909. During the post-war agricultural depression period he served as secretary of the Illinois agricultural loan agency of the War Finance corporation. In 1924, upon the liquidation of this corporation, he was elected assistant cashier of the Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company and subsequently was made vice president and cashier.

Larger Meat Demand May Help Farmer

BY SCRUTATOR.

Not all the news about farmers is gloomy. It is true that surpluses exist. They are most marked in the chief political crops—those which get the most notice in legislative and bureaucratic circles—wheat and cotton. With these readjusted to a domestic demand, or near it, a long range guess that total increased production in future will be needed is better than a guess that less will be advisable.

Farmers barter some of their products, in a roundabout way, for other things. Yet their income comes in ways that are not related, as is the city worker's, directly to the amount of money in hand to spend. A great deal of confusion about earnings has come as a result of the inability to determine what the agriculturist has to consume that does not come by the dollar route through the marts of trade.

The total farm income is not, usually subject to such fluctuations as the total urban income. Nor does it fluctuate in line with the price of wheat. The rent, and the fuel and the food that are produced and consumed at home, escaping the burdens of transportation and handling costs, are not affected by the markets.

Indications of Shortage.

It is the so-called "money crops" that bother the farmer. Wheat is one of these. Cotton is another. Tobacco is a third. But livestock and animal products have been representing more than half of the twelve billions or so at which farm production is valued each year.

Wherever in the world it is possible wheat is being produced in large quantities. Countries that can grow cotton are doing as much of it as they can. There seems little immediate hope that American farmers will need to produce more of these. Of tobacco there is plenty being grown now, but if the curve of consumption rises in the next fifteen years as it did in the last fifteen much more will have to be produced at the end of the period.

Some authorities maintain that in live stock production for meat there is a clear indication of shortages coming within a reasonably short time. Meat consumption in this country, estimated now at about 137 pounds per capita each year, has almost kept pace with population increase, while production of meat animals has fallen off proportionately. According to Armour's live stock bureau, there will soon have to be a definite upword trend in live stock production if meat eating keeps up, in pounds per person, with the expected growth in population.

Turn to Pork.

Two things are noteworthy in the economics of meat. One is that impoverished populations tend to eat their grains, while prosperous ones feed part of the crops to animals and consume the meat. The second is that even the prosperous consumers allow the quoted prices to affect their choice of meats to a considerable extent. In recent years they have turned in this country from beef to pork. Possibly because of excessive distribution costs, beef was too high. If beef, or any other meat, had slumped at retail as wheat has on the markets in the last year, there is little doubt that there would be a shortage of meat animals now.

The corn belt dailies, dealing with the live stock industry, assert that there would be an actual shortage of beef and pork in the country now if general business were better. This view, if correct, indicates that there are farm products for which the domestic demand can be increased largely, and points to a still bigger part of farm labor being devoted to animal production in future.

Banking Suspensions in 2d Quarter Total 134

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Banking suspensions during the second quarter this year totaled 134, a decrease of 14 from the total for the second quarter last year. Liabilities of suspended banks in the second quarter this year, however, rose to $81,712,496 from $54,457,541 in the corresponding period of 1929. During the second quarter no banking suspensions were reported in the New England or middle Atlantic states, while slight decreases occurred in the south central and Pacific coast sections.

CHICAGO STOCK LEADERS STRONG AGAIN AT FINISH

Indian Territory Oil Up 5¾ Points.

Leaders on Chicago's Stock exchange once again finished strong, with prices generally tending upward. While there were no sensational advances yesterday still there were considerable fractional gains. Automotives proved an exception to the general trend, slipping off a shade. Radios, however, took the place of automotives by finding representation in the upward division of the list.

The greatest gain of the day was recorded by Indian Territory Illuminating Oil which moved upward 5¾ points on a small turnover. This firm is a subsidiary of Cities Service and the gain undoubtedly was a reflection of the favorable earnings report of the parent company. Cities Service, the second most active stock of the day, went up 2⅝ to close at 30⅞.

Others Finish Strong.

Other public utilities likewise finished the day strong. Middle West on a turnover of 25,700 shares edged up ⅛ point to 31. Commonwealth Edison sagged ⅛ point, finishing at 289½. The Midland United company, which was up fractionally, announced yesterday that it has acquired the Delphos Gas company of Delphos, O.

Missouri-Kansas Pine Line company has extended the time in which rights to subscribe for class B voting trust certificates may be exercised from July 25 to August 25.

In heavy trading, Grigsby-Grunow advanced 1¼ to finish at 15¼. Majestic Household with 30,750 shares sold saw the largest volume of sales during the day. It advanced 2½ points to close at 39. U. S. Radio went up 1¾ points to 22¾ and Zenith gained a point to finish at 10. Raytheon was off 1 point.

Electric Household moved upward 2 points to 45¾. General Theaters finishing at 36 was 1¼ better than the day previous. Great Lakes Dredge was up 1½. Hart, Shaffner & Marx on a turnover of 100 shares dropped off 5 points to 120.

Super Maid Cuts Dividend.

Coincident with action of the directors of the Super Maid company in declaring a quarterly dividend of 25 cents, placing the stock on a $1 annual basis, against $3 in cash and 4 per cent in stock previously paid, Super Maid slipped 1⅜.

Seaboard Utilities Shares corporation reported a total net gain from interest, dividends and realized profits for the period March 20, 1929, to July 7, 1930, as amounting to $1,374,395, not including $123,217 market value of stock dividends received but not sold. Surplus and reserves as of July 7, 1930, amount to $425,043 after deducting July dividend requirements of $200,000.

PORTO RICAN TOBACCO CO. TO DECLARE INITIAL

New York, July 18.—(AP)—T. C. Breen, vice president and treasurer of the Porto Rican-American Tobacco company, announced directors will meet Aug. 1 and declare an initial dividend of 87½ cents a share on the new no par class A stock, placing the issue on a $3.50 annual basis. This will be at the same rate as paid on the old $100 par stock, which received $7 a share and which recently was exchanged one share for two of new stock.

Steel Merger Date Issue in Court Battle

Youngstown, O., July 18.—(AP)—The effective date of the contract for a merger between Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Bethlehem Steel corporation became a vital issue in the suit to enjoin the deal today and caused Judge David G. Jenkins to adjourn court early to give it consideration over the week-end.

The point as to when the merger would become effective was raised by the defense as attorneys for the Cyrus E. Eaton interests sought to have Eugene G. Grace reveal his 1929 earnings as president of Bethlehem. Eaton, a Cleveland capitalist, is chief opponent of the merger.

Yesterday the court ruled that Grace could not be questioned about his salary and bonus prior to April 30, 1930, when, under the apparent terms of the contract, the merger would have been completed had the injunction suit not been filed.

Today, however, Attorney F. H. Wood of defense counsel informed the court that by mutual agreement the date for the merger had been extended to July 31, pending outcome of the suit.

Court Must Decide.

Having already ruled that stockholders of the Youngstown company were not entitled to know how much compensation Grace received prior to the time they would have become stockholders of the Bethlehem corporation, Judge Jenkins now must decide that date. If he rules in favor of the defense and fixes the date in the futture, Grace would be unable to testify as to his compensation for that period.

Grace's salary and bonus figure in the suit because of the Eaton contention that concealment of his compensation from the Youngstown stockholders before they ratified the merger in April this year, constituted fraud.

The Bethlehem president yesterday testified he received a stipulated salary of $12,000 and a bonus amounting to one and one-half per cent of some factor unknown to himself. In an attempt to get at the amount of his compensation indirectly, the Eaton attorneys today introduced a letter from Charles M. Schwab, Bethlehem chairman, detailing the corporation's bonus system.

The letter was written in 1917 and attached to the minutes of a directors meeting.

Sliding Scale Bonus.

It showed the bonus is paid by a sliding scale beginning at 4.73 per cent for net earnings of $2,000,000 less fixed charges and before depreciation. The percentage increases with every $2,000,000 until 6.58 per cent is paid at $12,000,000. The increase then goes in $4,000,000 jumps and 7.373 per cent is paid at $36,000,000. Over that a limit of 8 per cent applies. Beneficiaries at the time the letter was written were ten Bethlehem executives, including Grace. The latter testified yesterday that 14 or 15 executives now share in the bonus.

Schwab, as chairman of the board, is charged with the responsibility of fixing the portion to be received by each individual. In 1929 Bethlehem earned approximately $49,000,000 and it is estimated that at 8 per cent the bonus paid to its officers would amount to $3,700,000.

Symington Co. Shows 2d Quarter Profit of $111,151

New York, July 18.—(AP)—The Symington company, manufacturers of railway equipment, today reported for the second quarter net profit of $111,151, compared with $87,472 in the like quarter last year. The June quarter profit this year equals 55 cents a share on 200,000 no par shares of class A stock, on which there are accumulated unpaid dividends.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 18.—Stocks plodded on uphill today. It was the sixth day in succession for the advance, and the boys on the bull side are feeling quite chipper about it.

As measured by the averages, the general list is now approaching the point of about 50 per cent recovery from the low levels of last month and, outside of the occasional chorus of warnings of an "inevitable technical reaction," there are no signs of a letup in its constructive endeavors. In fact the street was being told today that the market is in the first stages of an attempt to discount autumn trade revival and that it might do some wonderful things for its friends before long. However, as the chap who's got his fingers burned is fond of sighing, "One never can tell."

Like Preceding Days.

Today's operations were comparable with those of the five other days of the movement. The leaders almost without exception were priced at new high levels for the recovery—most of them on nominal gains, however—and the customary flock of volatiles did their stuff with the usual flourish, providing the usual complement of more or less spectacular runups.

The farm implements were the big cutups of the day. Case Threshing soared more than 15 points on lively bidding in the later trading. International Harvester was also the subject of some brisk trading and moved ahead for some 2 points. Chicago buying was reported to have been primarily responsible for the strength in Harvester. What might have happened to prompt the sudden demand here was not generally known. Both Harvester and Case had been rather heavily sold during the last few months coincident with the slump in price for principal farm products, which, it was contended, would act to curtail demand for new machinery. There was talk that a considerable short interest had been trapped in both issues.

United States Steel at 167½.

United States Steel came in for a lot of attention by pools, and the price mounted steadily to 167¾, where it was up more than 2 points over Thursday's close. The closing sale was at 167½. Strength here did a lot toward bolstering the rest of the list.

Utility shares returned to speculative favor under the leadership of Consolidated Gas and American and Foreign Power. The oils were able to maintain their gains of the last few sessions. Houston Oil continued to cut out the pace in the more speculative division of the group, adding 2 points more to its growing string of gains.

Numerous specialties pushed ahead at a rather lively clip. Brisk demand carried Procter & Gamble along at a

Albert J. Weisberg Gets Green Street Corner.

BY AL CHASE.

Albert J. Weisberg yesterday purchased the five story building and ninety-nine year leasehold estate at the southwest corner of Milwaukee avenue and Green street from Frank Schafer for a reported $75,000. The lease is dated Dec. 23, 1915, and calls for an annual rental of $1,500. The fee is owned by the Alexander O. Mason estate. The property fronts fifty feet on Milwaukee avenue and 150 feet on Green street. The building has stores on the first floor and an eighty-four room hotel above.

The Boulevard Gables Hotel company has leased from the Jackson Boulevard corporation the three story hotel building at 3412 West Jackson boulevard for ten years from July 1, 1930, for a term rental of $120,000. The hotel contains about fifty-seven suites. Harold A. Fein was attorney for both parties.

Prairie-53d Corner Sold.

The twenty-four apartments at the southwest corner of Prairie avenue and 53d street have been sold by George R. Schmidt to Hipple & Clarke, real estate firm, for a reported $90,000, subject to $58,000. The lot is 106x175 feet. Daniel N. Nash was attorney for the seller.

Edward A. Leyden has purchased from the Mutual National bank of Chicago the property 100x58 feet at the northeast corner of East End avenue and 79th street, improved with a three story building containing twenty-eight flats, three offices and three stores. The price paid was a reported $172,500. Edmund A. Miller was attorney.

Enlarge School Athletic Field.

Trustees of the Lyons Township High school in La Grange have purchased a tract 100x200 just west of the athletic field from Vogle C. Johnson. The property will be used to enlarge the athletic field, which is north of the high school.

Francis T. and Martin E. Johnson have conveyed title in the property 50x125 feet at 2208 North Crawford avenue to the Chicago Dryer company. The Johnsons, officers of the Dryer company, acquired the property some time ago to provide space for expansion. The ground adjoins the Dryer company's plant on the south. Theodore Johnson was attorney.

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE STOCKS

Chicago curb stocks forged ahead yesterday, with interest centered chiefly in gas, oil, and investment trust stocks. Indian Territory Oil B, in a spurt of nearly 5 points, was the chief gainer of the day.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Inactive today, but prices were higher in the absence of sellers and influenced by the upturn in some of the other commodity markets, especially cotton. Local shorts were inclined to cover, but new interest was barely lacking. The close was steady at 5 to 8 points net higher. Sales, 1,850 bels. Prime crude, nominal; prime summer yellow spot, old, 8.00c; July, 8.00c; September, 8.46c; October, 8.50c; December, 8.58c; new December, 7.80c; January, 7.90c; March, 8.05c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—Buying continued in moderate volume in the print cloth and sheeting divisions today and some very late contracts have been placed. Raw silk was firmer and higher. Some few large operators have covered moderately to the end of the year. Silk goods showed improvement, and silk hosiery was in better demand; interest was sharp in spring openings of worsteds next Monday.

STOCKS PLOD ON HIGHER ALONG FORWARD PATH

Bulls Are Pleased for 6th Straight Day.

rather rapid gait at times during the day. Sudden activity in this stock, following a long period of quiet, gave rise to reports that J. P. Morgan & Co. were preparing to exercise the option which they hold to acquire 90,000 shares of the stock at a price of $80 a share. This option was due to have expired several months ago, but its life was extended to Aug. 2 next. The bankers, it is understood, had already taken up a block of 10,000 shares under the option at the price stipulated above.

Radio Goes Ahead.

Radio was well taken in fairly large blocks by what was understood to be the same group responsible for its sensational rise of a few days ago, and went ahead for another 2½ points. Received interest in this erstwhile blue chip favorite is said to be based on the belief that the company has "turned the corner" business-wise and that extensive liquidation recently has placed the stock in a strong technical position.

The copper shares came to life anew in spite of another dip in the price of the red metal. Anaconda advanced nearly 3 points and Kennecott, American Smelting, Calumet and Hecla, Calumet and Arizona, and Nevada Consolidated all showed gains of a point or so each.

Amusement issues moved along with the procession. Rails were a bit higher, but not very active as a group. Rubbers and tires were a bit soft most of the day, but improved toward the last.

Money was so plentiful that huge sums were being offered without any one to take them. The call rate was maintained at 2 per cent, but outside accommodations were to be had at ¼ per cent.

BOND MARKET IS IRREGULARLY HIGHER AT CLOSE

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Prime investment issues gave a good account of themselves in today's trading on the New York stock exchange. Activity was enlivened by the rally in stock privilege issues which caught the bullish trend of stocks for which they are exchangeable. Despite the constructive trend of high grade investment issues and convertibles, the market closed irregularly higher.

An unexpected reactionary trend of United States governments caused a flurry of interest among the bond group. In a turnover which surpassed $1,200,000, both Liberty and Treasury issues suffered from realizing, and losses for the session ranged from more than ¼ to ⅛ of a point. Country banks and private investors were reported to be heavy sellers. Some support appeared, but all issues closed at the low level.

United States governments are generally the first to reflect the change in the price of credit. Bond men were inclined to ascribe the reactionary trend to other influences, as the easy credit conditions have been little changed this week.

News and Gossip of Stock Markets

New York Central Peps Up.

New York Central has come to life rather suddenly, confirming in part the idea that considerable investment buying had been taking place in the stock in the low 160's. Central has long been one of the most popular of the investment rails and under its leadership there is reasonable expectation of general betterment in this group. Monthly earnings of the road from now on should show a smaller loss compared with corresponding periods a year ago.

Shorts Caught.

The short interest in American Can is said to have been "taken over" to the tune of several hundred thousand dollars in the last few days. A short time ago the bear crowd spread reports that Can would have to reach par before a rallying movement could start, but the stock never approached that level. According to latest reports, the major short interest delayed covering until late yesterday and may put out an additional line on any further advance.

Vanadium Makes Grade.

Vanadium seems to be making good every one of the optimistic predictions heard in connection with this stock during the last few weeks. There has been just as much buying power around the $100 level as around $90 or $80. The advance has been accelerated by a scarcity of supply for borrowing purposes and by a rumor that the report for the first six months of the current year will show substantially greater profits than a year ago, although the net income will include earnings for the sale of properties. Each point on the up side is attracting greater public following.

Bullish Lorillard Rumor.

Among the bullish stories heard about Lorillard is one to the effect that the corporation may earn between $2.25 and $2.50 a share on the common this year, which would mean net earnings upward of $4,500,000, against only $500,000 last year. Such an increase would indeed be remarkable, though it is not unreasonable to believe that the company's long and aggressive advertising campaign has begun to restore earning power.

RAILROAD NOTES

Thirty new industries established in the southwest side manufacturing areas served by the Chicago Junction railway and its allied line, the Chicago River and Indiana railroad, during the first six months of the year. This section, which includes the central manufacturing district and Kenwood manufacturing district, embraces over six hundred industries.

The Pacific Fruit Express company has placed one of the largest orders for refrigerator car insulation on record, it is announced. A contract calling for 1,225,000 square feet of insulation was awarded the Flax-linum Insulating company, St. Paul, Minn.

The interstate commerce commission has authorized the Colorado and Southern railroad to issue $20,000,000 of 4½ per cent general mortgage bonds and to sell them at 93 and accrued interest to J. P. Morgan & Co. and the First National bank of New York.

Missouri-Kansas-Texas has been authorized by the interstate commerce commission to write off about 4,100 pieces of obsolete equipment valued at around $3,000,000 through surplus account.

Behavior of the cattle market yesterday reflected very limited demand for beef and prices slumped to new low levels. Only a few lots of good light weight yearlings sold with much activity and the bulk of the day's supply sold on a dull and sharply lower basis.

Closing prices showed around $1.00 to $1.50 loss on steers, compared with a week ago and the bulk of beef cows and heifers manifested declines of $1.50 to $2.00, compared with last week's close.

Bulls shared in the general slump and the closing markets were mostly $1.00 to $1.25 below the best prices paid last Monday. Veal calves also declined sharply from the high levels prevailing early in the week, the close being $2.00 or more lower.

Coolers Well Filled.

Friday's receipts were 1,800 head and a good share of the supply was carried over for next week's market because of the low bids received. Reports from the dressed beef trade were anything but encouraging and coolers in packingtown were reported to be well filled with carcasses.

There were only 12,000 hogs on the market Friday and the crop was sold on an active and strong to 25c higher basis. Lightweight butchers were in brisk demand by eastern shippers and most offerings averaging 200 lbs or less changed hands at 25c advance. The late trade was not as active and some bids at the close were no better than steady, especially on heavy butchers and packing sows.

The day's top price was $10.00, compared with $9.80 Thursday and $9.85 a week ago Friday. The general average price was $9.00, compared with $8.75 Thursday and $8.90 a week ago. The average price a year ago was $11.50.

Included in Friday's run were approximately 4,000 hogs shipped direct to packers from other points and at the close around 4,000 hogs were still unsold. The estimate for Saturday's market was 6,000 head.

Sheep Receipts Liberal.

Sheep receipts were fairly liberal Friday and thus far this week the supply has been around 40 per cent larger than during the first five days last week. Consequently the market was weak to lower. Friday's prices declined 25c and the market was mostly $1.00 lower than a week ago.

Included in Friday's run were thirteen cars of western lambs. Three cars of the best sold at $10.60, the top and the remainder of the crop went at $10.50. Few native lambs sold above $10.00 and less desirable kinds went at $9.50. Culls sold largely around $8.00 and below.

Few fat sheep were on sale and most of the good ewes changed hands at $3.00 to $3.50. Thin canner grades were quoted at $1.00 to $1.50.

Friday's receipts were estimated at 10,000 head, compared with 5,514 a week ago. For the first five days a total of 71,600 sheep and lambs were on sale, compared with 49,840 for the first five days last week.

USED CARS AT WHOLESALE PRICES!

EXCEPTIONALLY LIBERAL TIME PAYMENT PLAN

Studebaker's prices are so low that out-of-town dealers would find it profitable to purchase cars from us and then resell them at higher prices. If you want to make a substantial saving, investigate our values at once. Every used car is backed by the Studebaker Used Car Pledge that guarantees five days' free driving trial.

PIERCE-ARROW LIMOUSINE. Model 33 that was chauffeur driven. It's in marvelous condition considering our low price. $145.

ERSKINE SEDAN. 1929 Six, actually used only 5¼ mos. It's in wonderful condition now, so it will be sold at once at our price of $445.

STUDEBAKER COACH. Std. Six that will make an ideal vacation car. Has many valuable extras, chromium plating and dandy tires. $165.

PACKARD SEDAN. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, spotlight, shock absorbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. The upholstery, finish and motor are in splendid condition. $350.

OAKLAND COACH. 1928. Looks and runs better than many cars selling for twice this price. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, snubbers, bumpers, etc. $395.

NASH SEDAN. Adv. Sixer 4 dr. that we sincerely believe is the best Nash buy in Chicago. Motor is A1 and the finish is bright and shiny. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, heater, etc. $450.

BUICK SEDAN. This late 27-47 Mast. 6 was owned by a prominent manufacturer. The finish, upholstery and tires are in the original new condition and the motor runs very smoothly. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $385.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT. 1927 Big Six 7 pass. Sedan that will release the most exacting buyer. Oiled and greased every 500 miles by the original owner, so it's in wonderful condition now. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $485.

PLYMOUTH SEDAN. This 1929 is equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Has a sweet running motor. It's like brand new. $385.

PIERCE-ARROW TOURING. Has thousands of miles of unused transportation. This is an ideal vacation car and will be sold at once at our special price of $195.

CADILLAC VICTORIA. Was given unusual care by the original owner, so it will please you in every particular today. Has a lot of extra equipment, including fur robe. $695.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. 1928 that you will be proud to own. It's mechanically and every detail of the interior appears new. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $595.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. 1927 Commander finished in smart color. This car was chauffeur driven and the result is it's in tonnotch condition now. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $285.

FORD 4 DR. SEDAN. 1929 with very low mileage. Every feature is in the original new condition. Offered at a big saving.

MARMON SEDAN. Late model Little 8 that your neighbors could not tell from a brand new car. The finish, upholstery and tires are A1 in every respect. Motor is very efficient. $425.

STUTZ 8 SEDAN. Late model with very low mileage. This is a low slung car with a world of power and pep. Has hundreds of dollars' worth of extra equipment. $545.

GRAHAM-PAIGE SEDAN. 1929 that was driven but sparingly by a retired doctor for pleasure purposes, so it's in marvelous condition today. This car is the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Special for $485.

BUICK COUPE, 27-28 4 pass. Victoria. The finish, upholstery and tires are all in splendid condition. Has 4 whl. brakes, new tires and many extras. $285.

LINCOLN SEDAN. 7 pass., that's absolutely 100% throughout. Equipped with 4 whl. shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's a beauty and will not remain long at our reduced price of $750.
